BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

All indications today were that the next blow that the Germans will strike will be delivered in the Arras sector.

There have been heavy concentrations of German men and gun in that region and the British war office today told of a raid there which was evidently carried out with a view to determining the strength of the German forces.

European military critics have long predicted that the Germans would drive on Arras. There are height positions of great strategic importance lying immediately north of the city and the Germans evidently hope to compel the British to abandon them by a flanking movement on the southern side.

During the eight days that have elapsed since the Germans were so badly whipped on the northern end of the Flanders front von Hindenburg has been shifting his troops and guns and a large part of the fresh concentrations now lie to the east of Arras.

In the meantime the guns have been busy on the Picardy front and gigantic artillery duels have developed along the greater part of this battle line.

The possibility of a double blow—one delivered east of Amiens and the other on the Arras front—grows.

Should this be the case the Americans will be caught in the thick of the fighting for they are holding an important part of the Picardy front between fifteen and twenty miles southeast of Amiens.

On the Arras front the Canadians will have an important role to play for they have just taken over a sector in that zone and from the developments of the past forty-eight hours the Germans are likely to strike against the positions that the Canadians have taken over.

It is a coincidental fact that the Canadians have been put back in the region of Vimy Ridge, a strategic position which they captured in the big British offensive on the Arras front last year. Vimy Ridge (which lies just northeast of Arras) is evidently one of the objectives against which the Germans are aiming.

So far the heralded drive of the Austro-German armies on the Italian front is held in abeyance, but it is becoming more and more evident that it is the Teutonic strategy to strike in both theatres of war at the same time.

It is possible that the German army command may be camouflaging and that the increasing violence of the artillery firing on the southwestern front is meant to delude the Allies, but it is not often that such quantities of ammunition is used for such a purpose.

The next forty-eight hours should see decisive developments in the western war theatre if not in both the French and Italian arenas.

This was the forty-eighth day of the German grand offensive.

"ALL WE NEED NOW IS SHIPS AND MEN"

FIRST LIEUT. JOHN R. DE VALL.

Formerly from Willow, Ulster county, N. Y., now in France.

Somewhere in France, April 1, 1918.

Dear Mother:—

Have a few spare moments to write you this evening. I am very busy now as I have command of a company for the time being. Some of our officers are quarantined because of the mumps, and we have to take over the extra work until the curse is taken off.

I suppose you are reading about the big German drive that is taking place just now. Well the evening paper states that we are to take part. All our forces have been placed under command of the French General Foch, and the American flag will now float side by side with the French and British on the plains of Picardy. I cannot tell you how pleased I am, and I sincerely hope I will be fortunate to command a company should we go into action. That is better than being second in command, which is my regular position. Don't misunderstand me. I am glad to be second, but I would rather be first. See.

Judging from the news we get over here, this offensive is helping to open the eyes of a lot of our people at home who have been sleeping and dreaming sweet dreams of security. It ought to be a good thing for the third Liberty Loan. All we need now is ships and men, and we will get them. "What it takes to put the 'kibosh' on the Kaiser we just happen to have."

Personally I think this as the beginning of the end, the death struggle of German aristocracy. At least I hope it is.

Well remember me to all the neighbors, and give my love to all the folks. I would like to have all those who can buy a Liberty Bond.

Trusting this finds you in the best of health I remain your loving son,

JOHN.

O. K.—J. R. DeVall, 1st. Lt. 126th Inf.

P. S.—Don't worry over me.

KINGSTON OVER THE TOP BY $360,600

Liberty Loan Committee Reports That 5,608 Residents Subscribed For Total Of $1,466,600 Third Liberty Loan Bonds.

The final report of the Kingston Liberty Loan Committee in the third Liberty Loan drive shows that 5,608 residents subscribed for a total of $1,466,600, the city going over the top by $360,600.

This is a record of which Kingston may well be proud. The city has gone over the top on all calls and will keep up its record as long as there is any duty to perform.

The latest official figures show that all but a few counties in this district have oversubscribed their quotas and the belief is expressed by the subdistrict chairmen that when the final tabulation is made that those counties which have been lagging behind in the official count, will be seen to have raised all but a small per cent of their allotment, if they do not go over the top.

An Honor Flag is now flying in practically every city, town or hamlet in the New York Federal Reserve District that was given a Liberty Loan quota. Among the more important factors cited as contributing to the successful outcome of the drive are the fuller realization by the people that this country is "in the war," and the efficient functioning of a highly developed organization for transforming the patriotic enthusiasm of the residents of rural as well as the more densely populated communities into the more substantial form of energy represented by the Liberty Bond. One result of the campaign just closed that is expected to have a most important bearing on the next loan, is the largely increased number of individual subscribers in almost every community.

In some counties in the New York Federal Reserve District individual subscriptions are said to have averaged one to every five residents, which, is the equivalent of one bond to a family.

11 LIVES LOST ON AMERICAN STEAMER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—The American steamship Tyler has been torpedoed and sunk off the French coast with the loss of 11 lives, according to information received here today.

All of the victims were members of the crew.

INVESTIGATION OF AIRCRAFT CHARGES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—The aircraft investigation ordered yesterday by President Wilson was ready today to be set into motion as soon as congress could make up its mind whether it wants to take a hand or leave the work entirely to the department of justice.

There was considerable division at the capitol over what course should be pursued The Senate military affairs committee had in its possession a long list of witnesses furnished yesterday by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, to back up his charges of criminal profiteering in the aircraft program. The willingness of these witnesses to testify in public will play a considerable part in determining the question.

Senator Chamberlain, the chairman of the committee, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who has taken the leading part in the aircraft inquiries of the past, were both inclined to give the department of justice a free hand.

On the other hand, Senator King of Utah was ready to propose a resolution specifically directing the committee to make the inquiry.

"No Whitewash," Says Chamberlain.

The senate military affairs committee will investigate the aircraft program and show to the country what has been done with every dollar of the hundreds of millions appropriated for aviation purposes, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, announced in the senate this afternoon.

"It will be no whitewashing process either," added Senator Chamberlain.

Brought to his feet by the persistent clamor in the senate for a congressional investigation, Senator Chamberlain declared:

"I will say here now that it is not the purpose of the committee to abandon its efforts to give the country the truth about the aircraft program.

"There is something radically wrong. No man in the committee can account for anything like the $840,000,000 spent by the aircraft management. The committee is going to pursue this thing and ascertain where the money has been spent. The committee is not going to engage in any whitewashing process either."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Four thousand and sixty selective service men, specialists listed in the "Nation's want column," were called to the colors today by Provost Marshal General Crowder. The movement will take place on May 20, and all states, with the execption of Arizona, Delaware and Vermont, will be included. The men will be sent to the various training camps, and will be assigned among the branches of the service as follows:

Signal Corps, 401; Engineer Corps, 2,983; Quartermaster Corps, 671; and Ordnance, 5.

AMERICAN SAILORS PROBABLY SANK SUB.

Navy Department Makes Announcement of Encounter Between American Steamship Tidewater and German U-Boat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, May 7.—The probable sinking of a German submarine on March 17 by the armed guard of the American steamship Tidewater was announced by the navy department today. The submarine, the report says, was sighted about 11:30 p. m. off the starboard bow, heading toward the vessel not more than twenty feet distant. The U-boat was then submerging The ship's guns were brought to bear and the first shot hit some distance ahead of the under sea raider.

"The pointer fired the second shot," the commander of the armed guard reported, "and had what the captain, the chief engineer and myself and other members of the crew called a clean hit and was satisfied that it was effective. The third shot was fired by the boatswain's mate in charge of the after gun's crew, having her spotted and firing in the position she last submerged. We resumed our course and commenced zig-zagging, standing by for an attack, but the submarine did not reappear."

GAME PROTECTORS TO CARRY RIFLES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Strenuous warfare upon "vermin" and all destructive enemies of game, is the object of one hundred new 25-30 calibre rifles with which Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt is equipping the game protectors of the state.

Alarming decrease within the last few years of some of our wild game, especially quail, ruffed grouse, woodcock and pheasant, has caused the conservation commission to seek the reason. Information received from many sources indicates that the main source is the unrestrained inroads made upon game by such predatory creatures as great horned and great gray owls, goshawks, Cooper and sharp-shinned hawks, crows, hunting housecats, lynxes, wild cats, weasels, rats and other harmful rodents. It is against these that the game protectors have been instructed to turn their new rifles, and it is believed by sportsmen throughout the state, who have long advocated this course, that improved conditions among the game birds will soon be evident.

Use of the rifles will be confined only to such vermin as may be regarded as outlaws, according to Chief Game Protector Legge. Any animal for which the law provides a close season is not to be shot by the protectors at any time. Such animals as raccoons, skunks and other fur-bearers, even though they are harmful to game, are not to be killed by the game protectors. In this way the conservation commission's new step will not only not injure, but will actually benefit the great fur trapping industry of the state, an industry which has already reached the proportions of over a million dollars a year.

The new rifles are being distributed to those protectors whose territory lies in country districts, with instructions that they are to carry them at all times when in the field. The metropolitan members of the force will naturally have no need for the guns.

READY TO DEFEND AIRCRAFT BOARD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Prepared to defend the Aircraft Board from the charges of criminality made by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, the highest officials of the war department appeared before the house military affairs committee today.

While they were appearing primarily to present their estimate of the cost of the aircraft program for the coming year, which will involve an expenditure of more than a billion dollars, it was pointed out that they would be forced by the committee to include a vigorous defence with their request for funds. The various committeemen were said to be armed with many questions regarding the administration of the aircraft board, and it was evident that the session would be much in the nature of an investigation.

Among those who appeared at the capitol prepared to go before the committee were John D. Ryan, director general of aircraft production; Acting Chief of Staff Peyton C. March, Secretary of War Baker, Brig. Gen. G. O. Squier and a host of lesser lights.

SAME OLD STENCH VISITS US AGAIN

All last summer, and for summers before that, there has been a nasty, disagreeable stench emitted from the sewer outlets on lower Broadway. For the past few days this smell has prevailed and is strong enough to turn anyone's stomach. Apparently the city has not found a way to take any necessary steps to prevent the downtown business section of the city from being afflicted with such disgusting odors. It is hardly a welcome smell with which to greet visitors to the city when they turn up Broadway in their automobiles or other vehicles.

Ran Away From Home.

About 9 o'clock Monday evening a young boy, 15 years old, wandered into police headquarters seeking a night's lodging. He gave his name to Sergeant Hanley as Stanley Birdman, but after considerable questioning finally confessed his right name was Samuel Roseblum and that he had run awy from his home in New York city. He said his father was Isadore Roseblum and resided at 183 Henry street, that city. The police department notified detective headquarters in New York and turned the boy over to the custody of Sheriff Smith until word is received from his parents.

HE KNEW WHERE HE WANTED SIGN

Mr. Krayem Objected to a Measles Sign on the Front Door so Removed It—Exciting Time on Strand—200 Cases of Measles in City.

The measles epidemic is now in full swing in Kingston, with 22 new cases in the city reported Monday to the board of health. This makes about 200 cases of the disease reported since April 1. The health board, assisted by Dr. Laidlaw and Miss Helen Cunningham of the state board, are using every effort to check the disease.

In connection with the measles epidemic there was rather an exciting time on the Strand Monday afternoon when Sanitary Inspector Fred M. Dressel and Miss Cunningham tacked a measles sign on the front door of the Krayem apartments.

Mr. Krayem conducts a dry goods store on the Strand and resides upstairs over the store. He had decided objections to the sign being placed on the door leading to his apartments from the street and removed and took it upstairs, tacking it on the bedroom door where his child was confined with the disease.

Sanitary Inspector Dressel explained to him it was necessary to have the sign where he had first placed it.

Officer Reardon was then appealed to, and finally Dr. C. F. Keefe, the attending physician, was called to the scene.

The discussion finally ended with the sign being replaced on the front door, and there Mr. Krayem was instructed to let it remain until removed by the health board.

NEXT CAMPAIGN TO GET REVENUE TAXES

Force of Deputies Now in the Field Collecting Various Taxes For the Government.

The next official campaign to be undertaken in this vicinity under direct governmental supervision is that for the collection of Internal Revenue taxes. The campaign for the collection of income taxes was successful, but other taxes also must be collected. In order that the tax paying public may have a clear and comprehensive knowledge of the requirements relative to the same, the following section of the Internal Revenue laws, as formulated by the commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C. is herewith given:

Section 1312—The commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., is hereby authorized and required to make inquiries, determinations, and assessments of all taxes and penalties * * * ."

Collector Irwin has received much favorable commendation for the cordial relations and co-operation which exists between his office and the tax paying public in this district. Many other Internal Revenue districts throughout the country have taken pattern after the business like methods adopted by the collector in this district.

A large force of deputies is now in the field, collecting the various taxes, and it is the aim of Collector Irwin, that the most complete co-operation and harmonious relations continue to exist between the representatives of the government and the tax payers.

MOTHER WORRIES OVER ABSENT SON

The police department has received a communication from G. L. Christian of 167 Scott avenue, Yonkers, stating that his son, 20 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighing about 160 pounds, left home about ten days ago for Rhinebeck seeking a job on the farm. They received a postcard from him postmarked Kingston, April 26, stating he had been unsuccessful and was leaving for Lake Katrine to try and secure work. Since then they have received no word from him and his mother is worying about his continued absence and failure to write.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB URGES BRIDGE BILL

Secretary Directed to Write to Governor Whitman Urging Him to Sign It—Volunteers Wanted to Help Farm Patriots.

At the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Ulster County Automobile Club held Monday evening, a communication was received from the Chamber of Commerce asking for volunteers from the club members to furnish their cars for the purpose of transporting volunteer farm patriots to and from some farm where they are to work for the spring, summer or fall of 1918 for one day each week. Trips not to be beyond 25 miles from Kingston one way.

On motion, the secretary was directed to send circular letter asking for volunteers, enclosing pledge to be signed and returned to him, said pledges to be turned by the secretary to the Chamber of Commerce.

No undue advantage will be taken of these pledges for patriotic service and volunteers will only be called upon if necessary in some emergency to save some farmer's crops.

A resolution was passed directing the secretary to write Governor Whitman that the club urges the signing of the Rondout Bridge Bill now before him.

A resolution was also passed that the club secretary write to the highway commission asking them if there is any way possible whether County Highway No. 1373, from Kingston to Hurley, if not to be completed this spring, cannot be filled where there are holes, making the road at least passable for automobiles and wagons.

Mr. Bennett reappointed the old sign committee of 1917 to complete sign work left over from last year, owing to roads being under construction.

The committee appointed to provide parking space for automobiles, if possible in the court house yard, will meet with the board of supervisors on the 17th, asking them to give this plan favorable consideration.

ALLIED AVIATORS CHECKED ATTACK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 7.—Allied aviators and artillery brought about the collapse of the Germans' attempt to pinch off the Ypres salient, according to German prisoners who have been taken in that sector.

The attack, the prisoners said, was to have been launched at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Allied aviators, they said, discovered the plans and then regulated the artillery fire of the allied armies so effectively that the attack was broken up before it was even launched.

The final report of the Kingston Liberty Loan Committee in the third Liberty Loan drive shows that 5,608 residents subscribed for a total of $1,466,600, the city going over the top by $360,600.

This is a record of which Kingston may well be proud. The city has gone over the top on all calls and will keep up its record as long as there is any duty to perform.

The latest official figures show that all but a few counties in this district have oversubscribed their quotas and the belief is expressed by the subdistrict chairmen that when the final tabulation is made that those counties which have been lagging behind in the official count, will be seen to have raised all but a small per cent of their allotment, if they do not go over the top.

An Honor Flag is now flying in practically every city, town or hamlet in the New York Federal Reserve District that was given a Liberty Loan quota. Among the more important factors cited as contributing to the successful outcome of the drive are the fuller realization by the people that this country is "in the war," and the efficient functioning of a highly developed organization for transforming the patriotic enthusiasm of the residents of rural as well as the more densely populated communities into the more substantial form of energy represented by the Liberty Bond. One result of the campaign just closed that is expected to have a most important bearing on the next loan, is the largely increased number of individual subscribers in almost every community.

In some counties in the New York Federal Reserve District individual subscriptions are said to have averaged one to every five residents, which, is the equivalent of one bond to a family.

11 LIVES LOST ON AMERICAN STEAMER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—The American steamship Tyler has been torpedoed and sunk off the French coast with the loss of 11 lives, according to information received here today.

All of the victims were members of the crew.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—The aircraft investigation ordered yesterday by President Wilson was ready today to be set into motion as soon as congress could make up its mind whether it wants to take a hand or leave the work entirely to the department of justice.

There was considerable division at the capitol over what course should be pursued. The Senate military affairs committee had in its possession a long list of witnesses furnished yesterday by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, to back up his charges of criminal profiteering in the aircraft program. The willingness of these witnesses to testify in public will play a considerable part in determining the question.

Senator Chamberlain, the chairman of the committee, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who has taken the leading part in the aircraft inquiries of the past, were both inclined to give the department of justice a free hand.

On the other hand, Senator King of Utah was ready to propose a resolution specifically directing the committee to make the inquiry.

"No Whitewash," Says Chamberlain.

The senate military affairs committee will investigate the aircraft program and show to the country what has been done with every dollar of the hundreds of millions appropriated for aviation purposes, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, announced in the senate this afternoon.

"It will be no whitewashing process either," added Senator Chamberlain.

Brought to his feet by the persistent clamor in the senate for a congressional investigation, Senator Chamberlain declared:

"I will say here now that it is not the purpose of the committee to abandon its efforts to give the country the truth about the aircraft program.

"There is something radically wrong. No man in the committee can account for anything like the $640,000,000 spent by the aircraft management. The committee is going to pursue this thing and ascertain where the money has been spent. The committee is not going to engage in any whitewashing process either."

CALL TO COLORS FOR 4,060 MEN ON MAY 20

They Are Specialists Who Were Listed in the "Nation's Want Column" and Will be Sent to Various Training Camps.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Four thousand and sixty selective service men, specialists listed in the "Nation's wants" were called to the colors today by Provost Marshal General Crowder. The movement will take place on May 20, and all states, with the exception of Arizona, Delaware and Vermont, will be included. The men will be sent to the various training camps, and will be assigned among the branches of the service as follows:

Signal Corps, 401; Engineer Corps, 2,983; Quartermaster Corps, 671; and Ordnance, 5.

AMERICAN SAILORS PROBABLY SANK SUB.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, May 7.—The probable sinking of a German submarine on March 17 by the armed guard of the American steamship Tidewater was announced by the navy department today. The submarine, the report says, was sighted about 11:30 p. m. off the starboard bow, heading toward the vessel not more than twenty feet distant. The U-boat was then submerging. The ship's guns were brought to bear and the first shot hit some distance ahead of the under sea raider.

"The pointer fired the second shot," the commander of the armed guard reported, "and had what the captain, the chief engineer and myself and other members of the crew called a clean hit and was satisfied that it was effective. The third shot was fired by the boatswain's mate in charge of the after gun's crew, having her spotted and firing in the position she last submerged. We resumed our course and commenced zig-zagging, standing by for an attack, but the submarine did not reappear."

GAME PROTECTORS TO CARRY RIFLES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Strenuous warfare upon "vermin" and all destructive enemies of game, is the object of one hundred new 25-30 calibre rifles with which Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt is equipping the game protectors of the state.

Alarming decrease within the last few years of some of our wild game, especially quail, ruffed grouse, woodcock and pheasant, has caused the conservation commission to seek the reason. Information received from many sources indicates that the main source is the unrestrained inroads made upon game by such predatory creatures as great horned and great gray owls, goshawks, Cooper and sharp-shinned hawks, crows, hunting housecats, lynxes, wild cats, weasels, rats and other harmful rodents. It is against these that the game protectors have been instructed to turn their new rifles, and it is believed by sportsmen throughout the state, who have long advocated this course, that improved conditions among the game birds will soon be evident.

Use of the rifles will be confined only to such vermin as may be regarded as outlaws, according to Chief Game Protector Legge. Any animal for which the law provides a close season is not to be shot by the protectors at any time. Such animals as raccoons, skunks and other fur-bearers, even though they are harmful to game, are not to be killed by the game protectors. In this way the conservation commission's new step will not only not injure, but will actually benefit the great fur trapping industry of the state, an industry which has already reached the proportions of over a million dollars a year.

The new rifles are being distributed to those protectors whose territory lies in country districts, with instructions that they are to carry them at all times when in the field. The metropolitan members of the force will naturally have no need for the guns.

READY TO DEFEND AIRCRAFT BOARD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Prepared to defend the Aircraft Board from the charges of criminality made by Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, the highest officials of the war department appeared before the house military affairs committee today.

While they were appearing primarily to present their estimate of the cost of the aircraft program for the coming year, which will involve an expenditure of more than a billion dollars, it was pointed out that they would be forced by the committee to include a vigorous defence with their request for funds. The various committeemen were said to be armed with many questions regarding the administration of the aircraft board, and it was evident that the session would be much in the nature of an investigation.

Among those who appeared at the capitol prepared to go before the committee were John D. Ryan, director general of aircraft production; Acting Chief of Staff Peyton C. March, Secretary of War Baker, Brig. Gen. G. O. Squier and a host of lesser lights.

Ran Away From Home.

About 9 o'clock Monday evening a young boy, 15 years old, wandered into police headquarters seeking a night's lodging. He gave his name to Sergeant Hanley as Stanley Birdman, but after considerable questioning finally confessed his right name was Samuel Roseblum and that he had run awy from his home in New York city. He said his father was Isadore Rosebium and resided at 185 Henry street, that city. The police department notified detective headquarters in New York and turned the boy over to the custody of Sheriff Smith until word is received from his parents.

SAME OLD STENCH VISITS US AGAIN

All last summer, and for summers before that, there has been a nasty, disagreeable stench emitted from the sewer outlets on lower Broadway. For the past few days this smell has prevailed and is strong enough to turn anyone's stomach. Apparently the city has not found a way to take any necessary steps to prevent the downtown business section of the city from being afflicted with such disgusting odors. It is hardly a welcome smell with which to greet visitors to the city when they turn up Broadway in their automobiles or other vehicles.

HE KNEW WHERE HE WANTED SIGN

Mr. Krayem Objected to a Measles Sign on the Front Door so Removed It—Exciting Time on Strand—200 Cases of Measles in City.

The measles epidemic is now in full swing in Kingston, with 22 new cases in the city reported Monday to the board of health. This makes about 200 cases of the disease reported since April 1. The health board, assisted by Dr. Laidlaw and Miss Helen Cunningham of the state board, are using every effort to check the disease.

In connection with the measles epidemic there was rather an exciting time on the Strand Monday afternoon when Sanitary Inspector Fred M. Dressel and Miss Cunningham tacked a measles sign on the front door of the Krayem apartments.

Mr. Krayem conducts a dry goods store on the Strand and resides upstairs over the store. He had decided objections to the sign being placed on the door leading to his apartments from the street and removed and took it upstairs, tacking it on the bedroom door where his child was confined with the disease.

Sanitary Inspector Dressel explained to him it was necessary to have the sign where he had first placed it.

Officer Reardon was then appealed to, and finally Dr. C. F. Keefe, the attending physician, was called to the scene.

The discussion finally ended with the sign being replaced on the front door, and there Mr. Krayem was instructed to let it remain until removed by the health board.

NEXT CAMPAIGN TO GET REVENUE TAXES

Force of Deputies Now in the Field Collecting Various Taxes For the Government.

The next official campaign to be undertaken in this vicinity under direct governmental supervision is that for the collection of Internal Revenue taxes. The campaign for the collection of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C. is herewith given:

Section 1312—The commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., is hereby authorized and required to make inquiries, determinations, and assessments of all taxes and penalties * * * ."

Collector Irwin has received much favorable commendation for the cordial relations and co-operation which exists between his office and the tax paying public, in this district. Many other Internal Revenue districts throughout the country have taken pattern after the business like methods adopted by the collector in this district.

A large force of deputies is now in the field, collecting the various taxes, and it is the aim of Collector Irwin, that the most complete co-operation and harmonious relations continue to exist between the representatives of the government and the tax payers.

MOTHER WORRIES OVER ABSENT SON

The police department has received a communication from G. L. Christian of 167 Scott avenue, Yonkers, stating that his son, 20 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighing about 160 pounds, left home about ten days ago for Rhinebeck seeking a job on the farm. They received a postcard from him postmarked Kingston, April 26, stating he had been unsuccessful and was leaving for Lake Katrine to try and secure work. Since then they have received no word from him and his mother is worying about his continued absence and failure to write.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB URGES BRIDGE BILL

Secretary Directed to Write to Governor Whitman Urging Him to Sign It—Volunteers Wanted to Help Farm Patriots.

At the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Ulster County Automobile Club held Monday evening, a communication was received from the Chamber of Commerce asking for volunteers from the club members to furnish their cars for the purpose of transporting volunteer farm patriots to and from some farm where they are to work for the spring, summer or fall of 1918 for one day each week. Trips not to be beyond 25 miles from Kingston one way.

On motion, the secretary was directed to send circular letter asking for volunteers, enclosing pledge to be signed and returned to him, said pledges to be turned by the secretary to the Chamber of Commerce.

No undue advantage will be taken of these pledges for patriotic service and volunteers will only be called upon if necessary in some emergency to save some farmer's crops.

A resolution was passed directing the secretary to write Governor Whitman that the club urges the signing of the Rondout Bridge Bill now before him.

A resolution was also passed that the club secretary write to the highway commission asking them if there is any way possible whether County Highway No. 1373, from Kingston to Hurley, if not to be completed this spring, cannot be filled where there are holes, making the road at least passable for automobiles and wagons.

Mr. Bennett reappointed the old sign committee of 1917 to complete sign work left over from last year, owing to roads being under construction.

The committee appointed to provide parking space for automobiles, if possible in the court house yard, will meet with the board of supervisors on the 17th, asking them to give this plan favorable consideration.

ALLIED AVIATORS CHECKED ATTACK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 7.—Allied aviators and artillery brought about the collapse of the Germans' attempt to pinch off the Ypres salient, according to German prisoners who have been taken in that sector.

The attack, the prisoners said, was to have been launched at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Allied aviators, they said, discovered the plans and then regulated the artillery fire of the allied armies so effectively that the attack was broken up before it was even launched.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Wednesday.

Breakfast—Hominy grits with top milk, *potato balls, coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Creamed carrots in pepper cups, stuffed potatoes, oatmeal cookies, *stewed rhubard.

Dinner—Boiled liver with onions, mashed potatoes, *spinach, *grape tapioca.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Potato Balls.

1½ cups mashed potatoes, 1 egg, salt, pepper.

Add seasoning to cold mashed potatoes and the egg yolk. Mix well. Beat the egg white stiff and add to the mixture. Form into balls, sprinkle with flour, brush with fat and brown in the oven.

Boiled Liver With Onions.

¾ pound beef liver, 1½ tablespoons fat, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons salt, onions, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup water, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Cut the liver into small pieces and brown with chopped onion in the melted fat. Add the Worcestershire sauce, the water, the tomatoes and the salt. Mix the cornstarch with a little cold water and add to the gravy, stirring until smooth. Cook the mixture below the boiling point until the liver is tender. About an hour before serving add sufficient whole onions for the family and cook with the mixture.

Grape Tapioca.

½ cup pearl tapioca, 2 cups water, 1 cup grape juice, 2 tablespoons honey, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Wash and soak the tapioca over night in 1 cup of water. In the morning add 1 cup of grape juice and enough water to make 1 pint of liquid in all. Add the salt and cook until the tapioca is transparent. If the grape juice is not sweet add 2 tablespoons of honey to the mixture. Pour into wet molds and serve cold.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

When every woman learns that good cooking is more important than high priced foods—then Mazola will be used in every kitchen in America

MANY a costly dish is spoiled by a poor cooking medium—and many a housewife has gained her reputation by serving every day foods cooked the way they ought to be cooked.

Why use a frying or sautéing medium which burns easily when you can use Mazola which doesn't?

Why use butter, lard, suet when you can use a medium that is more economical and still get the best results?

Why use olive oil which is scarce and high priced when Mazola is easier to mix in a salad dressing and has a distinctive flavor that the olive oil dressing does not have?

Mazola is economical because there is no waste to it—it can be used over and over again as it never carries taste or odor from one food to another.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light, digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, May 6.—Miss Marian Mott of this village, who for the past few weeks has been soliciting pledges for the Third Liberty Loan, has met with good success and reports bonds to the amount of $9,750 purchased by those who gave their names to her. Miss Mott wishes to thank all those to whom she applied for pledges for their courteous treatment and ready response to her appeal.

Herbert Cole, with Mrs. Alex Smith's car, drove to Newburgh yesterday with his father, Calvin Cole and called at St. Luke's Hospital to see Mr. Cole's brother, Frank, who has been in the hospital ten weeks. His injured arm, (of which we have previously written), still remains unhealed and his condition is very critical. Mrs. Smith and daughter, Amy, Mrs. J. J. Lyons and Jennie Smith also enjoyed the drive to Newburgh, stopping in Walden for a short call on Mrs. Lyons's sister, Mrs. Selah Kimbark.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mott have been spending a few days with their aunt, Miss Minnie House, in St. Remy, returning home on Sunday.

Alfred Terpening is slowly recovering from his recent serious illness and now sits up a part of each day.

The ice ceam parlor, corner of Main and West streets, this village, was opened on Saturday and will be under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Mott during the summer months.

Mrs. George Najur of Housatonic, Mass., with her two little sons are visiting at the home of Mrs. Phoebe McLean.

Mrs. Alexander Smith, Miss Amy Smith and Mrs. Amy Sheeley motored to Kingston on Saturday to call upon Mrs. Mason of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ryer and daughter, Ethefine, of Kingston were over-Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ganoung.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Salmon of Brooklyn with their son, Arthur, 3rd, drove to Esopus in their eight passenger Sedan car on Saturday morning to visit Mrs. Salmon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eyett. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Salmon, their son, Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Eyett, and John McCarthy enjoyed a drive to Kingston and on Sunday afternoon upon the home trip to Brooklyn Mr. and Mrs. Eyett accompanied them to Newburgh, returning to Esopus by train.

CO-ED OUTWITTED ARMY OFFICERS

Traveled in Uniform With Her Husband Until Put Off Train When She Hired Auto And Regained It.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 7.—Mrs. Peggy Tait, University of Chicago co-ed, war bride, is telling with great glee today how she outwitted army officers and traveled from Seattle, Wash., to New York on the same train as her husband, Corporal Fred Tait. She wore a soldiers uniform and "got away with it."

Mrs. Tait says she met her husband last spring in Seattle and shortly afterward they were married. She joined him at the camp where he was stationed and when he got word that he was going to France she donned a uniform and got on the train with her husband.

Once she was put off but hired an automobile and caught up with it again and hid in the mess car. She wanted to stow away on the transport but her husband balked at this.

So after trying newspaper and magazine work in New York she came here to study.

LESS THAN 1-4 POUND MEAT RATION

Further Reduction of Meat Ration Being Considered — Ukrainian Grain Seizure Will Not Improve Conditions.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—The food situation in Germany is more critical than it has been at any time.

If Germany seizes the grain supply of the Ukraine, the bread situation will continue as at present, otherwise conditions will go from the present, which is bad, to decidedly worse.

The seizure of the grain supply, the nutritional commission of the Reichstag admits, will not result in the increasing of rations.

These were the outstanding features of a dispatch received today by the state department from an authoritative source which was not revealed.

The dispatch said that the question of another reduction of the meat rations in Germany is being considered. At present the allowance is 200 grammes a week and the contemplated reduction would be to 150 grammes, or less than a quarter of a pound.

The nutritional minister was reported to have made it plain that the seizure of the grain of the Ukraine would not result in larger rations, but to the contrary, would permit a continuation only of conditions as they now exist. The Ukrainian peasants are keeping the supply in private stores, the dispatch adds, and in the larger cities of the Ukraine there is much suffering for want of grain.

Farmers' Bulletin Intended for City Gardeners Free on Application.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The city gardener as well as the raiser of vegetables in the country will find information of value in "The Farm Garden in the North." This publication is Farmers' Bulletin 937, and is offered by the United States Department of Agriculture to all who make individual requests for it to the Division of Publications of the department.

The bulletin was designed primarily for farm gardens, but its information is presented in such a way that it is expected to be of just as great value to the city or suburban gardener.

Another bulletin expected to be of value to the big army of 1918 home gardeners is farmers' bulletin 856, "Control of Diseases and Insect Enemies of the Home Vegetable Garden." This also is offered free distribution to all who make individual requests for it.

A Careless Driver.

A young man this morning driving a touring car in which four passengers were riding, including a child, evidently tried to see how near he could come to a rig without striking it. The rig was coming along John street at a slow rate and the touring car came along Wall street at a rapid pace. The driver of the car gave no indication that he was going to turn in John street, but cut the corner at a dangerous speed, narrowly avoiding a collision.

ALLIES MAINTAIN AIR SUPERIORITY

Germans Now Using Lighter Machines Carrying Brace of Guns—Many Aviators Drafted For Machine Gun Service.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—In spite of the tremendous aviation efforts of the Germans, prompted by the entry of the United States into the war, and their threat to have thousands of aircraft available this spring, the enemy has been unable to even shake the Allied air superiority anywhere. The single seater machines, the Hanover monoplane and the Pfalz biplane do not compare with the latest models of French and British fighting planes.

For speed in climbing the Germans found the Fokker triplane impractical and it was quickly discarded for a new type of monoplane. While this monoplane was fast it was unreliable and was less speedy than the wonderful French Morane. The Pfalz biplane is a little better, but it suffers continually with motor trouble.

The Germans are now using a lighter machine which carries a brace of machine guns. The enemy's two-seater of the Albatross-Aviatik type is still the best machine they have. It is speedy and capable of climbing to a great height owing to its large spread of wings. However, the Germans are obliged to use faster observation machines than the Allied aviators as their single seater fighting machines are incapable of protecting the two-seaters as the Allied machines are. The scout machines of the Allies are also used for guard duty, for regulating artillery fire and for photographic work.

It is also noticeable that the accuracy of the enemy's anti-aircraft guns is falling off. This is due to the fact that many of their best aviators have been drafted for machine gun service to replace those killed in the recent German offensive.

NO EXTRA SESSION FOR PROHIBITION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—There will be no extraordinary session of the legislature called to again attempt ratification of the federal prohibition amendment. Decision to this effect was made by Governor Whitman here today. He made it known to a committee of the Prohibition forces of the state which waited upon him at the executive chambers, and told him they would "support him if he desired to call a special session."

The committee, headed by Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn informed the governor that the conference of temperance organizations held here last night had not adopted a resolution demanding that he call the law makers back this summer as had been the intention of the conferees. They left the matter entirely up to his judgment.

"At the present time it is not wise or desirable to call an extra session for the purpose of ratifying the federal amendment," the governor told the committee.

"I have no information that would lead me to believe that there would be any change in the situation in the legislature and inasmuch as the measure can be acted upon by any subsequent legislature for six years, I do not feel that an emergency exists such as would justify my calling the legislature together in extraordinary session."

Ulster county leaders of the dry forces are considerably interested in the action taken at Albany Monday by representatives of various organizations committed to immediate ratification of the federal prohibition amendment, who at an eight hour session adopted a resolution demanding that Superintendent William H. Anderson of the New York Anti-Saloon League be deposed from that position.

Before the resolution was adopted, Superintendent Anderson succeeded in blocking a proposal to adopt a resolution calling on Governor Whitman to convene the legislature in extraordinary session to consider a new the federal prohibition amendment. The resolution condemns Anderson's methods and particularly his attack on William Jennings Bryan, whose support of prohibition, said Anderson recently, was a political stepping stone to the presidential nomination in 1920.

Stone Ridge Red Cross.

The Stone Red Cross are very proud of their report at the end of their first year's work. A list was given of the articles made and donated, 51 nghtingales, 108 tray covers, 204 napkins, 48 handerchiefs, 23 dozen sub-handkerchiefs, 17 wipes, 11 pairs of bed socks, 85 splint pillows, 3 dozen wash cloths, 7 eye bandages, 34 knitted scarfs, 40 helmets, 23 pairs of knitted socks, 25 pairs of wristlets, 47 sweaters, 58 ambulance pillows, 29 hot water bag covers, 16 hospital shirts, 96 suits pajamas, 10 blankets, 7 trench caps, 1 ear muffler. Stone Ridge ladies you see are beginning to realize the very, very large amount of supplies and clothing needed for our boys "over there," and are trying to do their share. Can't more of us do likewise?

BIG CALENDAR BUT FEW TRIALS

Supreme Court Faces Calendar of Nearly 150 Cases, Few of Which are Ready—Land Title in Dispute.

When the calendar was called in supreme court this morning many of the cases on the day calendar were reported as not ready and so a number of cases were stricken from the day calendar. Several cases went over the term. Although there are nearly one hundred and fifty cases on the calendar, from present indications only a few will be tried at this term. Case No. 11 was continued this morning. This is an action for land title brought by the People of the State of New York against Hiram Sprague.

THE INTRUDER

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Harry was going to New York on business, and this would be Janet's first opportunity to visit her home, since marriage. The one difficulty was in leaving the new apartment vacant in winter. Janet was afraid that the water pipes might freeze, and it would be impossible to leave Nancy, the parrot, in the cold rooms.

However, Harry departed upon the morning train, and as she was leaving upon a later trolley, Janet sat at the telephone, considering whom among her friends would be willing to care for her troublesome pet. Just in the midst of her problem the telephone rang with a sound of promise.

"Hello, Janey," called a tone of peculiar sweetness, "you will never guess who this is, so I'll tell you. Your old college sister, Theodora; and I am on my way home from a trip with Neil Truesdale. Could you keep me over night? We want to go to the theater."

Janet's brain worked busily. "Come out right now," she replied. The two girls had written of their wandering trip to the homes of various old school friends. There would be much of interest in the city that week. Perhaps she might be able to persuade them to stay and keep house in the apartment during her absence; a mutual exchange of accommodations, the new experience for the girls, care for her plants, and pet. So when the girls came all was quickly and satisfactorily arranged. Joyously her friends escorted Janet to the trolley.

"You can rely upon us," they assured her, "we will keep the gas going in the furnace, and have everything in readiness for your return."

Nell Truesdale eagerly scanned the evening's theatrical notices while Theodora attended to the electric coffee pot.

"Isn't it delightful, being alone like this?" she said. "No one to entertain us as we do not wish to be entertained. The only thing that troubles me, Nell, is a fear of burglars. Oh! you needn't smile," as her friend's lip curled sarcastically, "we have been reading enough about apartment thieves. Couldn't we leave all the rooms lighted, so that when we return at a late hour tonight there will be no fearsome dark corners?

"Not a single light," Nell answered firmly. "That would be a fine way to keep house for Janey, running up her electric light bills. We will press the lighting button in the entrance hall when we return. If it will then ease your mind, you may sit at the telephone ready to give the alarm while I explore hidden corners." Nell was laughing, but Theodora's lovely face expressed apprehension, as the two went into the night.

A man stumbling later, up the same darkened stairway, fitted first one key and then another, without success. A moment longer he persisted, then made his way to a rear entrance with rewarded effort. The back hall door responded to his touch, and feeling his way the man entered the apartment. He made his way to an inner chamber, the one vacated by the inmates, and after investigating, reclined on the couch and lit a cigar.

"Oh—" screamed Nancy.

"Shut up," the man crossly shouted, and watching the smoke rise from his cigar, he unexpectedly fell asleep.

Perhaps Nell was not as brave as she would have her friend believe. At any rate, she entered in the same tense listening air of silence. Neither girl spoke as they pressed the button in the hall, and peered on into the room.

"Smoke!" breathed Dora.

"Cigar smoke," echoed Nell. They stood for a moment transfixed, then hand in hand moved into the room together. As the reclining manly figure met their gaze, Dora screamed a smothered scream, but the man's eyes snapped open.

"Shut up," he roughly commanded.

"Oh, mercy!" murmured Nell.

The man laughed. "So you can do more than screech," he said.

Theodora's fear vanished in indignation, the cool impudence of him! Eyes flashing, she advanced to the telephone.

"Station No. 9, and at once," she called.

Daringly, with one spring the intruder jumped to his feet.

"Women!" he exclaimed, "and I thought it was the parrot," But Dora was giving her message.

"Send an officer to the Randley, No. 12, at once," she demanded.

Comprehension dawned in the man's face.

"Pardon me," he said with a smile. "And I am to be the er—object of the officer's visit? Or may I ask a question? Who are you both and how do you happen to enter my friend's home at midnight?"

"Your friend's?" gasped the girls in unison.

"Harry Gordon is certainly my friend," the man responded. "That is why when I met him upon the train this morning, I agreed to spend my business week in town, occupying and looking after his flat at night."

The summoned officer's arrival, just then, delayed the girls' explanation; but Theodora has always been grateful for her presence of mind in tactfully disposing of that person. For as she now says, "It would be an awful thing to have to recall that one's husband had been under suspicion of arrest."

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Wednesday.

Breakfast—Hominy grits with top milk, *potato balls, coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Creamed carrots in pepper cups, stuffed potatoes, oatmeal cookies, *stewed rhubarb.

Dinner—Boiled liver with onions, mashed potatoes, *spinach, *grape tapioca.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Potato Balls.

1½ cups mashed potatoes, 1 egg, salt, pepper.

Add seasoning to cold mashed potatoes and the egg yolk. Mix well. Beat the egg white stiff and add to the mixture. Form into balls, sprinkle with flour, brush with fat and brown in the oven.

Boiled Liver With Onions.

¾ pound beef liver, 1½ tablespoons fat, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons salt, onions, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup water, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Cut the liver into small pieces and brown with chopped onion in the melted fat. Add the Worcestershire sauce, the water, the tomatoes and the salt. Mix the cornstarch with a little cold water and add to the gravy, stirring until smooth. Cook the mixture below the boiling point until the liver is tender. About an hour before serving add sufficient whole onions for the family and cook with the mixture.

Grape Tapioca.

½ cup pearl tapioca, 2 cups water, 1 cup grape juice, 2 tablespoons honey, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Wash and soak the tapioca over night in 1 cup of water. In the morning add 1 cup of grape juice and enough water to make 1 pint of liquid in all. Add the salt and cook until the tapioca is transparent. If the grape juice is not sweet add 2 tablespoons of honey to the mixture. Pour into wet molds and serve cold.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

When every woman learns that good cooking is more important than high priced foods — then Mazola will be used in every kitchen in America

MANY a costly dish is spoiled by a poor cooking medium—and many a housewife has gained her reputation by serving every day foods cooked the way they ought to be cooked.

Why use a frying or sautéing medium which burns easily when you can use Mazola which doesn't?

Why use butter, lard, suet when you can use a medium that is more economical and still get the best results?

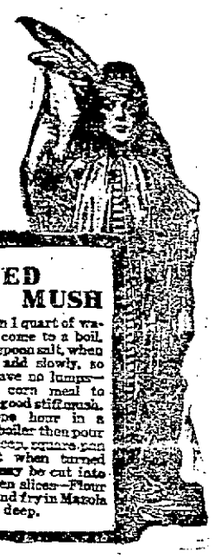
Why use olive oil which is scarce and high priced when Mazola is easier to mix in a salad dressing and has a distinctive flavor that the olive oil dressing does not have?

Mazola is economical because there is no waste to it—it can be used over and over again as it never carries taste or odor from one food to another.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light, digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

Corn Products Refining Company, P. O. Box 161, New York



FRIED MUSH

Put on 1 quart of water, let come to a boil, add teaspoon salt, when boiling add slowly, so as to have no lumps—enough corn meal to make a good stiff mush. Cook one hour in a double boiler then pour into a deep, square pan so that when turned out it may be cut into nice even slices—Flour slices and fry in Mazola not too deep.

SEAGER.

Seager, May 6.—Arbor Day was observed by the school in this place Friday afternoon.

Mr. Stoddard, the Episcopal clergyman of Stamford, held a meeting Sunday evening, April 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Avery. The service was enjoyed by all present. He has planned to hold a like service each month during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Avery and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Todd at Mapledale.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Smith have moved in the camp owned by N. R. Osborn.

Claude and Orson Haynes returned last week from Ohio.

Mother's Day will be observed in the M. E. Church Sunday, May 12, by request of the W. C. T. U.

A committee from the Red Cross Chapter at Margaretville have been in this place recently soliciting funds in monthly contributions for carrying on the much needed work.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, May 6.—Miss Marian Mott of this village, who for the past few weeks has been soliciting pledges for the Third Liberty Loan, has met with good success and reports bonds to the amount of $9,750 purchased by those who gave their names to her. Miss Mott wishes to thank all those to whom she applied for pledges for their courteous treatment and ready response to her appeal.

Herbert Cole, with Mrs. Alex Smith's car, drove to Newburgh yesterday with his father, Calvin Cole and called at St. Luke's Hospital to see Mr. Cole's brother, Frank, who has been in the hospital ten weeks. His injured arm, (of which we have previously written), still remains unhealed and his condition is very critical. Mrs. Smith and daughter, Amy, Mrs. J. J. Lyons and Jennie Smith also enjoyed the drive to Newburgh, stopping in Walden for a short call on Mrs. Lyons's sister, Mrs. Selah Kimbark.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mott have been spending a few days with their aunt, Miss Minnie House, in St. Remy, returning home on Sunday.

Do we want the Sleightsburgh bridge? Do we want the canal terminal?

The Legislature of the State of New York was sufficiently impressed with our sincerity in asking for them that both the Senate and the Assembly voted that we should have them. But before their action becomes binding on the State, it must be approved by Governor Whitman, in whose hands the bills which will give us both the bridge and the canal terminal have been for a number of days.

There has been silence on the part of the men and women of Ulster county since the Legislature passed both bills because everyone recognized the fact that Governor Whitman is fully acquainted with the conditions which the construction of the Sleightsburgh bridge and the canal terminal will meet. These are not matters merely of local interest but they have a state-wide importance and significance, particularly in view of conditions which have arisen with the war. We do not believe that the confidence in Governor Whitman is misplaced, particularly in view of his acquaintance with the conditions which will be met only by the construction of the bridge and terminal; but, the Governor is a busy man.

However, the time in which the bills can be signed by the Governor in order to be effective is drawing near its close, and it would appear fitting that Ulster county men and women—voters, all of them—should intrude upon the time of the Chief Executive in order to call attention to two important matters which evidently have escaped him. Without full knowledge of the extent of consideration which both houses of the Legislature gave the bridge bill and the canal terminal bill, the Governor easily might be led to suppose that Kingston and Ulster county do not want the bridge and the terminal. Shall sinister influences which have before defeated the bridge be permitted to prey on Governor Whitman without protest?

THE WORST OF SLACKERS.

Why should "labor" have any more right to self-seeking during this war for everybody than other hard-working classes not included under that misleading term? Why should the government conscript some young men for the battle line and permit others to slow up war preparations by striking for higher wages merely because the need of the full activity of the trades they represent exempts them from military service? Why should there be conscription of men to fight and no conscription of men to work? These questions are suggested both by startling events and startling conditions—shameless strikes of greedy, self-seeking laborers already paid enormously high wages and the consequent clogging of the wheels of imperative industry on every hand. The conscription of labor for the period of the war, long suggested and still talked of, will become a fact unless there is reform. Samuel Gompers is a patriot and is no doubt doing his best to help win the war, but the rank and file of the so-called working classes seem to be doing their best only to fill their pockets.

As if in protest against the shameless greed of their fellows, a thousand ship workers at the Bristol yard on the Delaware have voluntarily taken this "oath of enlistment:" "So long as this war lasts, I'll stick to my job and do an honest day's work" The informal vow of millions of their fellows seems to be: "So long as this war lasts I'll take advantage of the country's embarrassments to grab every dollar my union can force within my reach." If the millionaires can make big money, "labor" might reply, why not we? Yet the millionaires are already conscripted, or their money is, they being compelled to pour 50 per cent of their incomes into the government's war fund. Every class in America today is showing up better than so-called "labor."

SPIES IN THE ARMY.

The case of Wilhelm von Linder is another reminder of the urgent need of watchfulness on the part of our army authorities where recruits of Teutonic birth or extraction are concerned. After being in prison some time for desertion von Linder has confessed that he was in the German army until 1914, that he then came to this country and that he acted as spy under the direction of an attache of the German Embassy at Washington, through whom the military information he obtained in our forts and navy yards was sent to Germany. When this country entered the war he was ordered to enlist in our army and continued his spy work. This he did and, after obtaining all the useful information he could during five months in one of our training camps, he was ordered to desert and go to Juarez, Mexico, there to act in partnership with another German agent. On his way he was arrested as a deserter and sent to Fort Leavenworth.

With this known case added to that of ex-Captain Henkes, who was given 25 years at hard labor for proved disloyalty, and that of Brig.-General Resche, who was discharged from the National Army for "lack of zeal," our military authorities have plentiful warning of the danger involved in drafting young men of German birth or parentage with or without their consent. Doubtless most of them now put America first, but thousands of them may not do so and hundreds of them, unwillingly forced into the fight, may be disposed to give aid to Germany. The utmost watchfulness is imperative, even though injustice may be done to many in the effort to protect the country and the army from the relatively few. There is no choice in the matter.

Now that some German towns have suffered from air raids the Reichstag is discussing an international agreement against further bombing of open towns. Even if the Allies could be persuaded that the Germans ought not to be forced to take their own medicine, such an agreement would become merely another "scrap of paper." Even now the Huns are dropping bombs on the art treasures of Venice on the shameless pretense that the campanile, or tall slender spire of St. Mark's, is a "fortified tower."

Though the enemy's enormous sacrifices have been barren of the results sought, the battle that has raged practically every day for more than a month is not the last one and may not be the most determined. All the indications point toward a long struggle ahead, but only a favorable ultimate issue seems humanly possible.

The Huns are still failing in all their larger plans and, while they are successfully held back, American troops in greater and greater numbers are hurrying to the scene. This is as satisfactory a situation as we could expect under present conditions and one that is full of bright promise.

OPPOSE PREMATURE PEACE.

Judge Clearwater to Represent Bar Association at Philadelphia Meeting.

There is to be held at Philadelphia on the 16th and 17th of May a convention of leading men from all the states of the union to confirm opposition to a premature peace, and to sustain the determination of the American people to fight until Prussian militarism has been crushed. Addresses will be made by President Wilson and ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt. The Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, president of the State Bar Association, has appointed John G. Milburn, Francis Lynde Stetson and Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, Judge A. T. Clearwater of this city and Adelbert Moot of Buffalo to represent that association at the convention.

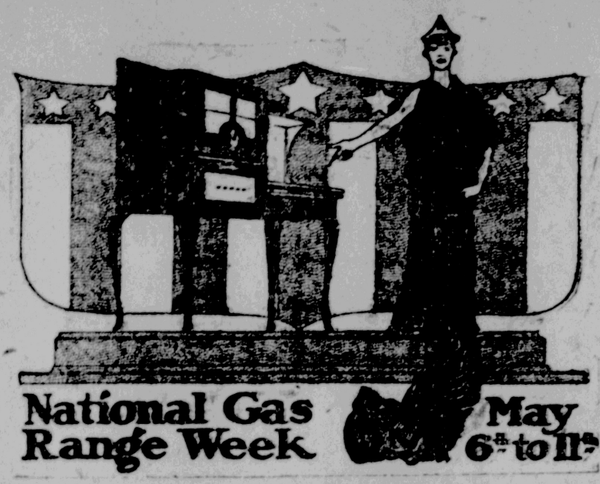
Gold is 19 times as heavy as water. A cubic foot of gold weighs 1,000 pounds.



FROM May 6th to 11th, inclusive, we are observing National Gas Range Week in common with Gas Companies operating in every state of the Union.

While it has always been our aim to impress our customers with the advantages of the Modern Cabinet Gas Range along the lines of convenience, cleanliness, reliability and economy, at this time its importance as a factor in the National Conservation program overshadows all else.

Saves Fuel--Food--Time--Money--Labor

The use of a modern Cabinet Gas Range will free you from uncertain coal deliveries during the coming winter. With everything pointing to still further advances in the cost of coal, the use of Gas will lower fuel bills.

Gas for cooking effects savings in food. At the same time there is a saving in fuel—not heat waste. And Gas by-products, salvaged at the Gas plant, are needed in great quantities by the government for munitions of war.

Purchase your new Cabinet Gas Range now on easy terms before there is another sharp advance in price.

Primitive Anesthesia.

Edgar Wallace, the English journalist, was a private in the Mashonaland Rebellion of 1896.

He tells a story of an emergency amputation which he was called upon to perform in this campaign.

"I'm blessed if I like this," he said to his emergency assistant, a rought-and-ready Cockney soldier; "There isn't an anesthetic in the medicine chest."

"What's an anesthetic?" asked the puzzled soldier.

"Something to make him insensible," said Wallace.

"Oh, that's all right," said Tommy. "I'll hit 'im on th 'ead with an 'ammer!"

Fortunately a "dope" was discovered and the operation was successfully performed.—Everybody's Magazine.

Something Sinister.

Dr. William H. Crawford, president of Allegheny College, said on his departure to do war work at the front:

"Don't ask me for an interview. There's nothing sinister about an interview. It suggests that I'm never coming back.

"Yes, you make me feel almost as blue as the rich old fellow whose little nephew said:

"'Uncle, will you please make a noise like a frog?'

"Why, Willie! said the rich uncle, laughing heartily. 'Why on earth do you desire me to make a noise like a frog?'

"'Because,' said Willie, 'whenever I ask papa to buy me a pony or bicycle or anything, he always says, 'Wait till you uncle croaks.'"—Exchange.

Traitor.

The irrepresible guy was getting his matutinal coffee at a lunch counter where one can have extra sweetening if he asks for it.

"I suppose you are a Hooverite on sugar," remarked the waiter, dropping in one lump.

"No sir, a Bolshevik," retorted the I. G. "I want more.' So Trotzky it outsky."—Boston Transcript.

Safety First.

He worshipped her, and with all his youthful ardor be begged her to marry him.

"That's all very well, Jack, all very pretty, but do you think we can live on love and kisses?"

"It's much the safest—everything else is either adulterated or poisoned or tainted!" he exclaimed.

HOSPITAL REPORT IS SUBMITTED

State Board of Charities Suggests But Few Improvements or Changes for the Tuberculosis Hospital—Modern Laundry Recommended.

President Joseph M. Fowler, of the Ulster County Board of Managers of the Tuberculosis Hospital, has just received the report from the state board of charities relative to the condition of the tuberculosis hospital in this county. The report is for the most part entirely favorable, there being but few changes or improvements suggested. Hannah F. Hayes, the inspector, made this inspection on February 23, 1918. The report is addressed to the governing body composed of the board of managers: Joseph M. Fowler, Kingston; William McElhone, Wallkill; Dr. Mark O'Meara, Kingston; John A. Snyder, Saugerties; Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Kingston; President, Joseph M. Fowler; Vice President William McElhone, Treasurer and Superintendent, Dr. A. C. Gates; Supervising Nurse, Miss Mary A. Hamburger, R. N.

It was stated in the report that there was as yet no modern laundry equipment; no outside iron fire escape on the main building; and no night nurse.

The improvements reported were an electric pump, purchased at a cost of $83, with which to pump water from the city mains into the house pipes.

The "Capacity, census and classification of patients" showed a main building and wing, with 5 rooms in both the first and second floors; bungalow with 4 rooms for women; shacks with 5 rooms for men; making a normal capacity of 24 beds with additional crib for child, and 23 occupants. All but one of these patients (Feb. 23) were public charges.

The statement of appropriations and receipts of public money, was as follows: "Money was received during the past year from public sources for the care and maintenance of inmates as follows: From the board of supervisors of Ulster county, $8,000. Patients are received from counties other than Ulster at a per capita of $10 a week. All bills are presented monthly to the poor officials of the towns responsible for the care of patients who are received from outside Ulster county. Bills for Ulster county public charges are audited monthly by the board of managers and paid by the county treasurer.

Under the heading "Supervision," it was shown that the governing board numbers 5 persons. No non-resident members had visited the institution from October to date of inspection. A visitor's register is kept, the governing board meets monthly, at the office of the president, other organizations have been interested in the work in the institution to the extent of furnishing many rooms in the hospital, the bungalow and the shacks.

The report on "Administration," and "Plant" is or should be of so much interest to the entire county.

With regard to fire protection, it was shown that the shacks and bungalows being one story buildings, patients would experience no difficulty in leaving the building in case of fire. But while four chemical extinguishers are provided for the main building two on each floor, which are recharged each March, there should also be an iron exterior stairway, the interior wooden stairway not being adequate.

In addition the following, features of the report being of an equal interest with the foregoing, is given in full:

In summing up the report calls attention to the following needs and defects in addition to the two mentioned above. Toilet and bathing facilities are not provided in the bungalow and shacks, and the outside toilets are objectionable from a saitary standpoint. A modern power laundry is needed, a night nurse and a janitor are needed. Meetings of the board of managers should be held at the hospital as required by section 47 of Ardticle 3 of the county law.

The report on administration is as follows:

VII. Administration.

This hospital is for the care and treatment of Tuberculosis.

The principal administrative officer in addition to the superintendent is the head nurse. Additional employes are an assistant nurse (R. N.) a cook, a maid, and a laundress. No janitor has been employed since September; the work usually performed by a patient.

Number of attending physicians: A non-resident superintendent visits the institution about three times a week. No visits are registered from Feb. 3 to Feb. 10, 1918. It was stated by the head nurse that the roads were in bad condition during that period.

Advisory or Consulting Board: A Consulting Staff of three members and a visiting staff of twelve members has been organized but they rarely visit the hospital.

General administrative conditions: (a) As to cleanliness and order: Excellent.

(b) As to care of patients: Apparently good.

VIII—Plant.

Extent of grounds and for what purposes used: The hospital grounds occupy three acres part of which is under cultivation and vegetables of various kinds for use in the hospital are produced.

Buildings—A. Hospital; B. Bungalow; C. Shacks (5). Purposes, hospital; material, frame; condition, good.

The Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital includes a hospital or main building which is two stories and a basement in height, and a bungalow and five shacks each one story in height.

The main building was originally a fair sized dwelling to which a two-story wing has been added to provide rooms for the advanced cases.

In the main building at the left of the entrance hall is the office and in the rear, the patients' dining room. A pantry has been made at the end of the hall and equipped with a porcelain sink or washing the patients' dishes. Trays are prepared here for all patients who are unable to come to the dining room for meals. At present there are twenty-one patients served in the dining room. Three large tables, (two seating eight and one seating six patients) are provided, the women occupying a table at the end. Linen tablecloths and paper napkins are used. The kitchen, store room, and a large cooler for the meat and milk supply are at the right of the dining room. There is also a refrigerator for left-overs from the patients' tables.

On the second floor is a sitting room for patients, a sitting room and sleeping room for the nurses, a room for the cook and the maid, and adjoining toilet and bathing facilities for the nurses and women employes.

The patients' sitting room is comfortably and attractively furnished and contains a number of easy chairs, a window seat, victrola, piano, music box and a small library.

The wing section is occupied on the first floor by men and on the second by women; each floor has five single rooms which opens unto a screened porch and has toilet and bathing facilities at the end. Bureaus are provided in each room for the patient's belongings.

Canvas screens, hinged at the top and operated by cords are provided for stormy weather. A reclining chair, hot water bottle, and a fur coat are supplied each patient.

The basement under the main sections contains the heating apparatus, (hot water), the laundry, a toilet and lavatory for men employes, and a store room for fruit and vegetables, and a recently installed automatic electric pump for pumping water into the house pipes from the city mains which it has been found necessary to do on account of the variable water pressure. The laundry is equipped for hand work only.

A small bungalow at the right of the main hospital contains four rooms for patients and has a screened porch in front. A coal stove is so placed as to provide heat for two rooms. The rooms are comfortably furnished and each has a closet for the patient's clothing.

No toilet and bathing facilities are provided in the bungalow those of the nearby pavilion being used.

The shacks are built on the side hill at the rear of the hospital, a short distance away. Each has a porch across the front and contains two beds; at present these are all occupied by men. One of the shacks which is a little larger than the other has a store room for bedding and supplies in the rear.

The outside toilets are provided for the patients occupying the shacks and for baths they go to the men's floor of the pavilion. All refuse, including pails from outside toilets, sputum cups, paper napkins, etc., are collected daily and burned in a brick pit a short distance away. Linen closets are provided in each bathroom and each porch has a wardrobe containing extra blankets, etc.

No facilities for sterilization, laboratory or X-Ray work are provided. All laboratory work is sent to the state laboratory at Albany. Drugs are kept in a small cabinet in the office. There is no examining room; all weights are taken and examinations made in the general office or in the hall.

Heating System and Location: Hot water from a boiler in the basement of the main building, coal stoves in the bungalows and the shacks.

Result: Satisfactory.

Lighting System—Electric.

Water Supply System: City water.

Condition of plumbing, sinks, toilets and bathing fixtures: Good.

Condition of floor and walls: Exterior painting of the hospital building is greatly needed; the interior appeared to be in good condition.

X.—Sanitation and Hygiene.

Location of buildings as to elevation and surroundings: The hospital buildings are located on an elevated site, the highest in the city of Kingston, about a mile from the trolley line and are unprotected from the sun and wind. At the foot of the hill are the County Home buildings.

Condition of grounds, as to drainage and cleanliness: Good.

Condition of buildings, including attics, basement and cellars: Excellent.

Condition of closets, toilets, lavatories and of sinks, bath tubs and other sanitary fixtures: Good.

Condition of storerooms and refrigerators with special reference to cleanliness and proper care of milk, meats, and other foods: Good.

Character of beds and bedding used by patients: Beds and bedding were suitable and clean and the supply, adequate.

How cared for after discharge of patients: After a patient is discharged the bed is washed and mattresses and pillows fumigated, aired, and sunned.

Methods of caring for personal clothing of patients: Closets are provided in the bungalows and four shacks, bureaus and hooks on the doors in the pavilion rooms.

Method of caring for soiled clothing and bedding: Carried to the basement and soaked in a carbolic solution before washing.

All refuse and garbage is collected daily and burned in a brick pit a short distance from the hospital.

Condition of floors, walls and stairs as to cleanliness: Excellent.

The scrubbing and janitor work, such as carrying coal to the various shacks, looking after fires, etc., is done by patients.

Method and frequency of cleaning floors: Floors are scrubbed at least once a week and wiped up daily.

Means of ventilation: Windows and doors.

Condition of wards and patients' rooms as to ventilation on day of inspection: Satisfactory.

Condition of toilets and other accessory rooms as to ventilation: Good.

Segregation of contagious or infectious diseases: When cases of contagious disease develop the patient is segregated in a room and a special nurse engaged.

Source of water supply for drinking purposes and whether pure: City water, said to be pure.

XI.—Dietary And Daily Routine.

Regular diet schedule:

Breakfast—Cereal, bread and butter or toast, coffee, milk in. (Raw eggs are always on the table).

Dinner—Soup, potatoes and a second vegetable, meat or fish, tea or milk.

Supper—Beef stew or some hot dish, bread and butter, sauce, cake or milk.

Meal or meals seen by inspector: Supper.

Was food suitable? Yes. The food is well cooked, is of good quality, a sufficient quantity is provided, and it is attractively served.

Variations in diet: A suitable variety of food is provided.

Special diets and how directed: Are prepared by the nurse when ordered by the doctor.

Is food served promptly and in good condition? Yes.

Hours of duty for nurses: From 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Hours for night nurses: No night nurse is employed.

Hours for meals for nurses: ½ hour is allowed. Nurses eat at the same hour as the patients. Two hours each day and a half-day each week off duty is allowed.

XII.—Personal Care of Patients.

Character and condition of clothing worn by patients. Suitable, in good condition.

Number of nurses caring for patients during the day: Two.

Number during night: None.

Condition of patients, as to cleanliness and comfort: Apparently comfortable and clean.

Condition of wards and rooms as to temperature: Satisfactory.

Means for summoning nurses by patients: Patients occupying rooms are each provided with push-button cords which ring just outside the nurses' room. No means is provided for those occupying the shacks.

Visit of attending physician: About three visits a week are made and the length of stay is usually one hour. No doctor's visits are registered from the 3rd to the 10th of February.

Records of such visits: Yes.

Provision for segregation of disturbed or dying patients: So far as possible, the more advanced cases are cared for in rooms which is the only segregation provided.

XIII Records.

General records of inmates and how indexed (See rule 8 of the rules governing hospitals):

Each patient has a complete physical examination on admission and a case record sheet made out which is filed alphabetically. The hospital year begins October 1st, and the names are entered in chronological order but records are numbered from the beginning of the work of the institution. A record book contains space for data in regard to name, address, date, admitting physician, left, discharged, condition, cured, died. A separate record book is kept for convenience in making out state reports and is numbered from July 1st.

Clinical notes and history records are entered on case history records. Sputum examinations are made when the patient is admitted but seldom if ever thereafter. A second sputum test is recorded in very few cases; one made in March 1916 which was negative, has no subsequent tests recorded. Date concerning urinalysis is not entered on charts.

Application blanks are not in all cases signed by a physician. Out of 72 applications examined, 18 were not signed by a physician. A patient's discharge is authorized by the superintendent and recorder on the chart and in the record book.

Are the records carefully kept and complete? Except as noted, the records are well kept.

Means of filing records for future reference. Filed in a cabinet in the medicine closet in the office after being bundled and labeled.

What financial records are kept at the institution? Book of receipts and petty expenditures.

TO BE SOCIAL WORKER.

Appointed to Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Norman Taylor of this city, with her daughter, Miss Kathleen, will go to Bethlehem, Penn., in the very near future to make their home there. Mrs. Taylor, who is exceedingly capable and well fitted for the task, will be the social worker in the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity, to which the Rev. J. I. Blair Larned has been called. Mrs. Taylor is not only thoroughly conversant with church work in its many phases, but is also well acquainted with the Pennsylvania people, having made her home there for many years previous to coming to Kingston. Miss Kathleen, who has been taking a course in stenography, etc., will fill a clerical position. Both Mrs. and Miss Taylor have many friends in Kingston who will be glad to learn of their being called to such congenial work so suited to their ability.

Navigation Notes.

The new steamboat line between Troy and New York, which probably will be started May 12 or 15, will be known as the Troy Evening Line. The work of repairing the piers at the foot of Broadway, where the Line will dock at Troy is underway.

The yacht Ursula came into the Rondout creek Monday with Captain Bear at the helm. The yacht is in government employ, carrying employes in the shipyards between Bayonne and Shooter Island. She came into the creek for inspection by the state inspectors from Albany.

Matthews Lecture Postponed.

Word was received in the city this morning by the Woman's Branch of the Home Defense Committee, that Dr. Matthews, who was to speak in the high school Wednesday evening, has just underwent an operation at the hospital. Rather than disappoint the people who wish to hear Dr. Matthews by substituting another speaker the committee decided to postpone the lecture until such time as Dr. Matthews will have recovered sufficiently to come to Kingston herself.

The Philathea Class.

The Philathea Class of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. Delavirn DuBois at her home on Hemlock avenue.

"IDEALS OF JUSTICE SHALL PREVAIL"

In Message to National Defense Councils, President Wilson Says Our Ideals of Justice and Humanity and Liberty Shall Prevail.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—"Our ideals of justice, humanity and liberty shall in the end prevail," President Wilson declared today in telegrams of appreciation to State Councils of National Defense, holding war conferences in many parts of the country.

The president's message says:

"In our fight for the rights of free men the world over, your efforts and the efforts of your fellow citizens are a vital factor.

"Your determination to perform the necessary labor and accept the necessary sacrifice, and the like spirit which has now become manifest throughout our nation, reassure a stricken world that our ideals of justice and humanity and liberty shall in the end prevail."

CO-ED OUTWITTED ARMY OFFICERS

Traveled in Uniform With Her Husband Until Put Off Train When She Hired Auto And Regained It.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 7.—Mrs. Peggy Tait, University of Chicago co-ed, war bride, is telling with great glee today how she outwitted army officers and traveled from Seattle, Wash., to New York on the same train as her husband, Corporal Fred Tait. She wore a soldiers uniform and "got away with it."

Mrs. Tait says she met her husband last spring in Seattle and shortly after they were married. She joined him at the camp where he was stationed and when he got word that he was going to France she donned a uniform and got on the train with her husband.

Once she was put off but hired an automobile and caught up with it again and hid in the mess car. She wanted to stow away on the transport but her husband balked at this.

So after trying newspaper and magazine work in New York she came here to study.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—The food situation in Germany is more critical than it has been at any time.

If Germany seizes the grain supply of the Ukraine, the bread situation will continue as at present, otherwise conditions will go from the present, which is bad, to decidedly worse.

The seizure of the grain supply, the nutritional commission of the Reichstag admits, will not result in the increasing of rations.

These were the outstanding features of a dispatch received today by the state department from an authoritative source which was not revealed.

The dispatch said that the question of another reduction of the meat rations in Germany is being considered. At present the allowance is 200 grammes a week and the contemplated reduction would be to 150 grammes, or less than a quarter of a pound.

The nutritional minister was reported to have made it plain that the seizure of the grain of the Ukraine would not result in larger rations, but to the contrary, would permit a continuation only of conditions as they now exist. The Ukrainian peasants are keeping the supply in private stores, the dispatch adds, and in the larger cities of the Ukraine there is much suffering for want of grain.

Farmers' Bulletin Intended for City Gardeners Free on Application.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The city gardener as well as the raiser of vegetables in the country will find information of value in "The Farm Garden in the North." This publication is Farmers' Bulletin 937, and is offered by the United States Department of Agriculture to all who make individual requests for it to the Division of Publications of the department.

The bulletin was designed primarily for farm gardens, but its information is presented in such a way that it is expected to be of just as great value to the city or suburban gardener.

Another bulletin expected to be of value to the big army of 1918 home gardeners is farmers' bulletin 856, "Control of Diseases and Insect Enemies of the Home Vegetable Garden." This also is offered free distribution to all who make individual requests for it.

A Careless Driver.

A young man this morning driving a touring car in which four passengers were riding, including a child, evidently tried to see how near he could come to a rig without striking it. The rig was coming along John street at a slow rate and the touring car came along Wall street at a rapid pace. The driver of the car gave no indication that he was going to turn in John street, but cut the corner at a dangerous speed, narrowly avoiding a collision.

ALLIES MAINTAIN AIR SUPERIORITY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—In spite of the tremendous aviation efforts of the Germans, prompted by the entry of the United States into the war, and their threat to have thousands of aircraft available this spring, the enemy has been unable to even shake the Allied air superiority anywhere. The single seater machines, the Hanover monoplane and the Pfalz biplane do not compare with the latest models of French and British fighting planes.

For speed in climbing the Germans found the Fokker triplane impractical and it was quickly discarded for a new type of monoplane. While this monoplane was fast it was unreliable and was less speedy than the wonderful French Morane. The Pfalz biplane is a little better, but it suffers continually with motor trouble.

The Germans are now using a lighter machine which carries a brace of machine guns. The enemy's two-seater of the Albatross-Aviatik type is still the best machine they have. It is speedy and capable of climbing to a great height owing to its large spread of wings. However, the Germans are obliged to use faster observation machines than the Allied aviators as their single seater fighting machines are incapable of protecting the two-seaters as the Allied machines are. The scout machines of the Allies are also used for guard duty, for regulating artillery fire and for photographic work.

It is also noticeable that the accuracy of the enemy's anti-aircraft guns is falling off. This is due to the fact that many of their best aviators have been drafted for machine gun service to replace those killed in the recent German offensive.

NO EXTRA SESSION FOR PROHIBITION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—There will be no extraordinary session of the legislature called to again attempt ratification of the federal prohibition amendment. Decision to this effect was made by Governor Whitman here today. He made it known to a committee of the Prohibition forces of the state which waited upon him at the executive chambers, and told him they would "support him if he desired to call a special session."

The committee, headed by Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn informed the governor that the conference of temperance organizations held here last night had not adopted a resolution demanding that he call the law makers back this summer as had been the intention of the conferees. They left the matter entirely up to his judgment.

"At the present time it is not wise or desirable to call an extra session for the purpose of ratifying the federal amendment," the governor told the committee.

"I have no information that would lead me to believe that there would be any change in the situation in the legislature and inasmuch as the measure can be acted upon by any subsequent legislature for six years, I do not feel that an emergency exists such as would justify my calling the legislature together in extraordinary session."

Ulster county leaders of the dry forces are considerably interested in the action taken at Albany Monday by representatives of various organizations committed to immediate ratification of the federal prohibition amendment, who at an eight hour session adopted a resolution demanding that Superintendent William H. Anderson of the New York Anti-Saloon League be deposed from that position.

Before the resolution was adopted, Superintendent Anderson succeeded in blocking a proposal to adopt a resolution calling on Governor Whitman to convene the legislature in extraordinary session to consider a new the federal prohibition amendment. The resolution condemns Anderson's methods and particularly his attack on William Jennings Bryan, whose support of prohibition, said Anderson recently, was a political stepping stone to the presidential nomination in 1920.

BIG CALENDAR BUT FEW TRIALS

Supreme Court Faces Calendar of Nearly 150 Cases, Few of Which are Ready—Land Title in Dispute.

When the calendar was called in supreme court this morning many of the cases on the day calendar were reported as not ready and so a number of cases were stricken from the day calendar. Several cases went over the term. Although there are nearly one hundred and fifty cases on the calendar, from present indications only a few will be tried at this term. Case No. 11 was continued this morning. This is an action for land title brought by the People of the State of New York against Hiram Sprague.

THE INTRUDER

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Harry was going to New York on business, and this would be Janet's first opportunity to visit her home, since marriage. The one difficulty was in leaving the new apartment vacant in winter. Janet was afraid that the water pipes might freeze, and it would be impossible to leave Nancy, the parrot, in the cold rooms.

However, Harry departed upon the morning train, and as she was leaving upon a later trolley, Janet sat at the telephone, considering whom among her friends would be willing to care for her troublesome pet. Just in the midst of her problem the telephone rang with a sound of promise.

"Hello, Janey," called a tone of peculiar sweetness, "you will never guess who this is, so I'll tell you. Your old college sister, Theodora; and I am on my way home from a trip with Nell Truesdale. Could you keep me over night? We want to go to the theater."

Janet's brain worked busily. "Come out right now," she replied. The two girls had written of their wandering trip to the homes of various old school friends. There would be much of interest in the city that week. Perhaps she might be able to persuade them to stay and keep house in the apartment during her absence; a mutual exchange of accommodations, the new experience for the girls, care for her plants, and pet. So when the girls came all was quickly and satisfactorily arranged. Joyously her friends escorted Janet to the trolley.

"You can rely upon us," they assured her, "we will keep the gas going in the furnace, and have everything in readiness for your return."

Nell Truesdale eagerly scanned the evening's theatrical notices while Theodora attended to the electric coffee pot.

"Isn't it delightful, being alone like this?" she said. "No one to entertain us as we do not wish to be entertained. The only thing that troubles me, Nell, is a fear of burglars. Oh! you needn't smile," as her friend's lip curled sarcastically, "we have been reading enough about apartment thieves. Couldn't we leave all the rooms lighted, so that when we return at a late hour tonight there will be no fearsome dark corners?

"Not a single light," Nell answered firmly. "That would be a fine way to keep house for Janey, running up her electric light bills. We will press the lighting button in the entrance hall when we return. If it will then ease your mind, you may sit at the telephone ready to give the alarm while I explore hidden corners." Nell was laughing, but Theodora's lovely face expressed apprehension, as the two went into the night.

A man stumbling later, up the same darkened stairway, fitted first one key and then another, without success. A moment longer, he persisted, then made his way to a rear entrance with rewarded effort. The back hall door responded to his touch, and feeling his way the man entered the apartment. He made his way to an inner chamber, the one vacated by the inmates, and after investigating, reclined on the couch and lit a cigar.

"Oh—" screamed Nancy.

"Shut up," the man crossly shouted, and watching the smoke rise from his cigar, he unexpectedly fell asleep.

Perhaps Nell was not as brave as she would have her friend believe. At any rate, she entered in the same tense listening air of silence. Neither girl spoke as, they pressed the button in the hall, and peered on into the room.

"Smoke!" breathed Dora.

"Cigar smoke," echoed Nell. They stood for a moment transfixed, then hand in hand moved into the room together. As the reclining manly figure met their gaze, Dora screamed a smothered scream, but the man's eyes snapped open.

"Shut up," he roughly commanded.

"Oh, mercy!" murmured Nell.

The man laughed. "So you can do more than screech," he said.

Theodora's fear vanished in indignation, the cool impudence of him! Eyes flashing, she advanced to the telephone.

"Station No. 9, and at once," she called.

Daringly, with one spring the intruder jumped to his feet.

"Women!" he exclaimed, "and I thought it was the parrot." But Dora was giving her message.

"Send an officer to the Randley, No. 12, at once," she demanded.

Comprehension dawned in the man's face.

"Pardon me," he said with a smile. "And I am to be the er—object of the officer's visit? Or may I ask a question? Who are you both and how do you happen to enter my friend's home at midnight?"

"Your friend's!" gasped the girls in unison.

"Harry Gordon is certainly my friend," the man responded. "That is why when I met him upon the train this morning, I agreed to spend my business week in town, occupying and looking after his flat at night."

The summoned officer's arrival, just then, delayed the girls' explanation; but Theodora has always been grateful for her presence of mind in tactfully disposing of that person. For as she now says, "It would be an awful thing to have to recall that one's husband had been under suspicion of arrest."

TAXPAYERS' ASSO. VISIT CITY HOME

And Investigate, Thinking Alms Board Spends Too Much Aiding Poor—The McBee Children—Inmate Spoils the Walls—Other Matters.

It was brought out by Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston of the City Home Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Charity Commissioners that representatives of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association had recently visited the institution and had gone over the superintendent's books. The Taxpayers' Association is of the opinion that too much money is spent in aiding the poor and needy of the city, and that was the reason they asked the superintendent to produce his books. The report of the visit did not alarm any of the commissioners and was received without comment.

The McBee Children.

Superintendent Edmonston also reported that the four McBee children are now in a state institution. The father of the four little girls, who are negroes, was sent to state prison for a crime, the details of which are still remembered by the older residents. He died later in Brooklyn. Superintendent Edmonston said the McBee children had cost the city thousands of dollars for board and clothing in various institutons. They had first been placed in the Industrial Home and later removed to a colored orphan asylum, and still later transferred to still another institution.

With the placing of the four girls in a state institution it will only cost the board about $50 or $60 a year each to keep them in clothing as the state feeds them.

A New Matron.

Mrs. Eugene Meeker, who had been the efficient matron at the City Home, was recently taken ill and removed to the Kingston City Hospital, where she is now confined, and her place at the institution has been taken by Mrs. Augusta Kress.

"A Tough Old Bird."

About a year ago an elderly man named Richardson was placed in the City Home by one of the commissioners and the son of the old man promised to pay a few dollars a week toward his support, but during the entire year had managed to contribute about $27, Superintendent Edmonston reported.

The superintendent then went on to say that the old man was becoming such a nuisance that unless he turned over a new leaf he would have to be removed to Amityville. The old man, who is over 80 years old, has the nasty habit of laying in bed and spitting on the side walls and also the floor, and using vile and indecent language to the other inmates.

"He's a tough old bird," commented one of the board.

Suggestion to Isolate Him.

The various members of the board were of the opinion that if the inmate could not behave himself and act decently he should be isolated in the garret and also made to eat alone.

To cure him of his spitting, it was suggested that he be deprived of his tobacco for a week.

Has Cancer on Foot.

The old man has a cancer on the bottom of his foot and the physician dresses it once a week.

The other day he called Burns, another inmate, a filthy name and was promptly knocked down. The racket brought Superintendent Edmonston to the scene in a hurry.

To See the Son.

After considerable discussion the final disposition of the old man was held open until the next meeting and in the meantime Superintendent Edmonston will try and get in communication with the son.

Insurance Speculation.

One of the board wanted to know if anyone was carrying insurance on the old man as a speculation.

It appeared, according to some of the members of the board, that men, who were not relatives of inmates, occasionally carried insurance on them as a matter of speculation.

If insurance was being carried in this case, the board member thought it would not be a bad idea to make the policy holder "poney" up some money for the support of the inmate.

During the discussion Superintendent Edmonston brought out the fact that he had no one to assist him in caring for the old man if he was isolated, and that while the plan would work well while he was at the institution, he was not able to be there all the time, but was in Kingston during the day on the board's business.

Before adjourning the following reports were read and filed:

Secretary's Report.

Secretary Edmonston submitted the following financial report:

Balance in bank April 3	$11,524.23
Deposited by supt. with city treasurer, May 1..	130.93
	$11,655.16
Amount of bills to be audited	2,815.93
Balance on hand	$ 8,839.23

There are 44 inmates at City Home of which number 26 are male and 18 female.

The Kingston City Hospital report showed 17 cases with 223 days' treatment.

CAME FOR BAIT GOT WRONG KIND

Lemuel Place of Ashokan Wanted Some Warblers for Pickerel so Came to City—He Bought Something That Made Him Warble Instead.

Now that the pickerel fishing season in the Ashokan reservior has opened, Lemuel Place of Ashokan, decided that during his spare moments he would enjoy some fishing. Monday he looked over his fishing tackle and decided that he needed some warblers and knowing that he could get what he wanted in the sporting goods stores in Kingston he made the trip down.

The next thing that Lemuel remembered was being picked up out of a ditch on North street, near East Union street, shortly after 11 o'clock that evening by Officer Soper, and after sleeping off his jag he was arraigned in police court this morning before Judge Schirick.

Mr. Place, who is 56 years old, confessed that it was no place for a Place to lay in a ditch, but pleaded for clemency. He informed the court he had come to Kingston to get some pickerel bait.

"What's that?" asked the court.

"I wanted to buy some of those warblers you use instead of live bait," explained Mr. Place. He further explained that he must have taken too much to drink.

In fact the bait he had bought, while not warblers, was the kind that made him warble instead.

As this was the second time he had been before the court on the same charge he was fined $5 with the alternative of five days in jail.

CANCELLING PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Bills Permitting Suspension on Account of War Prices.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman has designed Thursday for a hearing on Senator Walters's bill authorizing state, county or municipal departments to cancel contracts for public improvements made prior to the declaration of war with German where contractors have found the "going" hard because of increased prices of materials. The hearing is scheduled for 11 a. m.

The governor has already signed a bill introduced by Senator Hewitt somewhat similar in design. It permits the commissioner of highways to suspend contracts for the period of the war where the work is not progressing satisfactorily or where the contractor is embarrassed by high cost of materials.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.—Adda N. DuBois and Chester M. DuBois, executors under the last will and testament of John G. DuBois, deceased, plaintiff, against Moses McMullen, The National Cash Register Company, Columbia Distilling Company, Obermeyer & Liebmann, Philip Schantz, Union Brewing Company, George Hauck & Sons Brewing Company, Company H, 1st Regiment, New York Guard, defendants.

By virtue of a judgment of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the office of the clerk of the county of Ulster, in the above entitled action, bearing date the 27th day of April, 1918, I, the undersigned, referee in said judgment named will sell at public auction on the 14th day of June, 1918, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, on the premises to be sold and hereinafter described in the town of Marlborough, county of Ulster, New York, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the town of Marlborough in the county of Ulster aforesaid, known and designated upon map of real estate of Lewis DuBois, deceased, as lot number thirteen, and bounded as follows, viz: Beginning in the middle of the road leading from the village of Marlborough to the village of Milton in a line with the south shore of the Old Man's Kill the bridge and along the said road north 40 degrees east 2 chains and 17 links; thence south 61 degrees and 30 minutes east 4 chains and 63 links to a point northwardly from a point in the fence on the log known on said map as lot number fourteen on the flouring mill lot; thence along said flouring mill lot south 35 degrees west to a point of rocks on the south side of the Old Man's Kill or Jews Creek aforesaid; thence westwardly along the south side thereof to the place of beginning containing one acre and sixty-four hundredths of an acre, be the same more or less; and also the privilege of flowing water from the grist mill dam erected upon the said premises up and along the stream where it flows over and through the lands and premises designated upon said map or lot number eleven in as full and ample manner as the same now is and has been heretofore used and enjoyed, reserving nevertheless to Joseph Lockwood and Lewis W. Young executors and Anna DuBois, executrix of Lewis DuBois, deceased, and to their assigns forever, the right to take the water as it comes from the tail race of the grist mill upon the premises hereby conveyed for the use of the mills below, and the full privilege of drawing water out of the said mill dam whenever the water runs over said dam; but such water is not to be drawn lower than the top of the dam, and the parties drawing and using said water according to the reservation to keep up and maintain the raceway or the purpose of drawing the same where it now is and in the manner now and heretofore kept up and maintained in the rear of and below the grist mill upon the said premises; and such water and water privileges to be used and enjoyed by the said executors and executrix and their assigns in all respects as the same now are and heretofore have been used and enjoyed.

ALSO all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the village and town of Marlborough, Ulster county, New York, conveyed to said Moses McMullen by Anthony Mackey by deed dated May 1, 1883, recorded in Ulster county clerk's office May 2, 1883, in book 243 of deeds at page 519 and in said deed bounded and described as follows, to wit:

ALL that tract or parcel of land situate in the village and town of Marlborough, county of Ulster and state of New York, on the east side of the highway leading from Newburg to Milton and bounded generally as follows, to wit: North by lands now or formerly of Isaac Conklin, on the east by lands of said Conklin and others, on the south by the line of lands of Samuel Convin and on the west by the highway before mentioned; being the same premises hereofore conveyed by the executors of Robert Spence to Moses McMullen, deceased, and by his heirs to John C. Du Bois by deed.

Excepting, however, from the premises above described, the following described parcel:

ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the village and town of Marlborough, Ulster county, New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz:- Bounded on the west by the center of the highway leading from Marlborough to Milton; on the north by lands owned of the estate of Ella Y. Wygant; on the east by lands owned by the estate of Ella Y. Wygant, and on the south by the center of the highway leading from Marlborough village to Marlborough Dock. "And being all that part of Lot No. 18 on the map of the real estate of Lewis DuBois, deceased, lying on the north side of the said highway leading from Marlborough Village to Marlborough Dock."

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman this afternoon signed the Hill bill exempting farmers, gardeners and dairymen from the provisions of the business law relating to monopolies.

AUTO PRODUCTION CUT NOT SETTLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Automobile manufacturers and the war industries board in conference concerning a proposed 75 per cent reduction in the pleasure automobile output of the country agreed this afternoon to submit the issue to a committee composed of four members of the board and four representatives of the auto industry for final action.

SHIPS CARRYING GRAIN WILL BE TORPEDOED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berne, May 7.—The American minister has handed a memorandum to the political department of the Swiss government stating that there is no truth in the rumor that no wheat will be sent here within the next three months. It is true, however, that Germany has refused to grant safe conduct to grain ships bound to Europe with grain for Switzerland pending a lapse of three months. In the meanwhile German submarines are under orders to torpedo such ships.

"This is tantamount to a declaration that Germany maintains an armed blockade of Switzerland," it was said. "The United States is willing to accept the challenge to ships flying the American colors en route to French Atlantic ports laden with corn for Switzerland when convoyed by warships."

WILL INVITE JUDGES.

Who May Investigate Statements of General Maurice.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Chancellor A. Bonar Law, replying to a question asked by former Premier Asquith, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that he proposed to invite two judges to investigate statements made by General Maurice. The investigation will be private and secret documents will be gone into, it was said.

General Maurice was formerly director of military operations attached to the British war office and gave out weekly statements to the press. He is now on active duty in France.

TROUBLE IN AUSTRIAN NAVY.

Disturbances Suppressed, Percentage of Germans Increased.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 7.—Serious trouble has occurred among the crews of the Austrian navy, according to a dispatch received here today from Zurich by the Echo de Paris. The dispatch added, however, that the disturbances were suppressed with the utmost severity, and that numerous changes in the higher command followed.

Measures have been taken to increase the percentage of Germans in the Austrian fleet.

Slavs and Italians are said to have precipitated the trouble.

Strikers Seek Adjustment.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Union machinists now on strike at the plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company, Allentown, Pa., this afternoon applied to Secretary of Labor Wilson for an adjustment of their dispute by the national war labor board. Nearly 1,400 more men joined the strikers today, making a total of 5,000 men now out.

MECHANICS CALL FOR ARMY CLOSED

The local board for Division No. 1 of Ulster county, received word today that Call No. 203 was closed. This call offered young white men within the draft age who had completed at least an eighth grade grammar school education and had some mechanical experience, an opportunity of a two months' course of instruction in a government school, after which they would be fitted to serve Uncle Sam by working along mechanical lines, both on the firing line and behind the line. A number of young men listed their names with the local board for Division No. 1. for this course. It will not be known until later whether or not they have been accepted.

COMPENSATION LAW TO BE EXTENDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman today, after receiving opinions from Attorney General Lewis, announced he would sign the Walters bill, broadening the application of the workmen's compensation law. The bill will be signed on Monday, May 13. The measure includes under the compensation law, practically every one who does manual labor, mechanics and artisans. Clerical and professional men would not be included under provisions of the bill by Attorney General Lewis's opinion.

Salary Estimates Advance.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Two special government agencies submitted increased estimates of the amounts they will require for salaries and expenses during the next fiscal year to congress this afternoon. The fuel administration jumped its previous estimate of $3,750,000 to $4,575,000 and the war trade board increased its estimate of $3,030,607 to $4,110,607.

Labor Minister's Sensible Preference

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—"Don't be lured into a conference where Germany is represented," Labor Minister Roberts warned an American labor delegation in a speech at Norwich. "If German Social Democrats are allowed to attend they will be there as representatives of the kaiser. I would sooner meet the devil in hell."

Drifting Mine Kills Ten.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Ten sailors were killed when a mine was driven ashore and blown up near Vestervik, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received here today from Copenhagen.

Left Mother Gasping.

Edgar, seven years old, ran into his home the other day and informed his mother that Harold, next door, was at that moment getting a licking, his mother having caught him smoking. "That's one thing you don't have to be licked for, isn't it, Edgar?" said his mother proudly. "You don't smoke, do you?" "Naw, I should say not," replied Edgar. "Why, gee, ma, I ain't smoked for more'n two years."—Kansas City Star.

CITIZENS RESENT SLUR ON RED CROSS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Scranton, Pa., May 7.—Seized by angry citizens who tied his hands, legs and body with a rope, Barney Walukus, an Austrian, accused of making a slurring remark about the American Red Cross, was strung up to a telephone pole in Avoca, near here, today. While the body dangled thirty feet from the ground, the mob turned a fire hose on their victim. Friends finally cut Walukus down. He was badly hurt, but will live.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—There was a good demand for stocks at the opening of the stock market today with little supply around the recent prevailing prices and during the first fifteen minutes the market tone was strong with many issues showing fractional advances selling at new high prices for the year. U. S. Steel Common again attracted most attention, advancing one point to 101 and other steel industrials generally made even greater gains. Baldwin moved up 1¼ to 81¼ and Republic Iron and Steel advanced 1⅛ to 86⅜. Some of the railroad stocks were actively traded in, Reading advancing ½ to 82¼, and Union Pacific advanced ½ to 120½. There was brisk trading in Baltmore and Ohio at 52⅝. Marine Preferred made a gain of ⅝ to 89¼, and Atlantic Gulf rose ⅝ to 109½. Inspiration made a gain of ⅞ to 53¼. American Sumatra continued in active demand, selling up to 107¼.

The market held strong during the greater part of the forenoon, with interest continuing to concentrate in Steel Common, which moved up two points to 102. The other steel industrials made gains of 1 to 2 points, with Republic Iron and Steel moving up 2⅛ to 87⅜. Studebaker was actively traded in and moved up one point to 37⅜. Some of the railroad stocks were strong but movements were generally confined to fractions. Marine Preferred, after moving up ⅝ to 89⅜, reacted to 88½. Liberty 4's were weak, dropping to 95.86. Money loaning at six per cent.

The stock market closed strong today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

MOGULS LACKING IN ENTHUSIASM IN WAR

Captain Huston Raps Owners of Major League Clubs.

Baseball Paying Too Much Attention to Dollars and Cents—It Was Boss of Yankees Who Suggested Drilling of Players.

Capt. T. L. Huston's scathing arraignment of big league baseball men for what he calls a lack of interest to the proper extent in the war, may be traced, to a large extent, to the statement given out by Captain Huston, almost a year ago.

At that time Captain Huston was in a training camp near Detroit, Mich., he hammered the interview out on a small typewriter while he sat on a camp stool in a tent.

It was the part owner of the Yankees who suggested the idea of drilling American league ball players, which was gobbled up by Ban Johnson, president of the league, so quickly that Ban was given the publicity that went with it. The fact that Captain Huston was the originator was lost sight of in the praise for Johnson.

Seeing into the future, and outlining forthcoming difficulties for baseball, Captain Huston suggested in this statement that drilling be prolonged in the American league by having the accomplished men in the clubs drill companies of fans who would act as a sort of home guard in case of need. In this manner, Captain Huston pointed out, there would be some good from the drills so patriotically paraded before the fans last summer.

Instead of taking up Captain Huston's suggestion Johnson and his colleagues ignored it to such an extent that it has now been dropped from the league. There will be no drilling at all this summer in the American league. Captain Huston's missionary work in the American league has gone for naught, which may account for some of the bitterness his letter from the land of fire and brimstone carries.

Captain Huston points out a grave and forceful fact: That baseball is paying too much attention to the dollars and cents of business, rather than to the business of exerting everything in the interest of the war. The American public is patiently standing for it, but whether it will continue to do so is a question. The action of the magnates in raising admission fees above the cost of the war tax will not serve to make the public more patient.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR SPORTS

President Pilkington of Amateur Oarsmen Talks of Athletics After End of War.

Jim Pilkington, president of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, sees a brilliant prospect for all athletic sports when peace is declared. Pilkington, whose active association with the governing body in rowing goes back to 1876—within a decade of the end of the Civil war—believes that conditions following the great war will be much the same as those which were experienced here in the reconstruction period.

"The Civil war, or rather the ending of it, gave sport its impetus in this country," said Jim.

"Because Uncle Sam is practically making athletics compulsory in the land and naval forces, hundreds and thousands of young men who never before engaged in sport have become active and enthusiastic athletes. It is easy to see what the result will be when the war ends."

A LITTLE BEDTIME STORY.

When Johnny Chuck ended his winter's hibernation and appeared in the doorway of his house, he found Peter Rabbit waiting for him, a-quiver with curiosity.

"So you are awake at last, Johnny?" exclaimed Peter. "I was in your house several weeks ago, and there you lay with your eyes closed and your hands embracing your stomach, sounder asleep than I ever saw anybody before."

"Oh, I wasn't asleep," replied Johnny. "I was in a brown study. Late last fall Sammy Jay, who thinks he's smart, told me a conundrum. He asked: 'What is the difference between an American soldier and a butcher in a packing plant?' He answered it himself. 'One is a defender and the other a beef ender.' And then he laughed. I have been studying over that all winter, trying to figure out whether he is a fool or he thinks I am."—Kansas City Star.

"In some respects I find it an advantage to have a stupid servant in the house," remarked Mr. Dubwaite.

"Why do you say that?"

"Mrs. Dubwaite is kept in such a state of mind by the blunders of the servant she forgets to call attention with her usual frequency to my own shortcomings."

A Modest Suspicion.

"The audience cheered constantly when you made your speech."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "They cheered every prominent name I mentioned. I began to suspect that they'd rather hear themselves cheer than listen to me talk."

Do we want the Sleightsburgh bridge? Do we want the canal terminal?

The Legislature of the State of New York was sufficiently impressed with our sincerity in asking for them that both the Senate and the Assembly voted that we should have them. But before their action becomes binding on the State, it must be approved by Governor Whitman, in whose hands the bills which will give us both the bridge and the canal terminal have been for a number of days.

There has been silence on the part of the men and women of Ulster county since the Legislature passed both bills because everyone recognized the fact that Governor Whitman is fully acquainted with the conditions which the construction of the Sleightsburgh bridge and the canal terminal will meet. These are not matters merely of local interest but they have a state-wide importance and significance, particularly in view of conditions which have arisen with the war. We do not believe that the confidence in Governor Whitman is misplaced, particularly in view of his acquaintance with the conditions which will be met only by the construction of the bridge and terminal; but, the Governor is a busy man.

However, the time in which the bills can be signed by the Governor in order to be effective is drawing near its close, and it would appear fitting that Ulster county men and women—voters, all of them—should intrude upon the time of the Chief Executive in order to call attention to two important matters which evidently have escaped him. Without full knowledge of the extent of consideration which both houses of the Legislature gave the bridge bill and the canal terminal bill, the Governor easily might be led to suppose that Kingston and Ulster county do not want the bridge and the terminal. Shall sinister influences which have before defeated the bridge be permitted to prey on Governor Whitman without protest?

THE WORST OF SLACKERS.

Why should "labor" have any more right to self-seeking during this war for everybody than other hard-working classes not included under that misleading term? Why should the government conscript some young men for the battle line and permit others to slow up war preparations by striking for higher wages merely because the need of the full activity of the trades they represent exempts them from military service? Why should there be conscription of men to fight and no conscription of men to work? These questions are suggested both by startling events and startling conditions—shameless strikes of greedy, self-seeking laborers already paid enormously high wages and the consequent clogging of the wheels of imperative industry on every hand. The conscription of labor for the period of the war, long suggested and still talked of, will become a fact unless there is reform. Samuel Gompers is a patriot and is no doubt doing his best to help win the war, but the rank and file of the so-called working classes seem to be doing their best only to fill their pockets.

As if in protest against the shameless greed of their fellows, a thousand ship workers at the Bristol yard on the Delaware have voluntarily taken this "oath of enlistment:" "So long as this war lasts, I'll stick to my job and do an honest day's work." The informal vow of millions of their fellows seems to be: "So long as this war lasts I'll take advantage of the country's embarrassments to grab every dollar my union can force within my reach." If the millionaires can make big money, "labor" might reply, why not we? Yet the millionaires are already conscripted, or their money is, they being compelled to pour 50 per cent of their incomes into the government's war fund. Every class in America today is showing up better than so-called "labor."

SPIES IN THE ARMY.

The case of Wilhelm von Linder is another reminder of the urgent need of watchfulness on the part of our army authorities where recruits of Teutonic birth or extraction are concerned. After being in prison some time for desertion von Linder has confessed that he was in the German army until 1914, that he then came to this country and that he acted as spy under the direction of an attache of the German Embassy at Washington, through whom the military information he obtained in our forts and navy yards was sent to Germany. When this country entered the war he was ordered to enlist in our army and continued his spy work. This he did and, after obtaining all the useful information he could during five months in one of our training camps, he was ordered to desert and go to Juarez, Mexico, there to act in partnership with another German agent. On his way he was arrested as a deserter and sent to Fort Leavenworth.

With this known case added to that of ex-Captain Hienkes, who was given 25 years at hard labor for proved disloyalty, and that of Brig.-General Resche, who was discharged from the National Army for "lack of zeal," our military authorities have plentiful warning of the danger involved in drafting young men of German birth or parentage with or without their consent. Doubtless most of them now put America first, but thousands of them may not do so and hundreds of them, unwillingly forced into the fight, may be disposed to give aid to Germany. The utmost watchfulness is imperative, even though injustice may be done to many in the effort to protect the country and the army from the relatively few. There is no choice in the matter.

Now that some German towns have suffered from air raids the Reichstag is discussing an international agreement against further bombing of open towns. Even if the Allies could be persuaded that the Germans ought not to be forced to take their own medicine, such an agreement would become merely another "scrap of paper." Even now the Huns are dropping bombs on the art treasures of Venice on the shameless pretense that the campanile, or tall slender spire of St. Mark's, is a "fortified tower."

Though the enemy's enormous sacrifices have been barren of the results sought, the battle that has raged practically every day for more than a month is not the last one and may not be the most determined. All the indications point toward a long struggle ahead, but only a favorable ultimate issue seems humanly possible.

The Huns are still failing in all their larger plans and, while they are successfully held back, American troops in greater and greater numbers are hurrying to the scene. This is as satisfactory a situation as we could expect under present conditions and one that is full of bright promise.

OPPOSE PREMATURE PEACE.

Judge Clearwater to Represent Bar Association at Philadelphia Meeting.

There is to be held at Philadelphia on the 16th and 17th of May a conference of the states of the union to confirm opposition to a premature peace, and to sustain the determination of the American people to fight until Prussian militarism has been crushed. Addresses will be made by President Wilson and ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt. The Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, president of the State Bar Association, has appointed John G. Milburn, Francis Lynde Stetson and Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, Judge A. T. Clearwater of this city and Adelbert Moot of Buffalo to represent that association at the convention.

National Gas Range Week May 6th to 11th

FROM May 6th to 11th, inclusive, we are observing National Gas Range Week in common with Gas Companies operating in every state of the Union.

While it has always been our aim to impress our customers with the advantages of the Modern Cabinet Gas Range along the lines of convenience, cleanliness, reliability and economy, at this time its importance as a factor in the National Conservation program overshadows all else.

Saves Fuel--Food--Time--Money--Labor

The use of a modern Cabinet Gas Range will free you from uncertain coal deliveries during the coming winter. With everything pointing to still further advances in the cost of coal, the use of Gas will lower fuel bills.

Gas for cooking effects savings in food. At the same time there is a saving in fuel—not heat waste. And Gas by-products, salvaged at the Gas plant, are needed in great quantities by the government for munitions of war.

Purchase your new Cabinet Gas Range now on easy terms before there is another sharp advance in price.

Primitive Anesthesia.

Edgar Wallace, the English journalist, was a private in the Mashonaland Rebellion of 1896.

He tells a story of an emergency amputation which he was called upon to perform in this campaign.

"I'm blessed if I like this," he said to his emergency assistant, a rought-and-ready Cockney soldier; "There isn't an anesthetic in the medicine chest."

"What's an anesthetic?" asked the puzzled soldier.

"Something to make him insensible," said Wallace.

"Oh, that's all right," said Tommy. "I'll hit 'im on th 'ead with an 'ammer!"

Something Sinister.

Dr. William H. Crawford, president of Allegheny College, said on his departure to do war work at the front:

"Yes, you make me feel almost as blue as the rich old fellow whose little nephew said:

"'Uncle, will you please make a noise like a frog?'

"'Why, Willie!' said the rich uncle, laughing heartily. 'Why on earth do you desire me to make a noise like a frog?'

"'Because,' said Willie, 'whenever I ask papa to buy me a pony or bicycle or anything, he always says, "Wait till you uncle croaks."'"—Exchange.

HABITS OF RED-TAILED HAWK

Entitled to Protection Because of Insistent Warfare on Various Rodents in Orchards.

The red-tailed hawk, or "hen-hawk," as it is commonly called, is one of the best known of all our birds of prey, and is a widely distributed species of great economic importance. Its habit of sitting on some prominent limb or pole in the open, or flying with measured wing beat over prairies and sparsely wooded areas on the lookout for its favorite prey, causes it to be noticed by the most indifferent observer. Although not as omnivorous as the red-shouldered hawk, it feeds on a variety of food, as small mammals, snakes, frogs, insects, birds, crawfish, centipedes, and even carrion. In regions where rattlesnakes abound it destroys considerable numbers of the reptiles. Although it feeds to a certain extent on poultry and birds, it is nevertheless entitled to general protection on account of the insistent warfare it wages against field mice and other small rodents and insects that are so destructive to young orchards, nursery stock, and farm produce. Out of 530 stomachs examined, 457, or 85 per cent, contained the remains of mammal pests such as field mice, pine mice, rabbits, several species of ground squirrels, pocket gophers, and cotton rats, and only 62 contained the remains of poultry or game birds.

Red-Tailed Hawk.

BIG RETURNS FROM SPRAYING

Additional Profit of $1,000 Secured From Orchard of 200 Trees by Nebraska Man.

GUARD TREES FROM RAVAGES

Mice and Rabbits Will Do Considerable Damage During Winter Season in Orchard.

Every care should be taken to protect the young fruit trees from ravages this winter by mice and rabbits. Hundreds of young trees were destroyed last winter. There is going to be profit in every bearing tree for years to come. And when apples get scarce and dear is no time to rush into planting. Be ready for the prices. Wrapping the trees with crumpled newspapers tied with binder twine is a cheap way out.

AN ACT to amend the conservation law, in relation to non-resident fishing licenses.

Became a law March 15, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and eighty-eight of chapter six hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act relating to conservation of land, forests, waters, parks, hydraulic power, fish and game, constituting chapter sixty-five of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter two hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen and amended by chapter five hundred and twenty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 188. Non-resident fishing license. No person, except a bona fide resident of this state for at least thirty days immediately prior to such taking, shall take any fish by angling in any of the fresh waters under the jurisdiction of the state of New York or shall engage in fishing in such waters without first having procured a license so to do. Said license shall be procured in the manner provided in section one hundred and eighty-five hereof. The applicant shall pay to the clerk the sum of two dollars as a license fee therefor, together with the sum of fifty cents as a fee to the clerk; provided, however, that a non-resident person under the age of sixteen years may take fish, by angling, without obtaining a fishing license. The provisions of section one hundred and eighty-five in so far as the same are applicable to licenses shall apply to all licenses issued under this section; provided, however, that if a resident of this state may lawfully take fish in such part of the international boundary waters bordering upon the state of New York as are not within the jurisdiction of the said state, without being required to obtain a fishing license from the country having jurisdiction over the said waters, then a resident of said country may take fish in such part of said international boundary waters as are within the jurisdiction of the state of New York without obtaining the non-resident fishing license provided for herein.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the city local option law, in relation to expenses, ballots and supplies.

Became a law March 15, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section eighteen of chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to authorize cities to determine, by their qualified electors, that trafficking in liquors therein shall be prohibited in whole or in part, constituting chapter sixty-eight of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 18. Expenses. The expenses connected with the submission of local option questions or other questions in a city under this chapter shall be a city charge, and the amount necessary to defray such expenses, to the extent that moneys are not otherwise available therefor, may be raised by temporary loan and shall be included in the next succeeding tax levy in addition to all other sums authorized to be raised thereby. Ballots, blanks and supplies for taking, recording and returning the vote thereon shall be provided by the city clerk; except that in the city of New York they shall be provided by the board of elections of such city. At the request of the city clerk, the board or commissioners of elections or county clerk, as the case may be, of the county, shall render such assistance and furnish such facilities and material to enable the city clerk to perform his duties under this chapter as may be necessary; and any expense incurred by such board or officer shall be paid by the city, in the same manner as other city charges. Contracts for the furnishing of ballots and supplies may be made and entered into by the city clerk or by such board, commissioner or county clerk, as the case may be, without competitive bidding if it be necessary to dispense therewith in order to expedite the work, notwithstanding any other statute.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the real property law, in relation to discharge of mortgages.

Became a law March 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and twenty-one of chapter fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to real property, constituting chapter fifty of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 321. Recording discharge of mortgage. A mortgage registered or recorded must be discharged upon the record thereof, by the recording officer, when there is presented to him the certificate signed by the mortgagee, his personal representative or assignee, and acknowledged or proved and certified in like manner as to entitle a conveyance to be recorded, specifying that the mortgage has been paid, or otherwise satisfied and discharged. If any mortgage, registered or recorded, is stated in the certificate to have been taken by the alien property custodian under and pursuant to the trading with the enemy act adopted by the United States congress, and approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or any act amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, such certificate may be executed by such alien property custodian or such person as the president may appoint to give full acquittance and discharge for money or property belonging to an enemy or ally of an enemy which may be conveyed, assigned, delivered or transferred to said alien property custodian, with like effect as if the same had been executed by the mortgagee, his personal representative or assignee. When so signed and acknowledged or proved and certified in like manner as to entitle a conveyance to be recorded such certificate may be recorded, and such certificate, the record thereof and a certified copy of such record may be introduced in evidence in all courts of this state. The certificate of discharge, and the certificates of its acknowledgment or proof, must be recorded and filed; and a reference must be made to the book and page containing such record in the minute of the discharge of such mortgage, made by the officer upon the record thereof. After such discharge has been recorded the recording officer shall make and deliver to the person in whose interest such discharge of mortgage is executed and recorded, his certificate setting forth the names of the mortgagor and mortgagee, the liber and page at which, the time when, such mortgage was recorded, and the date on which said mortgage was satisfied and discharged.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section eight hundred and thirty of the code of civil procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 830. Testimony and exhibits upon former trial and hearing; when to be read or given in evidence at another trial or hearing. Where a party or witness has died or become insane or, being a non-resident of this state has departed from the state or, being a resident of the state has departed therefrom by reason of military or naval service under the state or United States, since or during the trial of an action now or hereafter pending, or since or during the hearing upon the merits of a special proceeding now or hereafter pending, the testimony of the decedent or insane person or of such absentee, or of any person who is rendered incompetent by the provisions of the last section, taken or read in evidence at the former trial or hearing, or at the same trial or hearing, either in court or before the same or a new referee, together with all exhibits and documents read in evidence in connection with, or as a part of the giving of such testimony, may be given or read in evidence at a new trial or hearing or at a continuation of the same trial or hearing either in court or before the same or a new referee, or upon any subsequent trial or hearing, either in court or before the same or a new referee, of the same subject matter in the same or another action or special proceeding between the same parties to such former trial or hearing or their legal representatives, by either party to such new trial or hearing, or to such continuation of the same trial or hearing either in court or before the same or a new referee, or to such subsequent action or special proceeding either in court or before the same or a new referee, subject to any other legal objection to the competency of the witness, or to any other legal objection to his testimony or any question put to him, or to any other legal objection to such exhibits and documents. Such testimony, exhibits and documents proven by oath to have been so previously taken or read in evidence may be so given or read in evidence; or the original stenographic notes of such testimony taken by a stenographer who has since died or become incompetent may be so read in evidence by any person whose competency to read the same accurately is established to the satisfaction of the court or officer presiding at the trial of such action or special proceeding.

CHAP. 178.

AN ACT in relation to city local option elections in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen.

Became a law April 10, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. In any city in which a special city election is to be held under the city local option law, on the third Tuesday in April, in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, such election shall begin on the sixteenth day of April, at the hour provided by law for the opening of the polls, in each election district, and continue until eight o'clock in the evening of the seventeenth day of April, nineteen hundred and eighteen, at which time the polls shall close and the votes be canvassed, but there shall be an intermission extending from eight o'clock in the afternoon of the sixteenth day of April to six o'clock in the forenoon of the seventeenth day of April in such year. This act shall be controlling with respect to such elections, notwithstanding the provisions of the city local option law, the election law, any other statute, or the fact that any petition under which the election is to be held designates the third Tuesday in April or the sixteenth day of April, nineteen hundred and eighteen, in words or effect, as the time at which the submission of the local option questions is requested, and notwithstanding that the notice published pursuant to section twelve of the city local option law designates such day as the day of election. During such intermission all election procedure shall be suspended in each polling place and no ballots delivered to or received from voters.

§ 2. At the hour fixed by this act for the beginning of such intermission, each ballot box, including the boxes both for ballots and stubs, in each polling place, in any such city, shall be sealed by the inspectors, and each seal shall be signed by such inspectors and by the watchers designated as hereinafter provided. The unvoted ballots shall also be placed in boxes or in closed packages, which boxes or packages shall each be sealed and the seals signed in the same manner as the ballot boxes. Where voting machines are used, each machine shall be securely locked and remain locked during such intermission. Each locking device on each machine shall also be sealed, and the seal shall be signed in the same manner as the seals upon the ballot boxes. Not more than two watchers, to attend at each polling place in each election district, may be designated by the committee authorized to designate the watchers provided for by section fourteen of the city local option law, and not more than two such watchers may be designated in the manner provided in such section from names to be filed, as therein provided, by the persons, bodies or organizations opposed to the adoption of the questions to be submitted at such election, except that such names may be filed not later than the day before the day on which the election begins. Not more than one such watcher, for any polling place, representing such committee, and not more than one such watcher as representing such persons, bodies or organizations, shall be designated, if such committee or such persons, bodies or organizations shall respectively so determine. The watchers provided for in this act are in addition to those provided for by section fourteen of the city local option law. It shall be the duty of each watcher so designated, who accepts the position, to remain at the polling place during such intermission. The commissioner of public safety, police commissioner or other head of the police department, of any such city, shall designate at least one police officer to remain in each polling place during such intermission. He shall be chargeable with the custody and safe keeping, during such intermission, of such ballot boxes and other boxes and packages as of all books, voting machines, records, forms, registers, poll books and other election paraphernalia in the polling places, and the same shall remain within sight of the watchers provided for by this act.

§ 3. Before the delivery and reception of ballots is resumed, at the close of such intermission, each inspector of election and each watcher appointed under this act shall make affidavit that the seals on such ballot boxes and packages or boxes of unvoted ballots, or voting machines, have remained unbroken, and that the contents of such boxes and the registers and poll books have remained intact during such intermission. Where voting machines are used, the watchers who attended during such intermission shall also make affidavit, in like manner, that the machine or machines in the polling place were not unlocked, operated or tampered with during the intermission. Any such affidavit may be taken before a poll clerk or ballot clerk, and he may administer the oath therefor. Such seals shall then be broken and boxes and packages opened, or machines unlocked as the case may be, in the presence of such watchers.

§ 4. Any watcher, police officer or other person who, during such intermission, shall break or mutilate the seal upon any such ballot boxes or other boxes or packages or voting machines or in any manner destroy or remove the contents of any such boxes or packages, or unlock, operate or tamper with any such voting machine, or suppress, alter, destroy or mutilate any signed challenge affidavit, or alter, mutilate, destroy or remove from the polling place any register or poll book, shall be guilty of a felony. A watcher or inspector who wilfully makes an affidavit under section three which is materially false is guilty of perjury. A watcher or inspector who refuses, without sufficient cause, to make the affidavit required by such section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 5. The city clerk shall give such public notice as may be practicabe of the extended hours during which the polling places for such election are to remain open under this act for voting thereat, but the failure to give such notice shall not invalidate the election.

§ 6. The city clerk, or the board of elections of the county at the request of the city clerk, shall provide necessary forms for the additional affidavit of inspectors and watchers required by this act. Each affidavit taken pursuant to section three shall be filed with the returns of the canvass with the same officer. The refusal of a watcher or inspector to make the affidavit required by section three shall not prevent the resumption of voting, after the intermission. The common council shall fix and provide the compensation to be paid to election officers for their increased duties under this act.

§ 7. If a second special city election in any such city be ordered during the year nineteen hundred and eighteen pursuant to section sixteen of the city local option law the court, justice or judge may include in the order a direction that the polls of such election open at six o'clock in the morning and that the election continue until eight o'clock in the afternoon of the day following, with an intermission from eight o'clock in the afternoon of the first day until six o'clock in the forenoon of the day following. In such case the provisions of this act shall apply to such intermission, and the designation of watchers therefor and the orders and duties of watchers, election inspectors and other officers with respect to such election.

§ 8. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the city local option law, in relation to watchers.

Became a law March 20, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section fourteen of chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to authorize cities to determine, by their qualified electors, that trafficking in liquors therein shall be prohibited in whole or in part, constituting chapter sixty-eight of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 14. Conduct of the election. Such special city election shall be conducted in each city by the officers charged by law with the duty of conducting the general election. The committee appointed by the petition may designate two watchers for each election district in the city. Persons, bodies or organizations opposed to the adoption of such questions, at least five days before the election, may file with the board or commissioner of elections of the county in which the city is located, or with the county clerk, if the county have no board or commissioners, or in the city of New York with the boards of elections of such city, the names of two persons as watchers for each election district in the city. If but two names be filed for an election district, such board or commissioner shall designate such persons as watchers for such district. If more than two names for an election district be so filed, such board or commissioner shall designate two persons from those whose names are so filed to be watchers for such election district at such election. Watchers may be present at the polling place and within the guard-rail from at least fifteen minutes before the unlocking and examination of any ballot box at the opening of the polls of such election until after the announcement of the result of the canvass of the votes cast thereat and the signing of the returns of the canvass by the inspectors. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of law for the taking of a vote on other propositions or questions which may be voted on by electors of the city named in the petition, the canvass and return of such vote by election districts, the canvass of results so returned, the determination therefrom of the adoption or rejection of such proposition or question and the certification and filing of statements of the result of any such canvass and determination shall apply in such city to the questions submitted under this article. The returns shall be canvassed by the city board of canvassers as constituted by the election law and the provisions of the election law not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter shall apply to such city election. In addition to any other filing, by law, of the statements of result and certificate of determination of the vote on such question, by the canvassing board, such board shall file a duplicate thereof with the county treasurer or special deputy commissioner of excise then having charge of the issuance of liquor tax certificates in the city or in a subdivision thereof.

AN ACT to amend the conservation law, in relation to suits against employees of the conservation commission.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section nine of chapter six hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act relating to conservation of land, forests, waters, parks, hydraulic power, fish and game, constituting chapter sixty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and chapter three hundred and eighteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. Suits and prosecutions. It shall be the duty of the attorney-general, when requested by the commission, to appoint a deputy attorney-general, and such assistants as may be necessary, and assign them to the commission. The deputy attorney-general shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars. The salaries of the assistants shall be fixed by the commission. It shall be the duty of such deputy, in the name of the attorney-general, to conduct all prosecutions for penalties imposed by the forest, fish and game law or by this chapter, and to bring all actions, suits and proceedings, which the commission shall be authorized to institute and maintain, and to defend all actions, suits and proceedings brought against the commission, its officers or employees for or on account of any act or any thing done by the said commission, its officers or employees when such act or thing was, in the opinion of the attorney-general, done in the discharge of an official duty or in reasonable exercise of authority. No action, suit or proceeding in which the title to lands of the state in forest preserve counties shall be involved shall be withdrawn or discontinued, nor shall judgment therein against the state be entered on consent except on special permission of the court and after application made in open court, on which application all the terms and conditions of the settlement shall be fully stated in writing and the reasons therefor set forth at length.

§ 2. Section one hundred and seventy-three of such chapter, added by chapter five hundred and eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby repealed.

AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to fire protection.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fourteen-c of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 314-c. Town board may contract for fire protection, et cetera. The town board of a town, upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers in territory adjoining a city or incorporated village and wholly without such city or village, may establish such territory as a fire district for the purposes of this section, by filing in the office of the town clerk a certificate describing the boundaries thereof. Upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers of any water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district adjoining a city or an incorporated village, having a fire department or an incorporated fire company therein, the town board of any town may make a contract with any such city or incorporated village for fire protection to be furnished within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district for a sum not to exceed in any one year ten cents upon each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of taxable property lying within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district as appears by the last preceding town assessment-roll of said town and for a period not exceeding five years at any one time. The amount of any contract that may be entered into pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be assessed, levied and collected upon the taxable property in said district in the same manner, at the same time and by the same officers as the taxes, charges or expenses of said town are now assessed, levied and collected and the same shall be paid over by the supervisor to the city or incorporated village furnishing such fire protection. This section shall apply to a water supply district formed under the provisions of section eighty-one of the transportation corporations law, as well as to water districts, highway districts, water supply districts or fire districts formed under the provisions of this chapter. No such contract shall be made, however, with any such city or incorporated village unless it has in the opinion of the town board suitable apparatus and appliances for the furnishing of such fire protection in said district.

AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to the expenditure of surplus moneys, auditing of accounts and duties of town clerk.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section ninety of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 90. Expenditures of surplus moneys by certain town officers. The supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace, or a majority thereof in any town in this state, may expend any surplus moneys for which no provision for expenditure is made, belonging to said town, for the purposes of redemption of outstanding bonds or for improvements in said town. If not so used, the town board shall apply such surplus in reduction of taxation in the manner provided in section one hundred and thirty-three of this act.

§ 92. General duties of town clerk. The town clerk of each town shall have the custody of all the records, books and papers of the town, and he shall duly file all certificates of oaths and other papers required by law to be filed in his office. He shall transcribe in the books of records of his town the minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting held therein, and shall enter in such book every order or direction and all rules and regulations made by any such town meeting. He shall attend all the meetings of the town board, the town board of health and the board of town auditors, and act as secretary thereof. In suitable books to be provided for that purpose, he shall transcribe the minutes of the proceedings of every such meeting. If accounts against the town be audited at any such meeting, he shall incorporate in such minutes a list of all such, showing the name of the claimant, the amount claimed and the amount allowed, with such other information as the board may require. Within twenty days after the holding of any town meeting, the town clerk shall certify to the county clerk the names of all the persons elected to office at the town meeting, except inspectors of election, and the terms for which they were severally elected, and whether or not they have qualified. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of justice of the peace, the town clerk shall immediately notify the county clerk of the happening of such vacancy, specifying the name of the justice of the peace whose office has become vacant, the date when the same became vacant and the cause of the vancancy. He shall deliver to the supervisor, before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors of the county in each year, certified copies of all entries of votes for raising money, made since the last meeting of the board of supervisors and recorded in the town book. Immediately after the qualifying of any constable elected or appointed in his town, he shall return to the clerk of the county the name of such constable. If any town clerk shall wilfully omit to make such return, he shall forfeit the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered by the supervisor in the name of and for the use of the town.

§ 3. Section one hundred and thirty-three of said act, as amended by chapter three hundred and sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 133. Meeting of town board for auditing accounts. The meeting of the town board held on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors, shall be for the purpose of auditing accounts and allowing or rejecting all charges, claims and demands against the town. No member of the town board or board of town auditors shall present a claim or demand against the town for audit which has been assigned to him by another, or for labor, services or material rendered or furnished by himself, or by another as his servant or agent or under contract with him, or any claim or demand of any name or nature wherein he has an interest, direct or indirect, excepting his per diem compensation for attendance upon meetings of the town board of said town and the fees allowed to him by law for services rendered in his official capacity; and no claim or demand in which a member has an interest or which is based wholly or partly on the services or material rendered or furnished by such member shall be audited or allowed by said board in favor of any person or corporation. If an account is rejected wholly or partly, the board shall indicate thereon the items or parts thereof disallowed and the reason or reasons for such disallowance. The board shall make, verify and file in the office of the town clerk a list or abstract in duplicate of all accounts, charges, claims or demands presented thereto and audited, allowed or rejected at any meeting of the year, showing in respect to each account or claim the name of the claimant, the general nature of the service performed, material furnished, or other matter on which the demand was based, the amount claimed and the amount allowed. To the total of claims so allowed, the town board shall (a) add sums necessary to pay the principal and interest of loans negotiated pursuant to section one hundred and forty-one of this act, and (b) deduct surplus moneys available for the payment thereof and the total of such claims or loans, if any, paid during the year, thereby determining the amount necessary to be raised by tax. The duplicate lists or abstracts, when so completed, shall be certified by the members of the town board, or a majority thereof, and one of the duplicate copies retained on file in the office of the town clerk and the other delivered to the supervisor of the town, to be by him laid before the board of supervisors of the county at their annual meeting. The board of supervisors shall cause to be levied and raised upon the town the amount specified in the certificate, in the same manner as they are directed to levy and raise other town charges.

Immediately after final adjournment of the annual meeting of the town board or the board of town auditors the town clerk shall prepare a copy of such list or abstract and attach thereto a certificate subscribed by him to the effect that the same is a true and complete record of accounts, charges, claims and demands presented to the board for audit and of the action of said board thereon, and shall cause to be printed in pamphlet form and kept in his office for general distribution to applicants such reasonable number of copies of said list as the town board shall by resolution prescribe. Such resolution shall also provide for the publication or posting, or both, in the town, in a suitable manner, of public notice of the completion of said printed list and of the place where copies can be obtained. The town clerk shall receive a fee of ten cents per folio for preparing said list.

Notwithstanding* any general or special provision of law to the contrary, the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then the board of town auditors shall have the authority to audit accounts, claims or demands against the town at any regular or special meeting of the board.

§ 4. Said act is hereby further amended by adding thereto, immediately following section one hundred and thirty-three, a new section, to be section one hundred and thirty-three-a, to read as follows:

§ 133-a. Duty of town clerk. When the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then that body, shall have audited an account, claim or demand against the town, the town clerk shall draw a warrant on the supervisor of the town for the amount allowed. Such warrant shall specify the date when it is payable, the fund chargeable therewith, the appropriation account, if any, to which it is to be charged and the purpose or object of the expenditure. It shall be executed in the name of the town board or board of town auditors, as the case may be, by the chairman thereof, and countersigned by the town clerk.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 74.

AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to assessments for public improvements.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section five hundred and three of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 503. Filing roll; lien of assessment; collection of assessments. When the assessment-roll shall have been adopted by the board the town clerk shall file and carefully preserve the same in his office. Each instalment appearing upon such assessment-roll shall become a lien at and from the time that the same becomes payable upon the parcel of real estate upon which the same shall be assessed, prior and superior to all other claims, liens, estates or interests therein. The town board shall present to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting a statement showing the amount of the assessment to be paid and collected during the ensuing year on the improvement and bonds issued under this article. The board of supervisors shall levy said assessment against the property liable therefor and shall state the amount of the tax in a separate column in the annual tax-roll under the name of improvement. Such tax when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and be by him applied in the payment of the cost of the improvement or the bonds and interest thereon. An unpaid assessment shall be collected in the same manner and shall subject the land and land owner liable therefor to the same interest, burdens and penalties as other town taxes in arrears. This section shall apply to any tax or assessment which has heretofore been spread, taxed or assessed pursuant to the sections contained in article twenty-four of this chapter.

§ 2. Sections four hundred and ninety-one, five hundred and five, five hundred and six, five hundred and seven and five hundred and eight of such chapter are hereby repealed.

§ 3. Such chapter is hereby amended by inserting therein a new section, to be section five hundred and five, to read as follows:

§ 505. Expense of maintenance; how raised. After the improvement is constructed and completed it shall be maintained by the town board and the cost of such maintenance shall be a charge upon the district or parcels of land against which the cost of the improvement was charged. The town board shall prepare an estimate of the expense of maintaining such improvement during the ensuing year and shall present such estimate to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting with a statement of the property liable therefor. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable and shall state the amount of the tax in the annual tax-roll under the name of the improvement, with the tax to be raised for the payment of the improvement or bonds as provided in section five hundred and three of this chapter and after the cost of said improvement or said bonds shall have been entirely paid in a similiar column under the name of the improvement. This tax for maintenance when collected shall be paid to the supervisor of the town and held by him in a separate fund to meet the expense of maintenance of such improvement. An unpaid assessment under this section shall be collected in the manner provided for in section five hundred and three of this chapter.

§ 4. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 75.

AN ACT to amend the highway law, in relation to the designation of places for the registration of motor vehicles.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision three of section two hundred and eighty-two of chapter thirty of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to highways, constituting chapter twenty-five of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and seventy-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten and amended by chapter four hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven and chapter one hundred and seventy-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Registration book. Upon the receipt of an application for registration of a motor vehicle, as provided in this article, the secretary of state shall file such application in his office at Albany, and in cities of the first class and such other places within the state of New York as he may designate and register such motor vehicle or vehicles, with the name, residence and business address of the owner, together with the facts stated in such application, in a book or index to be kept for the purpose, under the distinctive number assigned to such motor vehicle by the secretary of state, which book or index shall be open to public inspection during reasonable business hours.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

REVOLUTIONARY TENDENCIES GROW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Zurich, May 7.—Revolutionary tendencies are cropping out in Austria-Hungary and extraordinary measures have been taken to preserve order News from Vienna today was more serious than ever, although the Austrian government has issued a denial of certain rumors. Repressive measures have been taken to prevent manifestations

An official manifesto has been issued in Vienna justifying the attitude of the government.

Premier von Seydler is preparing to make an important move but it is not certain that he can restore calm. This depends largely upon the action taken by the Poles.

For some weeks there have been seething political developments in Austria-Hungary, which have been fostered to some extent by war weariness and famine.

The dissensions between the Czech and Slav elements have been growing and there have been hostile manifestations throughout the country. The Austrian government has been vainly trying to find a solution and to bring the hostile factions together but without any result.

Political reforms have been promised in Hungary but they have not been forthcoming and a group of Hungarian statesmen recently went to Vienna to attempt to force Premier von Seydler out of office.

The Germans have evidently taken alarm at the situation fearing a revolution and it is being watched keenly at Berlin.

PREPAREDNESS FOR NEXT LIBERTY LOAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, who returned to Washington today after a brief holiday at White Sulphur Springs, was unable to go to his office because of an attack of tonsilitis. It is believed the malady was caused by the secretary's exertions during his Liberty Loan tour. He will probably be confined to his home for two days, it was stated.

One of the first matters which Secretary McAdoo will consider is the arrangements for the fourth Liberty Loan. While the subscriptions to the third loan are still uncounted, the treasury has proceeded on a policy of preparedness and while the date of the next war loan is far distant, the enormous amount of work required to advertise the appeal for billions, make it a matter of expediency to set the wheels in motion for the next loan, as soon as the present one is concluded.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Gertrude A., wife of Abram W. Parsell, died at her home in Port Ewen on Monday in her 75th year. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, corner Main and Green streets, Port Ewen, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Polhemus will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Bookhout. The interment will be in the Port Ewen Cemetery. The bearers will be her two sons, Henry and Elmer Parsell, and James Murdock and Charles Monroe. Mrs. Parsell was a resident of Port Ewen for many years and was highly respected by all who knew her. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Henry and Elmer Parsell, and one daughter, Miss Ella Parsell, and three sisters, the Misses Emily and Libbie Krows and Mrs. Charles Bishop of Wurts street, this city.

The funeral of George M. Dingman, who died Friday, was held from his late residence, 155 O'Neil street, this morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 9:30, where a high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Michael O'Gara, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Within the chancel was seated the Rev. George Vaeth, pastor of St. Ann's Church of Sawkill. Mr. Dingman, who was 38 years of age, was born in Warrensburg, N. Y., and in 1905 came to Kingston, being employed at the Columbia Shirt Factory, where he has been superintendent for the past seven years and which position he held at the time of his death. Mr. Dingman was one of the most popular men in the city of Kingston and was loved and respected by all who knew him. An outward expression of the high esteem in which he was held being shown by the large number of friends and relatives gathered at St. Joseph's Church to pay their last respects to the deceased, the funeral being the largest which has taken place from St. Joseph's Church in some time. Socially, Mr. Dingman was a member of Kingston Council, No. 275, K. of C., and of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church, both organizations turning out in a body at the funeral this morning. The floral expressions were many and beautiful, the casket being banked in a solid wall of flowers. In his eulogy the Rev. Father O'Gara paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased, speaking at length in regard to the beautiful Christian life which he had led. During the services the choir was assisted by Herman LaTour, and at the close of the services Gordon Burhans beautifully rendered, "Thy Will Be Done." Besides his wife, Bertha Dingman, he is survived by three children, Marjorie, Harold and Vincent and his mother, Mrs. Edward Coward, Warrensburg, N. Y. The honorary bearers were Ray Boice, Clyde Hornbeck, Alfred Kohler, Henry Breiser, Henry Winters and Gordon Burhans. The casket bearers were Morris Delaney, Augustus Struck, James Higley, Harry Pierce, Harry Salbert and Harry Short, all intimate friends of the deceased. The remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery in a beautiful mahogany casket with old Roman bronze trimmings. The Rev. Father O'Gara and Rev. Father Vaeth accompanied the remains to the cemetery, where a short service was held. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Grogan and Scherer.

HONOR DRAFTED MEMBER.

John Mooney Guest of Honor of Bernstein Employes.

Monday evening the employes of Sam Bernstein & Company tendered a banquet at The Stuyvesant Hotel to John Mooney, one of their number. Mr. Mooney, who has been in the emply of the concern for the past fourteen years, leaves Saturday in the draft contingent, and carries with him the well wishes of his host of friends. The banqueting table was handsomely and artistically decorated for the occasion with small flags and flowers and a fine menu was served. A number of appropriate addresses were made during the evening by many of the guests, and at the close of the banquet Mr. Mooney was presented with a number of useful gifts by his fellow employes and by the firm.

Turning the Deaf Ear.

There are worse afflictions than the impairment of one's sense of hearing. Much depends on one's environment. In John Morley's recollections he recalls a dinner at Herbert Spencer's where the host wore ear stoppers so adjusted that he could open or close them, according to the sort of conversation that went on around the table. When Mr. Roosevelt is afflicted with boresome talk he can turn his left ear in the salutary direction and thus escape what might otherwise detract from the joy of life.—Boston Globe.

BORGLUM TARGET FOR SHARP ATTACK

Congress Talks on Aircraft Situation—Good Flyers Sent to France Unable to Fly There.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, whose charges of criminal profiteering in the aircraft program led President Wilson yesterday to order an investigation by the department of justice, was the target for a sharp attack by Senator Thomas, of Colorado, immediately after the senate convened this afternoon.

Senator Thomas charged that Mr. Borglum's association with certain manufacturers was not creditable and would seriously affect the creditability of his testimony in any investigation.

Senator Thomas had read into the Record the letter sent to him by the president anonuncing that the aircraft investigation had been ordered.

"That letter was the result of a conference I had with the president," said Senator Thomas. "Since then I have been favored with an inspection of the documents showing the association of Mr. Borglum with certain manufacturers.

"Regardless of the truth or falsity of his charges, thes documents are not at all creditable to Mr. Borglum and must seriously affect the creditability of any statement he may make."

"This thing has not developed in a day," Senator Chamberlain said. "The investigation itself is not the development of a day. Charges of a sensational nature from reputable citizens reach my office every day.

"This committee is determined to do whatever is necessary to investigate. If there are men who are responsible for the failure to speed up the war this committee proposes to point them out to the country.

American has not put any American-built planes on the front, and the American people should be told the truth. The flower of the American youth—the 'aces' of American, to the number of 1,500, have been sent abroad and now the chief signal officer tells us that they are to be brought back here for training. If they have planes abroad there, why don't they give them to these men. They are the victims of the extreme optimism of the chief signal officer and something must be done to protect these young men from the optimism of the aircraft board."

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts inquired: "Isn't it true that men who are already good flyers have been sent to France and haven't been able to get their feet off the ground?"

"I believe that is true," Senator Chamberlain answered.

UKRAINIA HETMAN TAKES FULL CHARGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Zurich, May 7.—General Skoropatski (a pro-German) who has just proclaimed himself hetman (leader) of all Ukrainia, has issued a proclamation dissolving the Rada (ministry) and the peasant committees, according to information received here today.

The proclamation says:

"Thanks to the powerful help of the Central Empires, faithful to their promise, we will continue the fight for the security of Ukrainia. The cabinet appointed by me will administer the laws promulgated simultaneously with the nomination of the ministry. The Rada is dissolved, likewise the peasant committees. All ministers are deprived of office. Laws concerning the Lantag election will be published soon."

Private property will be considered on the basis of "culture and civilization," it was stated.

The former Rada's decree will be annulled, it is said, and the right to sell agricultural property will be restored.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Loyal Friends' Aid Society will hold their monthly meeting at the Temple Emanuel Wednesday evening. It is urged all members be present as a social hour will be enjoyed, celebrating the third anniversary of the organization of this club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. LeRoy of 149 Highland avenue, were agreeably surprised Monday evening, when about twenty of their friends walked in. The occasion being their fifteenth wedding anniversary. All had an enjoyable time. After a bountiful supper was served at midnight the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy many happy returns.

Ahrens-Ordway.

Walter Ernest Ahrens, formerly of 63 Second avenue, this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ahrens, and Mrs. Mabel (Hills) Ordway of 12 Sever street, Worcester, Mass., were married April 23 at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Matthew Francis, pastor of Dewey Street Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed at the rectory, 17 Mason street, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hills were attendants. The bride wore white satin with a hat and carried brides roses. Mrs. Hills wore white satin and carried white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ahrens will visit through Maine on their honeymoon and on their return will live in Worcester. The groom expects to be called to service shortly in the National Army.

DIVER RECOVERED AMMUNITION

Navy Department Commends Him For His Bravery.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Hazarding his life, Frank A. Anderson, diver at the New York navy yard, dove to the bottom of a river to recover a loaded depth charge, several large projectiles and a number of cartridge cases which had accidentally rolled into the river. He was commended for bravery by the navy department today.

"The department desires to express its appreciation and commendation for the special and hazardous services rendered by you in groping through the muddy waters of the river for the depth charge," the department's statement says.

Debate Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church there will be a debate on the subject: "Resolved, that the press is a greater factor in shaping public opinion than the pulpit." John H. Garrison, principal of School No. 8, will be the leader of the side of the press, and Harley A. Miner, principal of School No. 6, will lead the church side. The judges will be Alfred D. Van Buren, Joseph M. Fowler and A. D. Rose.

Pugilists to Stimulate Recruiting.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh middleweight boxer, and Charley Weinert, heavyweight, of Newark, N. J., were enrolled in the Naval Reserve here this afternoon by Lieut. Commander Newton Mansfield. Both are listed as second class seamen. Lieut. Mansfield plans to use the two boxers in stimulating recruiting in the navy.

Mr. Klein Resumes Work.

Henry Klein, the uptown attorney who sustained a broken hip last winter when he fell on an icy sidewalk on Broadway, resumed work this week at his law office on Fair street. Mr. Klein's many friends are glad to see him around again.

State Board of Charities Suggests But Few Improvements or Changes for the Tuberculosis Hospital—Modern Laundry Recommended.

President Joseph M. Fowler, of the Ulster County Board of Managers of the Tuberculosis Hospital, has just received the report from the state board of charities relative to the condition of the tuberculosis hospital in this county. The report is for the most part entirely favorable, there being but few changes or improvements suggested. Hannah F. Hayes, the inspector, made this inspection on February 23, 1918. The report is addressed to the governing body composed of the board of managers: Joseph M. Fowler, Kingston; William McElhone, Wallkill; Dr. Mark O'Meara, Kingston; John A. Snyder, Saugerties; Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Kingston; President, Joseph M. Fowler; Vice President William McElhone, Treasurer and Superintendent, Dr. A. C. Gates; Supervising Nurse, Miss Mary A. Hamburger, R. N.

It was stated in the report that there was as yet no modern laundry equipment; no outside iron fire escape on the main building; and no night nurse.

The improvements reported were an electric pump, purchased at a cost of $83, with which to pump water from the city mains into the house pipes.

The "Capacity, census and classification of patients" showed a main building and wing, with 5 rooms in both the first and second floors; bungalow with 4 rooms for women; shacks with 5 rooms for men; making a normal capacity of 24 beds with additional crib for child, and 23 occupants. All but one of these patients (Feb. 23) were public charges.

The statement of appropriations and receipts of public money, was as follows: "Money was received during the past year from public sources for the care and maintenance of inmates as follows: From the board of supervisors of Ulster county, $8,000. Patients are received from counties other than Ulster at a per capita of $10 a week. All bills are presented monthly to the poor officials of the towns responsible for the care of patients who are received from outside Ulster county. Bills for Ulster county public charges are audited monthly by the board of managers and paid by the county treasurer.

Under the heading "Supervision," it was shown that the governing board numbers 5 persons. No non-resident members had visited the institution from October to date of inspection. A visitor's register is kept, the governing board meets monthly, at the office of the president, other organizations have been interested in the work in the institution to the extent of furnishing many rooms in the hospital, the bungalow and the shacks.

The report on "Administration," and "Plant" is or should be of so much interest to the entire county.

With regard to fire protection, it was shown that the shacks and bungalows being one story buildings, patients would experience no difficulty in leaving the building in case of fire. But while four chemical extinguishers are provided for the main building two on each floor, which are recharged each March, there should also be an iron exterior stairway, the interior wooden stairway not being adequate.

In addition the following, features of the report being of an equal interest with the foregoing, is given in full:

In summing up the report calls attention to the following needs and defects in addition to the two mentioned above. Toilet and bathing facilities are not provided in the bungalow and shacks, and the outside toilets are objectionable from a saitary standpoint. A modern power laundry is needed, a night nurse and a janitor are needed. Meetings of the board of managers should be held at the hospital as required by section 47 of Ardticle 3 of the county law.

The report on administration is as follows:

VII. Administration.

This hospital is for the care and treatment of Tuberculosis.

The principal administrative officer in addition to the superintendent is the head nurse. Additional employes are an assistant nurse (R. N.) a cook, a maid, and a laundress. No janitor has been employed since September; the work usually performed by a patient.

Number of attending physicians: A non-resident superintendent visits the institution about three times a week. No visits are registered from Feb. 3 to Feb. 10, 1918. It was stated by the head nurse that the roads were in bad condition during that period.

Advisory or Consulting Board: A Consulting Staff of three members and a visiting staff of twelve members has been organized but they rarely visit the hospital.

General administrative conditions: (a) As to cleanliness and order: Excellent.

(b) As to care of patients: Apparently good.

VIII—Plant.

Extent of grounds and for what purposes used: The hospital grounds occupy three acres part of which is under cultivation and vegetables of various kinds for use in the hospital are produced.

Buildings—A. Hospital: B. Bungalow: C. Shacks (5). Purposes, hospital; material, frame; condition, good.

The Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital includes a hospital or main building which is two stories and a basement in height, and 2 bungalow and five shacks each one story in height.

The main building was originally a fair sized dwelling to which a two-story wing has been added to provide rooms for the advanced cases.

In the main building at the left of the entrance hall is the office and in the rear, the patients' dining room. A pantry has been made at the end of the hall and equipped with a porcelain sink for washing the patients' dishes. Trays are prepared here for all patients who are unable to come to the dining room for meals. At present there are twenty-one patients served in the dining room. Three large tables, (two seating eight and one seating six patients) are provided, the women occupying a table at the end. Linen tablecloths and paper napkins are used. The kitchen, store room, and a large cooler for the meat and milk supply are at the right of the dining room. There is also a refrigerator for left-overs from the patients' tables.

On the second floor is a sitting room for patients, a sitting room and sleeping room for the nurses, a room for the cook and the maid, and adjoining toilet and bathing facilities for the nurses and women employes.

The patients' sitting room is comfortably and attractively furnished and contains a number of easy chairs, a window seat, victrola, piano, music box and a small library.

The wing section is occupied on the first floor by men and on the second by women; each floor has five single rooms which opens unto a screened porch and has toilet and bathing facilities at the end. Bureaus are provided in each room for the patient's belongings.

Canvas screens, hinged at the top and operated by cords are provided for stormy weather. A reclining chair, hot water bottle, and a fur coat are supplied each patient.

The basement under the main sections contains the heating apparatus, (hot water), the laundry, a toilet and lavatory for men employes, and a store room for fruit and vegetables, and a recently installed automatic electric pump for pumping water into the house pipes from the city mains which it has been found necessary to do on account of the variable water pressure. The laundry is equipped for hand work only.

A small bungalow at the right of the main hospital contains four rooms for patients and has a screened porch in front. A coal stove is so placed as to provide heat for two rooms. The rooms are comfortably furnished and each has a closet for the patient's clothing.

No toilet and bathing facilities are provided in the bungalow those, of the nearby pavilion being used.

The shacks are built on the side hill at the rear of the hospital, a short distance away. Each has a porch across the front and contains two beds; at present these are all occupied by men. One of the shacks which is a little larger than the other has a store room for bedding and supplies in the rear.

The outside toilets are provided for the patients occupying the shacks and for baths they go to the men's floor of the pavilion. All refuse, including pails from outside toilets, sputum cups, paper napkins, etc., are collected daily and burned in a brick pit a short distance away. Linen closets are provided in each bathroom and each porch has a wardrobe containing extra blankets, etc.

No facilities for sterilization, laboratory or X-Ray work are provided. All laboratory work is sent to the state laboratory at Albany. Drugs are kept in a small cabinet in the office. There is no examining room; all weights are taken and examinations made in the general office or in the hall.

Heating System and Location: Hot water from a boiler in the basement of the main building, coal stoves in the bungalows and the shacks.

Result: Satisfactory.

Lighting System—Electric.

Water Supply System: City water.

Condition of plumbing, sinks, toilets and bathing fixtures: Good.

Condition of floor and walls: Exterior painting of the hospital building is greatly needed; the interior appeared to be in good condition.

X.—Sanitation and Hygiene.

Location of buildings as to elevation and surroundings: The hospital buildings are located on an elevated site, the highest in the city of Kingston, about a mile from the trolley line and are unprotected from the sun and wind. At the foot of the hill are the County Home buildings.

Condition of grounds, as to drainage and cleanliness: Good.

Condition of buildings, including attics, basement and cellars: Excellent.

Condition of closets, toilets, lavatories and of sinks, bath tubs and other sanitary fixtures: Good.

Condition of storerooms and refrigerators with special reference to cleanliness and proper care of milk, meats, and other foods: Good.

Character of beds and bedding used by patients: Beds and bedding were suitable and clean and the supply adequate.

How cared for after discharge of patients: After a patient is discharged the bed is washed and mattresses and pillows fumigated, aired, and sunned.

Methods of caring for personal clothing of patients: Closets are provided in the bungalows and four shacks, bureaus and hooks on the doors in the pavilion rooms.

Method of caring for soiled clothing and bedding: Carried to the basement and soaked in a carbolic solution before washing.

All refuse and garbage is collected daily and burned in a brick pit a short distance from the hospital.

Condition of floors, walls and stairs as to cleanliness: Excellent.

The scrubbing and janitor work, such as carrying coal to the various shacks, looking after fires, etc., is done by patients.

Method and frequency of cleaning floors: Floors are scrubbed at least once a week and wiped up daily.

Means of ventilation: Windows and doors.

Condition of wards and patients' rooms as to ventilation on day of inspection: Satisfactory.

Condition of toilets and other accessory rooms as to ventilation: Good.

Segregation of contagious or infectious diseases: When cases of contagious disease develop the patient is segregated in a room and a special nurse engaged.

XI.—Dietary And Daily Routine.

Regular diet schedule:

Breakfast—Cereal, bread and butter or toast, coffee, milk in. (Raw eggs are always on the table).

Dinner—Soup, potatoes and a second vegetable, meat or fish, tea or milk.

Supper—Beef stew or some hot dish, bread and butter, sauce, cake or milk.

Meal or meals seen by inspector: Supper.

Was food suitable? Yes. The food is well cooked, is of good quality, a sufficient quantity is provided, and it is attractively served.

Variations in diet: A suitable variety of food is provided.

Special diets and how directed: Are prepared by the nurse when ordered by the doctor.

Is food served promptly and in good condition? Yes.

Hours for night nurses: No night nurse is employed.

Hours for meals for nurses: ½ hour is allowed. Nurses eat at the same hour as the patients. Two hours each day and a half-day each week off duty is allowed.

XII.—Personal Care of Patients.

Character and condition of clothing worn by patients. Suitable, in good condition.

Number of nurses caring for patients during the day: Two.

Number during night: None.

Condition of patients, as to cleanliness and comfort: Apparently comfortable and clean.

Condition of wards and rooms as to temperature: Satisfactory.

Means for summoning nurses by patients: Patients occupying rooms are each provided with push-button cords which ring just outside the nurses' room. No means is provided for those occupying the shacks.

Visit of attending physician: About three visits a week are made and the length of stay is usually one hour. No doctor's visits are registered from the 3rd to the 10th of February.

Records of such visits: Yes.

Provision for segregation of disturbed or dying patients: So far as possible, the more advanced cases are cared for in rooms which is the only segregation provided.

XIII. Records.

General records of inmates and how indexed (See rule 8 of the rules governing hospitals):

Each patient has a complete physical examination on admission and a case record sheet made out which is filed alphabetically. The hospital year begins October 1st, and the names are entered in chronological order but records are numbered from the beginning of the work of the institution. A record book contains space for data in regard to name, address, date, admitting physician, left, discharged, condition, cured, died. A separate record book is kept for convenience in making out state reports and is numbered from July 1st.

Clinical notes and history records are entered on case history records. Sputum examinations are made when the patient is admitted but seldom if ever thereafter. A second sputum test is recorded in very few cases; one made in March 1916 which was negative, has no subsequent tests recorded. Date concerning urinalysis is not entered on charts.

Application blanks are not in all cases signed by a physician. Out of 72 applications examined, 18 were not signed by a physician. A patient's discharge is authorized by the superintendent and recorder on the chart and in the record book.

Are the records carefully kept and complete? Except as noted, the records are well kept.

Means of filing records for future reference. Filed in a cabinet in the medicine closet in the office after being bundled and labeled.

TO BE SOCIAL WORKER.

Appointed to Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Norman Taylor of this city, with her daughter, Miss Kathleen, will go to Bethlehem, Penn., in the very near future to make their home there. Mrs. Taylor, who is exceedingly capable and well fitted for the task, will be the social worker in the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity, to which the Rev. J. I. Blair Larned has been called. Mrs. Taylor is not only thoroughly conversant with church work in its many phases, but is also well acquainted with the Pennsylvania people, having made her home there for many years previous to coming to Kingston. Miss Kathleen, who has been taking a course in stenography, etc., will fill a clerical position. Both Mrs. and Miss Taylor have many friends in Kingston who will be glad to learn of their being called to such congenial work so suited to their ability.

Navigation Notes.

The new steamboat line between Troy and New York, which probably will be started May 12 or 15, will be known as the Troy Evening Line. The work of repairing the piers at the foot of Broadway, where the Line will dock at Troy is underway.

The yacht Ursula came into the Rondout creek Monday with Captain Bear at the helm. The yacht is in government employ, carrying employes in the shipyards between Bayonne and Shooter Island. She came into the creek for inspection by the state inspectors from Albany.

Matthews Lecture Postponed.

Word was received in the city this morning by the Woman's Branch of the Home Defense Committee, that Dr. Matthews, who was to speak in the high school Wednesday evening, has just underwent an operation at the hospital. Rather than disappoint the people who wish to hear Dr. Matthews by substituting another speaker the committee decided to postpone the lecture until such time as Dr. Matthews will have recovered sufficiently to come to Kingston herself.

The Philathea Class.

The Philathea Class of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. Delavira DuBois at her home on Hemlock avenue.

"IDEALS OF JUSTICE SHALL PREVAIL"

In Message to National Defense Councils, President Wilson Says Our Ideals of Justice and Humanity and Liberty Shall Prevail.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—"Our ideals of justice, humanity and liberty shall in the end prevail," President Wilson declared today in telegrams of appreciation to State Councils of National Defense, holding war conferences in many parts of the country.

The president's message says:

"In our fight for the rights of free men the world over, your efforts and the efforts of your fellow citizens are a vital factor.

"Your determination to perform the necessary labor and accept the necessary sacrifice, and the like spirit which has now become manifest throughout our nation, reassure a stricken world that our ideals of justice and humanity and liberty shall in the end prevail."

"WET" CABARETS IN CHICAGO ARE CLOSED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 7.—Between 3,000 and 5,000 singers, dancers, skaters and musicians are out of jobs today. They are cabaret artists who sang, danced or skated their "swan songs" last night when the city lid went down tight on "wet" cabarets in Chicago.

The old fashioned cabaret with its wine, women and song, expired when the clock struck twelve. It was killed by city ordinance and from now on the only amusement cafes will furnish with drinks will be provided by an orchestra soberly mounted on a platform.

Barnacles on Warships.

Warships have to be cleaned on the outside. On one ship alone 200 men worked all day scraping off 600 tons of animal and plant growth from its sides and bottom. This tremendous quantity of sea life had accumulated in less than two years, during which time the ship had traveled many thousand miles. The weight of the barnacles was so great that from 25 to 40 per cent more coal was consumed in maintaining the normal speed of the boat.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Are Poplar Trees to be Cut Down by Board of Public Works?—That is a Question that Arouses Interest.

"What's the trouble now?" asked the City Hall Oracle as he noted the troubled look on the face of the Casual Visitor.

"Trouble enough," replied the Casual Visitor. "I have been informed that all poplar trees about the city are to be cut down by the board of public works."

"I heard the same thing," confessed the City Hall Oracle, "but when I inquired of an officer of the board he stated that no official action had been taken yet."

"That may be so," replied the Casual Visitor, "but there is a man going about down town and telling residents that the poplar trees in front of their houses are to be cut down."

"It would be a good thing in a way," remarked the City Hall Oracle.

"I agree with you in some respects," replied the Casual Visitor, "but when the only shade trees in front of your house are big poplar trees I tell you that it is far from agreeable to learn that they will be cut down."

"Lots of time to worry later on," consoled the City Hall Oracle, "for I don't believe even the board of public works can cut down a poplar tree and leave a house without any shade at all, and then it will be time to worry when they really start to do so."

"I guess you hit it right at that," said the Casual Visitor.

KING DECORATES WOMEN FOR BRAVERY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Caught in a German gas attack on the Belgian lines Baroness Tserclaes and Miss Marie Chisholm risked their lives to attend to the wounds of King Albert's soldiers. Both women are today in London recovering from the effects of the German gas. They were equipped with gas masks in their dressing station which was immediately behind the battle line, but [illegible] behind them without thought of the danger they discarded in order to better succeed. Both have since attend the wounded King Albert [illegible]

The women have been decorated by [illegible] vanced [illegible] for bravery.

[illegible] gian [illegible] women had conducted an advanced dressing station on the Belgian front for three years. They worked in the cellar of a house just behind the Belgian positions along the Nieuport-Ypres railway. In a recent attack the Germans simply drenched the whole Belgian front with gas. They then attacked but the Belgians repulsed them.

The gas fumes penetrated into the cellar where the women were working. They donned their gas masks and continued to attend the wounded but found the could not work so well. They discarded their respirators. They worked steadily for hours, binding up wounds and rendering first aid assistance. Both finally collapsed and had to be taken away.

Thermometer Registered 91 Degrees

Monday was the hottest May 6th that Kingstonians have ever experienced, according to a local weather authority, who has a large collection of weather records. it does not seem as if his statement will be disputed, for it surely was warm and then warmer. At one o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer at Main and Fair streets registered 91 degrees, while other thermometers registered between 80 and 90. Coats were carried in many cases instead of being worn. A few men brought out their straw hats. A small-sized shower Monday night brought a little relief.

MAY DAY AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

It may well be said with but little exaggeration, that the May Day exercises held at the high school last Friday as customary, were the best that had ever been held in Kingston. Truly the day was perfect and the crowd that thronged the auditorium, the high school lawn and the city hall lawn was probably the largest that has ever assembled to see the May Day exercises at the high school.

The students assembled in the assembly hall at 9:45 and from that time until about 10:30 they entertained the visitors with song after song. They concluded their singing with the new school song, the "Alma Mater K. H. S." With the sound of a trumpet, the curtains were drawn revealing the throne for the queen, trimmed and fairly covered with evergreen and blossoms. At almost the same time the procession, led by the prime minister, followed by the May Queen, her attendants, and entertainers, made its way down the right side aisle and up to the stage where the throne was situated.

After the prime minister's address, the crowning of the queen and the address of the queen to her subjects, came several exhibition dances. The members of the athletic teams were then each presented with a rose, after which the prime minister, the May Queen, her attendants and the audience made their way to the front of the building where from the steps of the front entrance they, the prime minister, the May Queen and her attendants watched the May pole dance and a number of girls dressed in white formed an immense K H. S. The audience, visitors and just plain students watched these exercises from such places as they were able to. From comments heard it is evident that the audience was well pleased and that is sufficient. Well

MILK EXPOSITION AT OPPORTUNE TIME

Evolution Which Has Marked Other Industries Must Be Applied By Dairy Farmers in Every Section of the Country.

The fact that the war has curtailed the importation of the many brands of fancy cheese has been the cause of numerous American purveyors embarking in the manufacture of these cheeses in this country. Just what is being manufactured and how it is done will form one of the highly interesting features of the National Milk and Dairy Farm Exposition in New York city during the week of May 20. Indeed, here is one substantial industry which Germany has lost and will never regain, for by the time the kaiser and the junkers have been put through the stone crusher, the fancy cheese industry will have become established in America so well that we will have forgotten that cheese ever came from Germany.

This huge exposition which will embrace everything with milk and its products, also all of the latest in modern machinery, equipment and processes, attractively displayed, comes at a most opportune time. The country has been at war for 13 months and in that time much remarkable evolution has taken place in many industries. The raising of the National army, the enlisting of thousand of men in the navy, marines and various branches of government service has forced dairymen to face new labor problems as well as transportation problems, and this evolution will continue throughout the period of the war. Obviously greater efficiency must be worked for and more labor saving systems adopted. This can be brought about only by an exchange of ideas by the master minds of the country, coupled with systematic educational work, and showing the dairyman by actual demonstration what is what and worthy of his adoption. All of which is just what the forthcoming exposition is.

SECRET SERVICE GETS VIOLATORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Settlements of 71 violations of the deer law, constituting the second installment of cases obtained by the conservation commission through secret service methods, were announced today by the commission through secret service methods, were announced today by the commission. They have netted the department $1,606 in fines and penalties. Twenty-one game protectors were sent into the woods as a secret service force in plain clothes. The cases not closed represent the work of only four of this force and it is believed that when all report the cases will number close to 200.

The drag net has entangled guides, hotel keepers and natives of the Adirondacks and business and professional men and other hunters from all parts of the state. The crimes which they settled covered every violation that it is possible to commit under the deer law.

In view of the many violations of the law, the commission expresses wonder that the deer is not already exterminated.

The KITCHEN CABINET

A merry heart goes all the day.—Shakespeare.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Small bits of chicken which are too small to serve in other ways may be used in croquettes or in combination with other meats in various dishes.

Chicken Souffle.—Mince a cupful of chicken very fine add a cupful of white sauce, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt, pepper and onion juice to taste; add the beaten yolks of three eggs. Cook three minutes, stirring constantly. Cool, fold in the stiffly beaten eggs. Bake until firm in a moderate oven.

Chicken Jelly.—Cover the bones of the fowl and bits of left-over meat with a quart of water; simmer for several hours, then strain, and pour into a mold. During the cooking add seasonings to taste, such as mace, parsley, onion juice, salt and pepper. Serve with diced fresh vegetables as a salad or in various ways.

Cornmeal Apple Pudding.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, a pint of fresh mush, two well-beaten eggs, a half cupful of milk, one pint of chopped tart apple. Turn into a greased pan and bake until the apples are soft.

Codfish Rolls.—Mix together mashed potato and shredded codfish, season with butter, pepper, salt and form into rolls the size of the thumb and three inches long. Roll in flour and fry in hot fat. Serve with white sauce garnished with parsley.

Tomatoes With Chipped Beef.—Brown a little sweet fat and lay in sliced ripe tomatoes, rolled in seasoned flour; season with salt, pepper and cayenne; brown well on both sides; sprinkle a little chopped onion over each slice. Spread evenly over each a thin layer of chopped chipped beef; cover and cook 20 minutes without stirring.

Asparagus Loaf.—Take two cupfuls of cooked asparagus, add two-thirds of a cupful of cracker crumbs and one cupful of cream, add one teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, a little onion juice and one egg. Fold in the asparagus and bake one hour.

When making milk toast add a half cupful of good flavored grated cheese to it when serving. A good way to use left-over dried cheese.

And Investigate, Thinking Alms Board Spends Too Much Aiding Poor—The McBee Children—Inmate Spoils the Walls—Other Matters.

It was brought out by Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston of the City Home Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Charity Commissioners that representatives of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association had recently visited the institution and had gone over the superintendent's books. The Taxpayers' Association is of the opinion that too much money is spent in aiding the poor and needy of the city, and that was the reason they asked the superintendent to produce his books. The report of the visit did not alarm any of the commissioners and was received without comment.

The McBee Children.

Superintendent Edmonston also reported that the four McBee children are now in a state institution. The father of the four little girls, who are negroes, was sent to state prison for a crime, the details of which are still remembered by the older residents. He died later in Brooklyn. Superintendent Edmonston said the McBee children had cost the city thousands of dollars for board and clothing in various institutons. They had first been placed in the Industrial Home and later removed to a colored orphan asylum, and still later transferred to still another institution.

With the placing of the four girls in a state institution it will only cost the board about $50 or $60 a year each to keep them in clothing as the state feeds them.

A New Matron.

Mrs. Eugene Meeker, who had been the efficient matron at the City Home, was recently taken ill and removed to the Kingston City Hospital, where she is now confined, and her place at the institution has been taken by Mrs. Augusta Kress.

"A Tough Old Bird."

About a year ago an elderly man named Richardson was placed in the City Home by one of the commissioners and the son of the old man promised to pay a few dollars a week toward his support, but during the entire year had managed to contribute about $27, Superintendent Edmonston reported.

The superintendent then went on to say that the old man was becoming such a nuisance that unless he turned over a new leaf he would have to be removed to Amityville. The old man, who is over 80 years old, has the nasty habit of laying in bed and spitting on the side walls and also the floor, and using vile and indecent language to the other inmates.

"He's a tough old bird," commented one of the board.

Suggestion to Isolate Him.

The various members of the board were of the opinion that if the inmate could not behave himself and the garret and also made to eat alone.

Has Cancer on Foot.

The old man has a cancer on the bottom of his foot and the physician dresses it once a week.

The other day he called Burns, another inmate, a filthy name and was promptly knocked down. The racket brought Superintendent Edmonston to the scene in a hurry.

To See the Son.

After considerable discussion the final disposition of the old man was held open until the next meeting and in the meantime Superintendent Edmonston will try and get in communication with the son.

Insurance Speculation.

One of the board wanted to know if anyone was carrying insurance on the old man as a speculation.

It appeared, according to some of the members of the board, that men, who were not relatives of inmates, occasionally carried insurance on them as a matter of speculation.

If insurance was being carried in this case, the board member thought it would not be a bad idea to make the policy holder "pony" up some money for the support of the inmate.

During the discussion Superintendent Edmonston brought out the fact that he had no one to assist him in caring for the old man if he was isolated, and that while the plan would work well while he was at the institution, he was not able to be there all the time, but was in Kingston during the day on the board's business.

Before adjourning the following reports were read and filed:

Secretary's Report.

Secretary Edmonston submitted the following financial report:

Balance in bank April 3.	$11,524.22
Deposited by supt. with city treasurer, May 1...	130.93
	$11,655.15
Amount of bills to be audited	2,815.93
Balance on hand.....	$ 8,839.22

There are 14 inmates at City Home of which number 26 are male and 18 female.

The Kingston City Hospital report showed 17 cases with 223 days' treatment.

Now that the pickerel fishing season in the Ashokan reservior has opened, Lemuel Place of Ashokan, decided that during his spare moments he would enjoy some fishing. Monday he looked over his fishing tackle and decided that he needed some warblers and knowing that he could get what he wanted in the sporting goods stores in Kingston he made the trip down.

The next thing that Lemuel remembered was being picked up out of a ditch on North street, near East Union street, shortly after 11 o'clock that evening by Officer Soper, and after sleeping off his jag he was arraigned in police court this morning before Judge Schirick.

Mr. Place, who is 56 years old, confessed that it was no place for a Place to lay in a ditch, but pleaded for clemency. He informed the court he had come to Kingston to get some pickerel bait.

"What's that?" asked the court.

"I wanted to buy some of those warblers you use instead of live bait," explained Mr. Place. He further explained that he must have taken too much to drink.

In fact the bait he had bought, while not warblers, was the kind that made him warble instead.

As this was the second time he had been before the court on the same charge he was fined $5 with the alternative of five days in jail.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman has designed Thursday for a hearing on Senator Walters's bill authorizing state, county or municipal departments to cancel contracts for public improvements made prior to the declaration of war with German where contractors have found the "going" hard because of increased prices of materials. The bearing is scheduled for 11 a. m.

The governor has already signed a bill introduced by Senator Hewitt somewhat similar in design. It permits the commissioner of highways to suspend contracts for the period of the war where the work is not progressing satisfactorily or where the contractor is embarrassed by high cost of materials.

Hear Senator Tully on War Savings at high school Thursday night.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.—Adda N. DuBois and Chester M. DuBois, executors under the last will and testament of John G. DuBois, deceased, plaintiff, against Moses McMullen, The National Cash Register Company, Columbia Distilling Company, Obermeyer & Liebmann, Philip Schantz, Union Brewing Company, George Hauck & Sons Brewing Company, Company H, 1st Regiment, New York Guard, defendants.

By virtue of a judgment of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the office of the clerk of the county of Ulster, in the above entitled action, bearing date the 25th day of April, 1918, I, the undersigned, referee, in said judgment named will sell at public auction on the 14th day of June, 1918, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, on the premises to be sold and hereinafter described in the town of Marlborough, county of Ulster, New York, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the town of Marlborough in the county of Ulster aforesaid, known and designated upon map of real estate of Lewis DuBois, deceased, as lot number thirteen, and bounded as follows, viz: Beginning in the middle of the road leading from the village of Marlborough to the village of Milton in a line with the south shore of the Old Man's Kill the bridge and along the said road north 40 degrees east 2 chains and 17 links; thence south 61 degrees and 30 minutes east 4 chains and 65 links to a point northwardly from a point in the fence on the log known on said map as lot number fourteen on the douring mill lot; thence along said douring mill lot south 25 degrees west to a point of rocks on the south side of the Old Man's Kill or Jews Creek aforesaid; thence westwardly along the south side thereof to the place of beginning containing one acre and sixty-four hundredths of an acre, be the same more or less; and also the privilege of flowing water from the grist mill dam erected upon the said premises up and along the stream where it flows over and through the lands and premises designated upon said map or lot number eleven in as full and ample manner as the same now is and has been heretofore used and enjoyed, reserving nevertheless to Joseph Lockwood and Lewis W. Young executors and Anna DuBois, executrix of Lewis DuBois, deceased, and to their assigns forever, the right to take the water as it comes from the tail race of the grist mill upon the premises hereby conveyed for the use of the mills below, and the full privilege of drawing water out of the said mill dam whenever the water runs over said dam; but such water is not to be drawn lower than the top of the dam, and the parties drawing and using said water according to the reservation to keep up and maintain the raceway or the purpose of drawing the same where it now is and in the manner now and heretofore kept up and maintained in the rear of and below the grist mill upon the said premises; and such water and water privileges to be used and enjoyed by the said executors and executrix and their assigns in all respects as the same now are and heretofore have been used and enjoyed.

ALSO all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the village and town of Marlborough, Ulster county, New York, conveyed to said Moses McMullen by Anthony Mackey by deed dated May 1, 1883, recorded in Ulster county clerk's office May 2, 1883, in book 243 of deeds at page 519 and in said deed bounded and described as follows, to wit:

SEVEN CITY BLOCKS DESTROYED BY FIRE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Hopewell, Va., May 7.—The great Dupont Powder Plant at this place was threatened this afternoon when fire starting in a restaurant, destroyed seven city blocks, the damage was estimated at $100,000. The cause was unknown and an investigation is under way.

GOV. WHITMAN EXEMPTS FARMERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman this afternoon signed the Hill bill exempting farmers, gardeners and dairymen from the provisions of the business law relating to monopolies.

AUTO PRODUCTION CUT NOT SETTLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Automobile manufacturers and the war industries board in conference concerning a proposed 75 per cent reduction in the pleasure automobile output of the country agreed this afternoon to submit the issue to a committee composed of four members of the board and four representatives of the auto industry for final action.

SHIPS CARRYING GRAIN WILL BE TORPEDOED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berne, May 7.—The American minister has handed a memorandum to the political department of the Swiss government stating that there is no truth in the rumor that no wheat will be sent here within the next three months. It is true, however, that Germany has refused to grant safe conduct to grain ships bound to Europe with grain for Switzerland pending a lapse of three months. In the meanwhile German submarines are under orders to torpedo such ships.

"This is tantamount to a declaration that Germany maintains an armed blockade of Switzerland," it was said. "The United States is willing to accept the challenge to ships flying the American colors en route to French Atlantic ports which carry grain for Switzerland when convoyed by warships."

WILL INVITE JUDGES.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Chancellor A. Bonar Law, replying to a question asked by former Premier Asquith, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that he proposed to invite two judges to investigate statements made by General Maurice. The investigation will be private and secret documents will be gone into, it was said.

General Maurice was formerly director of military operations attached to the British war office and gave out weekly statements to the press. He is now on active duty in France.

TROUBLE IN AUSTRIAN NAVY.

Disturbances Suppressed, Percentage of Germans Increased.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 7.—Serious trouble has occurred among the crews of the Austrian navy, according to a dispatch received here today from Zurich by the Echo de Paris. The dispatch added, however, that the disturbances were suppressed with the utmost severity, and that numerous changes in the higher command followed.

Measures have been taken to increase the percentage of Germans in the Austrian fleet.

Slavs and Italians are said to have precipitated the trouble.

Strikers Seek Adjustment.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Union machinists now on strike at the plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company, Allentown, Pa., this afternoon applied to Secretary of Labor Wilson for an adjustment of their dispute by the national war board. Nearly 1,400 more men joined the strikers today, making a total of 5,000 men now out.

MECHANICS CALL FOR ARMY CLOSED

The local board for Division No. 1 of Ulster county, received word today that Call No. 203 was closed. This call offered young white men within the draft age who had completed at least an eighth grade grammar school education and had some mechanical experience, an opportunity of a two months' course of instruction in a government school, after which they would be fitted to serve Uncle Sam by working along mechanical lines, both on the firing line and behind the line. A number of young men listed their names with the local board for Division No. 1, for this course. It will not be known until later whether or not they have been accepted.

COMPENSATION LAW TO BE EXTENDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 7.—Governor Whitman today, after receiving opinions from Attorney General Lewis, announced he would sign the Walters bill, broadening the application of the workmen's compensation law. The bill will be signed on Monday, May 13. The measure includes under the compensation law, practically every one who does manual labor, mechanics and artisans. Clerical and professional men would not be included under provisions of the bill by Attorney General Lewis's opinion.

Salary Estimates Advance.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Two special government agencies submitted increased estimates of the amounts they will require for salaries and expenses during the next fiscal year to congress this afternoon. The fuel administration jumped its previous estimate of $3,750,000 to $4,575,000 and the war trade board increased its estimate of $3,030,607 to $4,110,607.

Labor Minister's Sensible Preference

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—"Don't be lured into a conference where Germany is represented," Labor Minister Roberts warned an American labor delegation in a speech at Norwich. "If German Social Democrats are allowed to attend they will be there as representatives of the kaiser. I would sooner meet the devil in hell."

Drifting Mine Kills Ten.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 7.—Ten sailors were killed when a mine was driven ashore and blown up near Vestervik, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received here today from Copenhagen.

Left Mother Gasping.

Edgar, seven years old, ran into his home the other day and informed his mother that Harold, next door, was at that moment getting a licking, his mother having caught him smoking. "That's one thing you don't have to be licked for, isn't it, Edgar?" said his mother proudly. "You don't smoke, do you?" "Naw, I should say not," replied Edgar. "Why, gee, ma, I ain't smoked for more'n two years."—Kansas City Star.

CITIZENS RESENT SLUR ON RED CROSS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Scranton, Pa., May 7.—Seized by angry citizens who tied his hands, legs and body with a rope, Barney Walukus, an Austrian, accused of making a slurring remark about the American Red Cross, was strung up to a telephone pole in Avoca, near here, today. While the body dangled thirty feet from the ground, the mob turned a fire hose on their victim. Friends finally cut Walukus down. He was badly hurt, but will live.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 7.—There was a good demand for stocks at the opening of the stock market today with little supply around the recent prevailing prices and during the first fifteen minutes the market tone was strong with many issues showing fractional advances selling at new high prices for the year. U. S. Steel Common again attracted most attention, advancing one point to 101 and other steel industrials generally made even greater gains. Baldwin moved up 1¼ to 81¼ and Republic Iron and Steel advanced 1⅛ to 86⅜. Some of the railroad stocks were actively traded in, Reading advancing ½ to 82¼, and Union Pacific advanced ½ to 120½. There was brisk trading in Baltmore and Ohio at 52⅝. Marine Preferred made a gain of ⅝ to 89¼, and Atlantic Gulf rose ⅝ to 109½. Inspiration made a gain of ⅞ to 53¼. American Sumatra continued in active demand, selling up to 107¼.

The market held strong during the greater part of the forenoon, with interest continuing to concentrate in Steel Common, which moved up two points to 102. The other steel industrials made gains of 1 to 2 points, with Republic Iron and Steel moving up 2⅛ to 87⅜. Studebaker was actively traded in and moved up one point to 37⅝. Some of the railroad stocks were strong but movements were generally confined to fractions. Marine Preferred, after moving up ⅝ to 89⅜, reacted to 88½. Liberty 4's were weak, dropping to 95.86. Money loaning at six per cent.

Captain Huston Raps Owners of Major League Clubs.

Baseball Paying Too Much Attention to Dollars and Cents—It Was Boss of Yankees Who Suggested Drilling of Players.

Capt. T. L. Huston's scathing arraignment of big league baseball men for what he calls a lack of interest to the proper extent in the war, may be traced, to a large extent, to the statement given out by Captain Huston, almost a year ago.

At that time Captain Huston was in a training camp near Detroit, Mich., he hammered the interview out on a small typewriter while he sat on a camp stool in a tent.

It was the part owner of the Yankees who suggested the idea of drilling American league ball players, which was gobbled up by Ban Johnson, president of the league, so quickly that Ban was given the publicity that went with it. The fact the Captain Huston was the originator was lost sight of in the praise for Johnson.

Seeing into the future, and outlining forthcoming difficulties for baseball, Captain Huston suggested in this statement that drilling be prolonged in the American league by having the accomplished men in the clubs drill companies of fans who would act as a sort of home guard in case of need. In this manner, Captain Huston pointed out, there would be some good from the drills so patriotically paraded before the fans last summer.

Instead of taking up Captain Huston's suggestion Johnson and his colleagues ignored it to such an extent that it has now been dropped from the league. There will be no drilling at all this summer in the American league. Captain Huston's missionary work in the American league has gone for naught, which may account for some of the bitterness his letter from the land of fire and brimstone carries.

Captain Huston points out a grave and forceful fact: That baseball is paying too much attention to the dollars and cents of business, rather than to the business of exerting everything in the interest of the war. The American public is patiently standing for it, but whether it will continue to do so is a question. The action of the magnates in raising admission fees above the cost of the war tax will not serve to make the public more patient.

President Pilkington of Amateur Oarsmen Talks of Athletics After End of War.

Jim Pilkington, president of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, sees a brilliant prospect for all athletic sports when peace is declared. Pilkington, whose active association with the governing body in rowing goes back to 1876—within a decade of the end of the Civil war—believes that conditions following the great war will be much the same as those which were experienced here in the reconstruction period.

"The Civil war, or rather the ending of it, gave sport its impetus in this country," said Jim.

"Because Uncle Sam is practically making athletics compulsory in the land and naval forces, hundreds and thousands of young men who nev. before engaged in sport have becom active and enthusiastic athletes. It is easy to see what the result will be when the war ends."

A LITTLE BEDTIME STORY.

When Johnny Chuck ended his winter's hibernation and appeared in the doorway of his house, he found Peter Rabbit waiting for him, a-quiver with excitement.

"So you are awake at last, Johnny?" exclaimed Peter. "I was in your house several weeks ago, and there you lay with your eyes closed and your hands embracing your stomach, sounder asleep than I ever saw anybody before."

"Oh, I wasn't asleep," replied Johnny. "I was in a brown study. Late last fall Sammy Jay, who thinks he's smart, told me a conundrum. He asked: 'What is the difference between an American soldier and a butcher in a packing plant?' He answered it himself. 'One is a defender and the other a beef ender.' And then he laughed. I have been studying over that all winter, trying to figure out whether he is a fool or he thinks I am."—Kansas City Star.

HABITS OF RED-TAILED HAWK

Entitled to Protection Because of Insistent Warfare on Various Rodents in Orchards.

The red-tailed hawk, or "hen-hawk," as it is commonly called, is one of the best known of all our birds of prey, and is a widely distributed species of great economic importance. Its habit of sitting on some prominent limb or pole in the open, or flying with measured wing beat over prairies and sparsely wooded areas on the lookout for its favorite prey, causes it to be noticed by the most indifferent observer. Although not as omnivorous as the red-shouldered hawk, it feeds on a variety of food, as small mammals, snakes, frogs, insects, birds, crawfish, centipedes, and even carrion. In regions where rattlesnakes abound it destroys considerable numbers of the reptiles. Although it feeds to a certain extent on poultry and birds, it is nevertheless entitled to general protection on account of the insistent warfare it wages against field mice and other small rodents and insects that are so destructive to young orchards, nursery stock, and farm produce. Out of 530 stomachs examined, 437, or 85 per cent, contained the remains of mammal pests such as field mice, pine mice, rabbits, several species of ground squirrels, pocket gophers, and cotton rats, and only 62 contained the remains of poultry or game birds.

BIG RETURNS FROM SPRAYING

Additional Profit of $1,000 Secured From Orchard of 200 Trees by Nebraska Man.

GUARD TREES FROM RAVAGES

Mice and Rabbits Will Do Considerable Damage During Winter Season in Orchard.

Every care should be taken to protect the young fruit trees from ravages this winter by mice and rabbits. Hundreds of young trees were destroyed last winter. There is going to be profit in every bearing tree for years to come. And when apples get scarce and dear is no time to rush into planting. Be ready for the prices. Wrapping the trees with crumpled newspapers tied with binder twine is a cheap way out.

CHAP. 52.

AN ACT to amend the conservation law, in relation to non-resident fishing licenses.

Became a law March 15, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and eighty-eight of chapter six hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act relating to conservation of land, forests, waters, parks, hydraulic power, fish and game, constituting chapter sixty-five of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter two hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen and amended by chapter five hundred and twenty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 188. Non-resident fishing license. No person, except a bona fide resident of this state for at least thirty days immediately prior to such taking, shall take any fish by angling in any of the fresh waters under the jurisdiction of the state of New York or shall engage in fishing in such waters without first having procured a license so to do. Said license shall be procured in the manner provided in section one hundred and eighty-five hereof. The applicant shall pay to the clerk the sum of two dollars as a license fee therefor, together with the sum of fifty cents as a fee to the clerk; provided, however, that a non-resident person under the age of sixteen years may take fish, by angling, without obtaining a fishing license. The provisions of section one hundred and eighty-five so far as the same are applicable to licenses shall apply to all licenses issued under this section; provided however, that if a resident of this state may lawfully take fish in such part of the international boundary waters bordering upon the state of New York as are not within the jurisdiction of the said state, without being required to obtain a fishing license from the country having jurisdiction over the said waters, then a resident of said country may take fish in such part of said international boundary waters as are within the jurisdiction of the state of New York without obtaining the non-resident fishing license provided for herein.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the city local option law, in relation to expenses, ballots and supplies.

Became a law March 15, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section eighteen of chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to authorize cities to determine, by their qualified electors, that trafficking in liquors therein shall be prohibited in whole or in part, constituting chapter sixty-eight of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 18. Expenses. The expenses connected with the submission of local option questions or other questions in a city under this chapter shall be a city charge, and the amount necessary to defray such expenses, to the extent that moneys are not otherwise available therefor, may be raised by temporary loan and shall be included in the next succeeding tax levy in addition to all other sums authorized to be raised thereby. Ballots, blanks and supplies for taking, recording and returning the vote thereon shall be provided by the city clerk; except that in the city of New York they shall be provided by the board of elections of such city. At the request of the city clerk, the board or commissioners of elections or county clerk, as the case may be, of the county, shall render such assistance and furnish such facilities and material to enable the city clerk to perform his duties under this chapter as may be necessary, and any expense incurred by such board or officer shall be paid by the city, in the same manner as other city charges. Contracts for the furnishing of ballots and supplies may be made and entered into by the city clerk or by such board, commissioner or county clerk, as the case may be, without competitive bidding if it be necessary to dispense therewith in order to expedite the work, notwithstanding any other statute.

AN ACT to amend the code of civil procedure, in relation to discharge of mortgages.

Became a law March 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and twenty-one of chapter fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to real property, constituting chapter fifty of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 321. Recording discharge of mortgage. A mortgage registered or recorded must be discharged upon the record thereof, by the recording officer, when there is presented to him the certificate signed by the mortgagee, his personal representative or assignee, and acknowledged or proved and certified in like manner as to entitle a conveyance to be recorded, specifying that the mortgage has been paid or otherwise satisfied and discharged. If any mortgage, registered or recorded, is stated in the certificate to have been taken by the alien property custodian under and pursuant to the trading with the enemy act adopted by the United States congress, and approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or any act amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, such certificate may be executed by such alien property custodian or such person as the president may appoint to give full acquittance and discharge for money or property belonging to an enemy or ally of an enemy which may be conveyed, assigned, delivered or transferred to said alien property custodian, with like effect as if the same had been executed by the mortgagee, his personal representative or assignee. When so signed and acknowledged or proved and certified in like manner as to entitle a conveyance to be recorded, such certificate may be recorded, and such certificate, the record thereof and a certified copy of such record may be introduced in evidence in all courts of this state. The certificate of discharge, and the certificates of its acknowledgment or proof, must be recorded and filed, and a reference must be made to the book and page of the record of the mortgage in the minute of the discharge of such mortgage made by the officer upon the record thereof. After such discharge has been recorded the recording officer shall make and deliver to the person in whose interest such discharge of mortgage is executed and recorded his certificate setting forth the names of the mortgagor and mortgagee, the liber and page at which the same when such mortgage was recorded, and the date on which said mortgage was satisfied and discharged.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 57.

AN ACT in relation to city local option elections in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen.

Became a law April 10, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. In any city in which a special city election is to be held under the city local option law on the third Tuesday in April in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, such election shall begin on the sixteenth day of April, at the hour provided by law for the opening of the polls, in each election district, and continue until eight o'clock in the evening of the seventeenth day of April nineteen hundred and eighteen, at which time the polls shall close and the votes be canvassed; but there shall be an intermission extending from eight o'clock in the afternoon of the sixteenth day of April to six o'clock in the forenoon of the seventeenth day of April in such year. This act shall be controlling with respect to such elections notwithstanding the provisions of the city local option law, the election law and other statute or the fact that any petition under which the election is to be held designates the third Tuesday in April or the sixteenth day of April nineteen hundred and eighteen, in words or effect as the time at which the submission of [illegible] is requested, and notwithstanding that the notice published pursuant to section twelve of the city local option law designates such day as the day of election. During such intermission all election procedure shall be suspended in each polling place and no ballots delivered to or received from voters.

§ 2. At the hour fixed by this act for the beginning of such intermission, each ballot box, including the boxes both for ballots and stubs, in each polling place in any such city, shall be sealed by the inspectors and each seal shall be signed by such inspectors and by the watchers designated as hereinafter provided. The unvoted ballots shall also be placed in boxes or in closed packages which boxes or packages shall each be sealed and the seals signed in the same manner as the ballot boxes. Where voting machines are used, each machine shall be securely locked and remain locked during such intermission. Each locking device on each machine shall also be sealed, and the seal shall be signed in the same manner as the seals upon the ballot boxes. Not more than two watchers, to attend at each polling place in each election district, may be designated by the committee authorized to designate the watchers provided for by section fourteen of the city local option law, and not more than two such watchers may be designated in the manner provided in such section from names to be filed, as therein provided, by the persons, bodies or organizations opposed to the adoption of the questions to be submitted at such election, except that such names may be filed not later than the day before the day on which the election begins. Not more than one such watcher for any polling place, representing such committee, and not more than one such watcher as representing such persons, bodies or organizations, shall be designated. If such committee or such persons, bodies or organizations shall respectively so determine. The watchers provided for in this act are in addition to those provided for by section fourteen of the city local option law. It shall be the duty of each watcher so designated, who accepts the position to remain at the polling place during such intermission. The commissioner of public safety, police commissioner or other head of the police department, of any such city, shall designate at least one police officer to remain in each polling place during such intermission. It shall be chargeable with the custody and safe keeping, during such intermission, of such ballot boxes and other boxes and packages as of all books, voting machines, records, forms, registers, poll books and other election paraphernalia in the polling place, and the same shall remain within sight of the watchers provided for by this act.

§ 3. Before the delivery and reception of ballots is resumed, at the close of such intermission, each inspector of election and each watcher appointed under this act shall make affidavit that the seals on such ballot boxes and packages or boxes of unvoted ballots, or voting machines, have remained unbroken, and that the contents of such boxes and the registers and poll books have remained intact during such intermission. Where voting machines are used, the watchers who attended during such intermission shall also make affidavit, in like manner, that the machine or machines in the polling place were not unlocked, operated or tampered with during the intermission. Any such affidavit may be taken before a poll clerk or ballot clerk, and he may administer the oath therefor. Such seals shall then be broken and boxes and packages opened, or machines unlocked as the case may be, in the presence of such watchers.

§ 4. Any watcher, police officer or other person who, during such intermission, shall break or mutilate the seal upon any such ballot boxes or other boxes or packages or voting machines or in any manner destroy or remove the contents of any such boxes or packages, or unlock, operate or tamper with any such voting machine, or suppress, alter, destroy or mutilate any signed challenge affidavit, or alter, mutilate, destroy or remove from the polling place any register or poll book, shall be guilty of a felony. A watcher or inspector who wilfully makes an affidavit under section three which is materially false is guilty of perjury. A watcher or inspector who refuses, without sufficient cause to make the affidavit required by such section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 5. The city clerk shall give such public notice as may be practicable of the extended hours during which the polling places for such election are to remain open under this act for voting thereat, but the failure to give such notice shall not invalidate the election.

§ 6. The city clerk, or the board of elections of the county at the request of the city clerk, shall provide necessary forms for the additional affidavit of inspectors and watchers required by this act. Each affidavit taken pursuant to section three shall be filed with the returns of the canvass with the same officer. The refusal of a watcher or inspector to make the affidavit required by section three shall not prevent the resumption of voting, after the intermission. The common council shall fix and provide the compensation to be paid to election officers for their increased duties under this act.

§ 7. If a second special city election in any such city be ordered during the year nineteen hundred and eighteen pursuant to section sixteen of the city local option law the court, justice or judge may include in the order a direction that the polls of such election open at six o'clock in the morning and that the election continue until eight o'clock in the afternoon of the day following, with an intermission from eight o'clock in the afternoon of the first day until six o'clock in the forenoon of the day following. In such case the provisions of this act shall apply to such intermission, and the designation of watchers therefor and the orders and duties of watchers, election inspectors and other officers with respect to such election.

§ 8. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 58.

AN ACT to amend the city local option law, in relation to watchers.

Became a law March 20, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section fourteen of chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to authorize cities to determine, by their qualified electors that trafficking in liquors therein shall be prohibited in whole or in part, constituting chapter sixty-eight of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 14. Conduct of the election. Such special city election shall be conducted in each city by the officers charged by law with the duty of conducting the general election. The committee appointed by the petition may designate two watchers for each election district in the city. Persons bodies or organizations opposed to the adoption of such questions, at least five days before the election, may file with the board or commissioner of elections of the county in which the city is located or with the county clerk, if the county have no board or commissioners, or in the city of New York with the boards of elections of such city, the names of two persons as watchers for each election district in the city. If but two names be filed for an election district, such board or commissioner shall designate such persons as watchers for such district. If more than two names for an election district be so filed, such board or commissioner shall designate two persons from those whose names are so filed to be watchers for such election district at such election. Watchers may be present at the polling place and within the guard-rail from at least fifteen minutes before the unlocking and examination of any ballot box at the opening of the polls of such election until after the announcement of the result of the canvass of the votes cast thereat and the signing of the returns of the canvass by the inspectors. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of law for the taking of a vote on other propositions or questions which may be voted on by electors of the city named in the petition, the canvass and return of such vote by election districts, the canvass of results so returned, the determination therefrom of the adoption or rejection of such proposition or question and the certification and filing of statements of the result of any such canvass and determination shall apply in such city to the questions submitted under this article. The returns shall be canvassed by the city board of canvassers as constituted by the election law and the provisions of the election law not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter shall apply to such city election. In addition to any other filing, by law, of the statements of result and certificate of determination of the vote on such question, by the canvassing board, each board shall file a duplicate thereof with the county treasurer or special deputy commissioner of excise then having charge of the issuance of liquor tax certificates in the city or in a subdivision thereof.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the conservation law, in relation to suits against employees of the conservation commission.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section nine of chapter six hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act relating to conservation of land, forests, waters, parks, hydraulic power, fish and game, constituting chapter sixty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and chapter three hundred and eighteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. Suits and prosecutions. It shall be the duty of the attorney-general, when requested by the commission, to appoint a deputy attorney-general, and such assistants as may be necessary, and assign them to the commission. The deputy attorney-general shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars. The salaries of the assistants shall be fixed by the commission. It shall be the duty of such deputy, in the name of the attorney-general, to conduct all prosecutions for penalties imposed by the forest, fish and game law or by this chapter, and to bring all actions, suits and proceedings, which the commission shall be authorized to institute and maintain, and to defend all actions, suits and proceedings brought against the commission, its officers or employees for or on account of any act or any thing done by the said commission, its officers or employees when such act or thing was, in the opinion of the attorney-general, done in the discharge of an official duty or in reasonable exercise of authority. No action, suit or proceeding in which the title to lands of the state in forest preserve counties shall be involved shall be withdrawn or discontinued, nor shall judgment therein against the state be entered on consent except on special permission of the court and after application made in open court, on which application all the terms and conditions of the settlement shall be fully stated in writing and the reasons therefor set forth at length.

§ 2. Section one hundred and seventy-three of such chapter, added by chapter five hundred and eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby repealed.

AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to fire protection.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fourteen-c of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 314-c. Town board may contract for fire protection, et cetera. The town board of a town, upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers in territory adjoining a city or incorporated village and wholly without such city or village, may establish such territory as a fire district for the purposes of this section, by filing in the office of the town clerk a certificate describing the boundaries thereof. Upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers of any water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district adjoining a city or an incorporated village, having a fire department or an incorporated fire company therein, the town board of any town may make a contract with any such city or incorporated village for fire protection to be furnished within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district for a sum not to exceed in any one year ten cents upon each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of taxable property lying within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district as appears by the last preceding town assessment-roll of said town and for a period not exceeding five years at any one time. The amount of any contract that may be entered into pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be assessed, levied and collected upon the taxable property in said district in the same manner, at the same time and by the same officers as the taxes, charges or expenses of said town are now assessed, levied and collected and the same shall be paid over by the supervisor to the city or incorporated village furnishing such fire protection. This section shall apply to a water supply district formed under the provisions of section eighty-one of the transportation corporations law, as well as to water districts, highway districts, water supply districts or fire districts formed under the provisions of this chapter. No such contract shall be made, however, with any such city or incorporated village unless it has in the opinion of the town board suitable apparatus and appliances for the furnishing of such fire protection in said district.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the city local option law, in relation to watchers.

Became a law March 20, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section fourteen of chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to authorize cities to determine, by their qualified electors that trafficking in liquors therein shall be prohibited in whole or in part, constituting chapter sixty-eight of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 14. Conduct of the election. Such special city election shall be conducted in each city by the officers charged by law with the duty of conducting the general election. The committee appointed by the petition may designate two watchers for each election district in the city. Persons bodies or organizations opposed to the adoption of such questions, at least five days before the election, may file with the board or commissioner of elections of the county in which the city is located or with the county clerk, if the county have no board or commissioners, or in the city of New York with the boards of elections of such city, the names of two persons as watchers for each election district in the city. If but two names be filed for an election district, such board or commissioner shall designate such persons as watchers for such district. If more than two names for an election district be so filed, such board or commissioner shall designate two persons from those whose names are so filed to be watchers for such election district at such election. Watchers may be present at the polling place and within the guard-rail from at least fifteen minutes before the unlocking and examination of any ballot box at the opening of the polls of such election until after the announcement of the result of the canvass of the votes cast thereat and the signing of the returns of the canvass by the inspectors. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of law for the taking of a vote on other propositions or questions which may be voted on by electors of the city named in the petition, the canvass and return of such vote by election districts, the canvass of results so returned, the determination therefrom of the adoption or rejection of such proposition or question and the certification and filing of statements of the result of any such canvass and determination shall apply in such city to the questions submitted under this article. The returns shall be canvassed by the city board of canvassers as constituted by the election law and the provisions of the election law not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter shall apply to such city election. In addition to any other filing, by law, of the statements of result and certificate of determination of the vote on such question, by the canvassing board, each board shall file a duplicate thereof with the county treasurer or special deputy commissioner of excise then having charge of the issuance of liquor tax certificates in the city or in a subdivision thereof.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section nine of chapter six hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act relating to conservation of land, forests, waters, parks, hydraulic power, fish and game, constituting chapter sixty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and chapter three hundred and eighteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. Suits and prosecutions. It shall be the duty of the attorney-general, when requested by the commission, to appoint a deputy attorney-general, and such assistants as may be necessary, and assign them to the commission. The deputy attorney-general shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars. The salaries of the assistants shall be fixed by the commission. It shall be the duty of such deputy, in the name of the attorney-general, to conduct all prosecutions for penalties imposed by the forest, fish and game law or by this chapter, and to bring all actions, suits and proceedings, which the commission shall be authorized to institute and maintain, and to defend all actions, suits and proceedings brought against the commission, its officers or employees for or on account of any act or any thing done by the said commission, its officers or employees when such act or thing was, in the opinion of the attorney-general, done in the discharge of an official duty or in reasonable exercise of authority. AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to the expenditure of surplus moneys, auditing of accounts and duties of town clerk.

Became a law March 21, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section ninety of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 90. Expenditures of surplus moneys by certain town officers. The supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace, or a majority thereof in any town in this state, may expend any surplus moneys for which no provision for expenditure is made, belonging to said town, for the purposes of redemption of outstanding bonds or for improvements in said town. If not so used, the town board shall apply such surplus in reduction of taxation in the manner provided in section one hundred and thirty-three of this act.

§ 2. Section ninety-two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 92. General duties of town clerk. The town clerk of each town shall have the custody of all the records books and papers of the town, and he shall duly file all certificates of oaths and other papers required by law to be filed in his office. He shall transcribe in the books of records of his town the minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting held therein, and shall enter in such book every order or direction and all rules and regulations made by any such town meeting. He shall attend all the meetings of the town board, the town board of health and the board of town auditors, and act as secretary thereof. In suitable books to be provided for that purpose, he shall transcribe the minutes of the proceedings of every such meeting. If accounts against the town be audited at any such meeting, he shall incorporate in such minutes a list of all such, showing the name of the claimant, the amount claimed and the amount allowed, with such other information as the board may require. Within twenty days after the holding of any town meeting, the town clerk shall certify to the county clerk the names of all the persons elected to office at the town meeting, except inspectors of election, and the terms for which they were severally elected, and whether or not they have qualified. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of justice of the peace, the town clerk shall immediately notify the county clerk of the happening of such vacancy, specifying the name of the justice of the peace whose office has become vacant, the date when the same became vacant and the cause of the vacancy. He shall deliver to the supervisor, before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors of the county in each year, certified copies of all entries of votes for raising money, made since the last meeting of the board of supervisors and recorded in the town book. Immediately after the qualifying of any constable elected or appointed in his town, he shall return to the clerk of the county the name of such constable. If any town clerk shall wilfully omit to make such return, he shall forfeit the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered by the supervisor in the name of and for the use of the town.

§ 3. Section one hundred and thirty-three of said act, as amended by chapter three hundred and sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 133. Meeting of town board for auditing accounts. The meeting of the town board held on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors, shall be for the purpose of auditing accounts and allowing or rejecting all charges, claims and demands against the town. No member of the town board or board of town auditors shall present a claim or demand against the town for audit which has been assigned to him by another, or for labor, services or material rendered or furnished by himself, or by another as his servant or agent or under contract with him, or any claim or demand of any name or nature wherein he has an interest, direct or indirect, excepting his per diem compensation for attendance upon meetings of the town board of said town and the fees allowed to him by law for services rendered in his official capacity, and no claim or demand in which a member has an interest or which is based wholly or partly on the services or material rendered or furnished by such member shall be audited or allowed by said board in favor of any person or corporation. If an account is rejected wholly or partly, the board shall indicate thereon the items or parts thereof disallowed and the reason or reasons for such disallowance. The board shall make, verify and file in the office of the town clerk a list or abstract in duplicate of all accounts, charges, claims or demands presented thereto and audited, allowed or rejected at any meeting of the year, showing in respect to each account or claim the name of the claimant, the general nature of the service performed, material furnished, or other matter on which the demand was based, the amount claimed and the amount allowed. To the total of claims so allowed, the town board shall (a) add sums necessary to pay the principal and interest of loans negotiated pursuant to section one hundred and forty-one of this act, and (b) deduct surplus moneys available for the payment thereof and the total of such claims or loans, if any, paid during the year, thereby determining the amount necessary to be raised by tax. The duplicate lists or abstracts, when so completed, shall be certified by the members of the town board, or a majority thereof, and one of the duplicate copies retained on file in the office of the town clerk and the other delivered to the supervisor of the town, to be by him laid before the board of supervisors of the county at their annual meeting. The board of supervisors shall cause to be levied and raised upon the town the amount specified in the certificate, in the same manner as they are directed to levy and raise other town charges.

Immediately after final adjournment of the annual meeting of the town board or the board of town auditors the town clerk shall prepare a copy of such list or abstract and attach thereto a certificate subscribed by him to the effect that the same is a true and complete record of accounts, charges, claims and demands presented to the board for audit and of the action of said board thereon, and shall cause to be printed in pamphlet form and kept in his office for general distribution to applicants such reasonable number of copies of said list as the town board shall by resolution prescribe. Such resolution shall also provide for the publication or posting, or both, in the town, in a suitable manner, of public notice of the completion of said printed list and of the place where copies can be obtained. The town clerk shall receive a fee of ten cents per folio for preparing said list.

Notwithstanding any general or special provision of law to the contrary, the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then the board of town auditors shall have the authority to audit accounts, claims or demands against the town at any regular or special meeting of the board.

§ 4. Said act is hereby further amended by adding thereto, immediately following section one hundred and thirty-three, a new section, to be section one hundred and thirty-three-a, to read as follows:

§ 133-a. Duty of town clerk. When the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then that body, shall have audited an account, claim or demand against the town, the town clerk shall draw a warrant on the supervisor of the town for the amount allowed. Such warrant shall specify the date when it is payable, the fund chargeable therewith, the appropriation account, if any, to which it is to be charged and the purpose or object of the expenditure. It shall be executed in the name of the town board or board of town auditors, as the case may be, by the chairman thereof, and countersigned by the town clerk.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

REVOLUTIONARY TENDENCIES GROW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Zurich, May 7.—Revolutionary tendencies are cropping out in Austria-Hungary and extraordinary measures have been taken to preserve order. News from Vienna today was more serious than ever, although the Austrian government has issued a denial of certain rumors. Repressive measures have been taken to prevent manifestations.

An official manifesto has been issued in Vienna justifying the attitude of the government.

Premier von Seydler is preparing to make an important move but it is not certain that he can restore calm. This depends largely upon the action taken by the Poles.

For some weeks there have been seething political developments in Austria-Hungary, which have been fostered to some extent by war weariness and famine.

The dissensions between the Czech and Slav elements have been growing and there have been hostile manifestations throughout the country. The Austrian government has been vainly trying to find a solution and to bring the hostile factions together but without any result.

Political reforms have been promised in Hungary but they have not been forthcoming and a group of Hungarian statesmen recently went to Vienna to attempt to force Premier von Seydler out of office.

Governor Signs Walton Bill.

Albany, N. Y., May 7.—(Special)—Governor Whitman has signed the bill introduced by Senator Walton confirming the sale and deed to Silas Krom by the commissioners for loaning certain moneys of the United States, of certain in the town of Marbletown, Ulster county, and releasing the state's interest thereto, for unpaid taxes in 1889.

PREPAREDNESS FOR NEXT LIBERTY LOAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, who returned to Washington today after a brief holiday at White Sulphur Springs, was unable to go to his office because of an attack of tonsilitis. It is believed the malady was caused by the secretary's exertions during his Liberty Loan tour. He will probably be confined to his home for two days, it was stated.

One of the first matters which Secretary McAdoo will consider is the arrangements for the fourth Liberty Loan. While the subscriptions to the third loan are still uncounted, the treasury has proceeded on a policy of preparedness and while the date of the next war loan is far distant, the enormous amount of work required to advertise the appeal for billions, make it a matter of expediency to set the wheels in motion for the next loan, as soon as the present one is concluded.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Gertrude A., wife of Abram W. Parsell, died at her home in Port Ewen on Monday in her 75th year. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, corner Main and Green streets, Port Ewen, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Polhemus will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Bookhout. The interment will be in the Port Ewen Cemetery. The bearers will be her two sons, Henry and Elmer Parsell, and James Murdock and Charles Monroe. Mrs. Parsell was a resident of Port Ewen for many years and was highly respected by all who knew her. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Henry and Elmer Parsell, and one daughter, Miss Ella Parsell, and three sisters, the Misses Emily and Libbie Krows and Mrs. Charles Bishop of Wurts street, this city.

The funeral of George M. Dingman, who died Friday, was held from his late residence, 155 O'Neil street, this morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 9:30, where a high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Michael O'Gara, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Within the chancel was seated the Rev. George Vaeth, pastor of St. Ann's Church of Sawkill. Mr. Dingman, who was 38 years of age, was born in Warrensburg, N. Y., and in 1905 came to Kingston, being employed at the Columbia Shirt Factory, where he has been superintendent for the past seven years and which position he held at the time of his death. Mr. Dingman was one of the most popular men in the city of Kingston and was loved and respected by all who knew him. An outward expression of the high esteem in which he was held being shown by the large number of friends and relatives gathered at St. Joseph's Church to pay their last respects to the deceased, the funeral being the largest which has taken place from St. Joseph's Church in some time. Socially, Mr. Dingman was a member of Kingston Council, No. 275, K. of C., and of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church, both organizations turning out in a body at the funeral this morning. The floral expressions were many and beautiful, the casket being banked in a solid wall of flowers. In his eulogy the Rev. Father O'Gara paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased, speaking at length in regard to the beautiful Christian life which he had led. During the services the choir was assisted by Herman LaTour, and at the close of the services Gordon Burhans beautifully rendered, "Thy Will Be Done." Besides his wife, Bertha Dingman, he is survived by three children, Marjorie, Harold and Vincent and his mother, Mrs. Edward Coward, Warrensburg, N. Y. The honorary bearers were Ray Boice, Clyde Hornbeck, Alfred Kohler, Henry Breiser, Henry Winters and Gordon Burhans. The casket bearers were Morris Delaney, Augustus Struck, James Higley, Harry Pierce, Harry Salbert and Harry Short, all intimate friends of the deceased. The remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery in a beautiful mahogany casket with old Roman bronze trimmings. The Rev. Father O'Gara and Rev. Father Vaeth accompanied the remains to the cemetery, where a short service was held. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Grogan and Scherer.

HONOR DRAFTED MEMBER.

John Mooney Guest of Honor of Bernstein Employes.

Monday evening the employes of Sam Bernstein & Company tendered a banquet at The Stuyvesant Hotel to John Mooney, one of their number. Mr. Mooney, who has been in the employ of the concern for the past fourteen years, leaves Saturday in the draft contingent, and carries with him the well wishes of his host of friends. The banqueting table was handsomely and artistically decorated for the occasion with small flags and flowers and a fine menu was served. A number of appropriate addresses were made during the evening by many of the guests, and at the close of the banquet Mr. Mooney was presented with a number of useful gifts by his fellow employes and by the firm.

Turning the Deaf Ear.

There are worse afflictions than the impairment of one's sense of hearing. Much depends on one's environment. In John Morley's recollections he recalls a dinner at Herbert Spencer's where the host wore ear stoppers so adjusted that he could open or close them, according to the sort of conversation that went on around the table. When Mr. Roosevelt is afflicted with boresome talk he can turn his left ear in the salutary direction and thus escape what might otherwise detract from the joy of life.—Boston Globe.

BORGLUM TARGET FOR SHARP ATTACK

Congress Talks on Aircraft Situation—Good Flyers Sent to France Unable to Fly There.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, whose charges of criminal profiteering in the aircraft program led President Wilson yesterday to order an investigation by the department of justice, was the target for a sharp attack by Senator Thomas, of Colorado, immediately after the senate convened this afternoon.

Senator Thomas charged that Mr. Borglum's association with certain manufacturers was not creditable and would seriously affect the creditability of his testimony in any investigation.

Senator Thomas had read into the Record the letter sent to him by the president announcing that the aircraft investigation had been ordered.

"That letter was the result of a conference I had with the president," said Senator Thomas. "Since then I have been favored with an inspection of the documents showing the association of Mr. Borglum with certain manufacturers.

"Regardless of the truth or falsity of his charges, thes documents are not at all creditable to Mr. Borglum and must seriously affect the creditability of any statement he may make."

"This thing has not developed in a day," Senator Chamberlain said. "The investigation itself is not the development of a day. Charges of a sensational nature from reputable citizens reach my office every day.

"This committee is determined to do whatever is necessary to investigate. If there are men who are responsible for the failure to speed up the war this committee proposes to point them out to the country.

American has not put any American-built planes on the front, and the American people should be told the truth. The flower of the American youth—the 'aces' of American, to the number of 1,500, have been sent abroad and now the chief signal officer tells us that they are to be brought back here for training. If they have planes abroad there, why don't they give them to these men. They are the victims of the extreme optimism of the chief signal officer and something must be done to protect these young men from the optimism of the aircraft board."

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts inquired: "Isn't it true that men who are already good flyers have been sent to France and haven't been able to get their feet off the ground?"

"I believe that is true," Senator Chamberlain answered.

UKRAINIA HETMAN TAKES FULL CHARGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Zurich, May 7.—General Skoropatski (a pro-German) who has just proclaimed himself hetman (leader) of all Ukrainia, has issued a proclamation dissolving the Rada (ministry) and the peasant committees, according to information received here today.

The proclamation says:

"Thanks to the powerful help of the Central Empires, faithful to their promise, we will continue the fight for the security of Ukrainia. The cabinet appointed by me will administer the laws promulgated simultaneously with the nomination of the ministry. The Rada is dissolved, likewise the peasant committees. All ministers are deprived of office. Laws concerning the Lantag election will be published soon."

Private property will be considered on the basis of "culture and civilization," it was stated.

The former Rada's decree will be annulled, it is said, and the right to sell agricultural property will be restored.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Loyal Friends' Aid Society will hold their monthly meeting at the Temple Emanuel Wednesday evening. It is urged all members be present as a social hour will be enjoyed, celebrating the third anniversary of the organization of this club.

All had an enjoyable time. After a bountiful supper was served at midnight the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy many happy returns.

Ahrens-Ordway.

Walter Ernest Ahrens, formerly of 63 Second avenue, this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ahrens, and Mrs. Mabel (Hills) Ordway of 12 Sever street, Worcester, Mass., were married April 23 at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Matthew Francis, pastor of Dewey Street Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed at the rectory, 17 Mason street, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hills were attendants. The bride wore white satin with a hat and carried brides roses. Mrs. Hills wore white satin and carried white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ahrens will visit through Maine on their honeymoon and on their return will live in Worcester. The groom expects to be called to service shortly in the National Army.

DIVER RECOVERED AMMUNITION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 7.—Hazarding his life, Frank A. Anderson, diver at the New York navy yard, dove to the bottom of a river to recover a loaded depth charge, several large projectiles and a number of cartridge cases which had accidentally rolled into the river. He was commended for bravery by the navy department today.

"The department desires to express its appreciation and commendation for the special and hazardous services rendered by you in groping through the muddy waters of the river for the depth charge," the department's statement says.

"WET" CABARETS IN CHICAGO ARE CLOSED

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Chicago, May 7.—Between 4,000 and 5,000 singers, dancers, skaters and musicians are out of jobs today. They are cabaret artists who sang, danced or skated their "swan songs" last night when the city council put down tight on "wet" cabarets in Chicago.

The old fashioned cabaret with its wine women and song, expired when the clock struck twelve. It was killed by city ordinance and from now on the only amusement cafes will furnish with drinks will be provided by an orchestra soberly mounted on a platform.

Barnacles on Warships.

Warships have to be cleaned on the outside. On one ship alone 200 men worked all day scraping off 600 tons of animal and plant growth from its sides and bottom. This tremendous quantity of sea life had accumulated in less than two years, during which time the ship had traveled many thousand miles. The weight of the barnacles was so great that from 25 to 40 per cent more coal was consumed in maintaining the normal speed of the boat.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Are Poplar Trees to be Cut Down by Board of Public Works?—That is a Question that Arouses Interest.

"What's the trouble now?" asked the City Hall Oracle as he noted the troubled look on the face of the Casual Visitor.

"Trouble enough," replied the Casual Visitor. "I have been informed that all poplar trees about the city are to be cut down by the board of public works."

"I heard the same thing," confessed the City Hall Oracle, "but when I inquired of an officer of the board he stated that no [illegible] had been taken yet."

"That may be so," replied the Casual Visitor, "but there is a man going about down town and telling residents that the poplar trees in front of their houses are to be cut down."

"It would be a good thing in a way," remarked the City Hall Oracle.

"I agree with you in some respects," replied the Casual Visitor, "but when the only shade trees in front of your house are big poplar trees I tell you that it is far from agreeable to learn that they will be cut down."

"Lots of time to worry later on," consoled the City Hall Oracle, "for I don't believe even the board of public works can cut down a poplar tree and leave a house without any shade at all, and then it will be time to worry when they really start to do so."

"I guess you hit it right at that," said the Casual Visitor.

KING DECORATES WOMEN FOR BRAVERY

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, May 7.—Caught in a German gas attack on the Belgian lines Baroness Tserclaes and Miss Marie Chisholm risked their live to attend to the wounds of King Albert's soldiers. Both women are today in London recovering from the effects of the German gas. They were equipped with gas masks in their dressing station which was immediately behind the battle line, but [illegible] behind them without them or they discarded in order to better [illegible] ed. Both had [illegible] King Albert came [illegible] attend the wounded.

The women have been decorated by [illegible] for bravery.

The gallant women had conducted an advanced dressing station on the Belgian front for three years. They worked in the cellar of a house just behind the Belgian positions along the Nieuport-Ypres railway. In a recent attack the Germans simply drenched the whole Belgian front with gas. They then attacked but the Belgians repulsed them.

The gas fumes penetrated into the cellar where the women were working. They donned their gas masks but found the could not work so well. They discarded their respirators. They worked steadily for hours, binding up wounds and rendering first aid assistance. Both finally collapsed and had to be taken away.

Thermometer Registered 91 Degrees.

Monday was the hottest May 6th that Kingstonians have ever experienced according to a local weather authority, who has a large collection of weather records. It does not seem as if his statement will be disputed for it surely was warm and then warmer. At one o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer at Main and Fair streets registered 91 degrees, while other thermometers registered between 86 and 90. Coats were carried in many cases instead of being worn. A few men brought out their straw hats. A small-sized shower Monday night brought a little relief.

MAY DAY AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

It may well be said with but little exaggeration, that the May Day exercises held at the high school last Friday as customary, were the best that had ever been held in Kingston. Truly the day was perfect and the crowd that thronged the auditorium, the high school lawn and the city hall lawn was probably the largest that has ever assembled to see the May Day exercises at the high school.

The students assembled in the assembly hall at 9:45 and from that time until about 10:30 they entertained the visitors with song after song. They concluded the [illegible] with the new school song the "Alma Mater K. H. S." With the sound of a trumpet, the curtains were drawn revealing the throne for the queen trimmed and fairly covered with evergreen and blossoms. At almost the same time the procession led by the prime minister, followed by the May Queen, her attendants, and entertainers, made its way down the right side aisle and up to the stage where the throne was situated.

After the prime minister's address, the crowning of the queen and the address of the queen to her subjects came several exhibition dances. The members of the athletic teams were then each presented with a rose, after which the prime minister the May Queen her attendants and the audience made their way to the front of the building where from the steps of the front entrance they the prime minister the May Queen and her attendants watched the May pole dance and a number of girls dressed in white formed an immense K. H. S. The audience, visitors and just plain students watched these exercises from such places as they were able to. From comments heard it is evident that the audience was [illegible] pleased and that is sufficient. [illegible]

MILK EXPOSITION AT OPPORTUNE TIME

Evolution Which Has Marked Other Industries Must Be Applied By Dairy Farmers in Every Section of the Country.

The fact that the war has curtailed the importation of the many brands of fancy cheese has been the cause of numerous American purveyors embarking in the manufacture of these cheeses in this country. Just what is being manufactured and how it is done will form one of the highly interesting features of the National Milk and Dairy Farm Exposition in New York city during the week of May 20. Indeed, here is one substantial industry which Germany has lost and will never regain, for by the time the Kaiser and the junkers have been put through the stone crusher, the fancy cheese industry will have become established in America so well that we will have forgotten that cheese ever came from Germany.

This huge exposition which will embrace everything with milk and its products, also all of the latest in modern machinery equipment and processes, attractively displayed, comes at a most opportune time. The country has been at war for 13 months and in that time much remarkable evolution has taken place in many industries. The raising of the National army, the enlisting of thousand of men in the navy marines and various branches of government service has forced dairymen to face new labor problems as well as transportation problems and this evolution will continue throughout the period of the war. Obviously greater efficiency must be worked for and more labor saving systems adopted. This can be brought about only by an exchange of ideas by the master minds of the country coupled with systematic educational work and showing the dairyman by actual demonstration what is what and worth of his adoption. All of which is just what the forthcoming exposition is.

SECRET SERVICE GETS VIOLATORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Albany, May 7.—Settlements of 71 violations of the deer law, constituting the [illegible] installment of cases obtained by the conservation commission through secret service methods, were announced today by the commission through secret service methods, were announced today by the commission. They have netted the department $1,606 in fines and penalties. Twenty-one game protectors were sent into the woods as a secret service force in plain clothes. The cases not closed represent the work of only four of this force and it is believed that when all report the cases will number close to 200.

The drag net has entangled guides, hotel keepers and natives of the Adirondacks and business and professional men and other hunters from all parts of the state. The crimes which they settled covered every violation that it is possible to commit under the deer law.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Do as adversaries do in war, strive mightily, but eat and drink as friends.

A merry heart goes all the day.—Shakespeare.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Small bits of chicken which are too small to serve in other ways may be used in croquettes or in combination with other meats in various dishes.

Chicken Souffle.—Mince a cupful of chicken very fine add a cupful of white sauce, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt, pepper and onion juice to taste; add the beaten yolks of three eggs. Cook three minutes, stirring constantly. Cool, fold in the stiffly beaten eggs. Bake until firm in a moderate oven.

Chicken Jelly.—Cover the bones of the fowl and bits of left-over meat with a quart of water; simmer for several hours, then strain, and pour into a mold. During the cooking add seasonings to taste, such as mace, parsley, onion juice, salt and pepper. Serve with diced fresh vegetables as a salad or in various ways.

Cornmeal Apple Pudding.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, a pint of fresh mush, two well-beaten eggs, a half cupful of milk, one pint of chopped tart apple. Turn into a greased pan and bake until the apples are soft.

Codfish Rolls.—Mix together mashed potato and shredded codfish, season with butter, pepper, salt and form into rolls the size of the thumb and three inches long. Roll in flour and fry in hot fat. Serve with white sauce garnished with parsley.

Tomatoes With Chipped Beef.—Brown a little sweet fat and lay in sliced ripe tomatoes rolled in seasoned flour, season with salt, pepper and cayenne; brown well on both sides; sprinkle a little chopped onion over each slice. Spread evenly over each a thin layer of chopped chipped beef, cover and cook 20 minutes without stirring.

Asparagus Loaf.—Take two cupfuls of cooked asparagus, add two-thirds of a cupful of cracker crumbs and one cupful of cream, add one teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, a little onion juice and one egg. Fold in the asparagus and bake one hour.

When making milk toast add a half cupful of good flavored grated cheese to it when serving. A good way to use left-over dried cheese.
